90,000 Are At Shriner Convention

Chicago, July 11 (AP)—The ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, 90,000 red fezzes strong, is off and funning today on its annual five-day convention.

As Shriners poured into the city yesterday from every state, Canada, Mexico, Hawaii and the Canal Zone, spontaneous revelry erupted throughout downtown Chicago.

EXPLODING firecrackers, cow bells, shrieking sirens, quawking goo-goo dolls, makeshift bands, backfiring motorcycles and trick cars, even a calliope—all these clashed in the cacophony characteristic of a gathering of Shrinedom, the fun-making branch of Masonry and a benevolent big brother to crippled children.

An open-air church service featuring 85 chanters from Chicago's host Medinah Temple was held yesterday afternoon to welcome the early arrivals.

Then the fun began.

SOME 900 Shriners from Cincinnati's Syrian Temple took over the lobby of a loop hotel for a hoe-down, square dancing to the music of fez-topped fiddlers. Outside, the calliope of Atlanta's Yaarab Temple blared "Dixie" and "Davy Crockett."

Down the street, a fire engine painted yellow and bedecked with signs proclaiming "Chicago or bust" roared to a bell-clanging stop at another hotel swarming with Shriners dressed in Bermuda shorts and gaudy sports shirts.

BUT FOR the Shriners from Temples Aahems and Ahmed to Zenobia and Zorah, the parades are the thing. And mammoth seven hour parades — 25,000

Candidates to Run At Primary Sept. 13

A slate of candidates was named as anticipated and without contest by some 500 delegates at the Republican county convention Saturday in the Municipal Auditorium.

Nominated to succeed himself as district attorney was Howard C. St. John who has served one term in that office. Louis G. Bruhn, Kingston attorney and former district attorney, was nominated for county judge, Albert N. Cook, a local insurance man, for county treasurer and Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville for county coroner. These nominations, termed "unofficial," become official at the primary September 13.

THE KEYNOTE address, which was carried in full in Saturday's edition of The Freeman, was delivered by Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

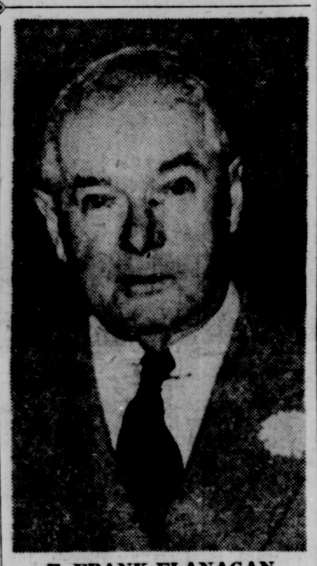

Sen. Wicks was introduced by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, vice chairman of the county committee, as "our great senator from this district, Arthur H. Wicks."

Mayor Frederick H. Stang of the city of Kingston brought official greetings to the convention, which he described as a "family party." He said no welcome was so pleasing to him, nor more "sincere," than the welcome he brought to "this unofficial county convention."

IN EACH of the nominations the convention directed Robert Snyder, secretary, to cast a single unanimous ballot.

The name of Dr. Rosenstock was put in nomination for coroner by Edward Mance of the town of Wawarsing who pointed out that Dr. Rosenstock was "no stranger to the convention or the people of Ulster county," that he

E. FRANK FLANAGAN

Loan President, Civic Leader Dies After Long Illness

E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston since 1931, died early today after a long illness. Mr. Flanagan was perhaps one of the best known residents of Kingston and Ulster county and numbered among his intimate friends folks from all walks of life. His long association with the clothing business in Kingston and later with the financial life of Kingston brought him a wide acquaintanceship and his friendly disposition attracted to him legions of friends.

On November 16, 1954, Mr. Flanagan observed his 73rd birthday and that date also marked the purchase of the store at 331 Wall street where for many years he had been associated with S. Cohen's Sons, clothiers, before aquiring that business in 1924. Prior to the firm moving to the Wall street store he had been associated with the Cohen brothers on North Front street.

BORN IN HIGH FALLS, son of William A. and Catherine Sweeney Flanagan, November 16, 1881, he attended the public school at High Falls and as a young man went to work in the then thriving cement business

Anderson Resigns As Deputy

No Successor Yet In Defense Post

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Robert B. Anderson of Texas resigned today as deputy secretary of defense, effective about Aug. 15.

The White House, announcing the resignation, said President Eisenhower was accepting it "with the greatest reluctance."

It said no successor had yet been chosen. However, Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, indicated the President would make a nomination to the post before Congress adjourns, possibly about Aug. 1.

THERE HAVE been reports that Anderson would be succeeded by Reuben B. Robertson Jr., Hamilton, Ohio, paper company executive.

Others whose names have come into speculation about the post include Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbot and Assistant Secretary of Defense Gordon Gray.

There have long been reports that Anderson intended to leave the administration, and last month Secretary of Defense Wilson confirmed them, saying Anderson intended to resign in "the next few months."

ANDERSON wrote the President that he had arrived at a decision to step down "only because of personal considerations." He did not specify them.

Anderson asked to be relieved "during the first half of August." Snyder said the resignation probably will become effective about Aug. 15.

In a "Dear Bob" letter accepting the resignation, Eisenhower warmly praised Anderson's service.

"I want you to know that I am personally grateful for your truly outstanding service and deeply appreciative of the great personal sacrifice you have made in remaining in your post this long," Eisenhower wrote.

A DEMOCRAT who supported Eisenhower for president, Anderson was appointed Secretary of the Navy when the Eisenhower administration took office in 1953. He became deputy secretary of defense more than a year

106, She Gets Card From Ike

La Verne, Calif., July 11 (AP) — Mrs. Alice S. Staley says she has been a Republican all her life and voted for Abraham Lincoln.

Yesterday on her 106th birthday one of the cards came from President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Staley attends church every Sunday and once a week goes marketing. Her advice for sound health in later years:

"Don't work too hard. Work a little, but don't overdo it."

When she was 7, Mrs. Staley rode in a covered wagon from her birthplace at Dixon, Ill., to Boone, Iowa. Later she moved to Kansas City, Mo., where her late husband, James, was a grocer.

TURNCOATS AT PRESS CONFERENCE — Three former American GIs, William A. Cowart, Dalton, Ga., Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex., and Otho G. Bell, Olympia, Wash., left to right, are interviewed after crossing the border between Red China and Hong Kong (July 10). The three, who elected to stay in Red China following the Korean war and renounced their American citizenship, were met by British Red Cross representatives and British officials who told them they were admitted to Hong Kong as "prohibited immigrants." (AP Wirephoto via Hong Kong and Tokyo radiophoto).

Order Is They Be Restricted

Citizenship Is Retained by Men

Hong Kong, July 11 (AP)—Three former American soldiers who changed their minds about living in Communist China sailed for home tonight.

The three men — William A. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., Otho G. Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., and Lewis W. Griggs, 22, of Jacksonville, Tex.—said they expect to be prosecuted but are ready to face the consequences in order to tell what happened to them.

LIFE WITH the Reds was hell, they all agreed.

Captured in Korea, they and 20 other Americans refused repatriation. Four months ago, Cowart said, the trio and two Belgian deserters began demanding that the Reds let them go. The Chinese announced in June that all five would be released.

The Americans crossed the border into Hong Kong territory Sunday afternoon. British immigration officials turned them over to U. S. consular authorities, who said they appeared to have retained their U. S. citizenship and prepared travel documents permitting their direct return to the United States.

THE THREE men returned from China without any luggage, although Griggs carried a parcel and an extra pair of shoes.

The consulate paid their passage home on the liner President Cleveland, due in San Francisco July 29 after a stop in Japan. A consular spokesman said they would be "expected to repay the (passage) money at such time as they can."

For the voyage home, the State Department ordered the men restricted to the ship until it docks in California.

The men all had said they wanted to visit wartime haunts in Japan. Cowart said he wanted to "take care of some business" there.

THE AMERICAN government has not indicated what is in store for the trio, except to say that they will "be responsible for any acts they might have committed."

Because all three and 17 other former prisoners of war still in China have been given dishonorable discharges, Secretary of Defense Wilson said last month he did not think the three returning would be tried by court-martial.

Griggs told a news conference last night "others want to come out" of Red China but he would not name them. The Chinese, in announcing that the three Americans and two Belgians would be turned loose, said any of the others could leave if they desired.

H. Van Aken, Noted Trial Lawyer Dies

Harry H. Van Aken, native of Port Ewen who became one of the leading trial lawyers defending newspapers and various other publications died at Kingston Hospital on Saturday. He was a partner in the law firm of DeWitt, Van Aken and Nast of New York city.

He was born in 1893 at Willow Brook Farm, Port Ewen which has been the home of the Van Aken family for more than 200 years. Mr. Van Aken graduated from Kingston Academy in 1910 and studied law at New York University from 1914 to 1917 after which he became the first aviator commissioned by the United States in World War 1.

A BRILLIANT trial lawyer, he defended newspapers, magazines and press associations, including the Daily News, United Press, United Feature Syndicate and the New York World-Telegram and Sun, and engaged in general practice.

He was a member of the following clubs and fraternities: Delta Chi Fraternity, St. Nicholas Society, New York Athletic Club, Millbrook Gun Club, Holland Society of New York, New York State Horticultural Society, Ulster County Historical Society, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association, Greenwich, Connecticut Bar Association, American Bar Association, and New York County Lawyers Association. Surviving are his wife, the former Ellen Loud; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Bocher of St. Germaine, France; two sisters, Miss Frances Van Aken of Brooklyn and Mrs. Etta Van Etten of Delmar.

Funeral services will be held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street on Tuesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery, Port Ewen. Friends may call at the funeral parlors on Monday between 7 and 9 p. m.

54 Urge President to Run Again

Eisenhower Still Is Non-Committal

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Fifty-four House Republicans today praised President Eisenhower's record and urged him to run for re-election. In response, they got a hearty "thank you" and a wide noncommitttal smile.

On this third anniversary of his nomination for the presidency, Eisenhower received a petition from the GOP group which said in part:

"In the atomic age, when one faulty decision could prove disastrous, it is vital that our nation be led by a man of great experience in the international field and one who possesses patience, firmness, understanding and courage.

"UNDER President Eisenhower's great leadership America's defenses have been strengthened and the cause of world peace has been advanced.

"At home, the Republican party under President Eisenhower has advanced a program which has brought America unprecedented economic stability and prosperity. American workers have more jobs, better pay than at any time in our history."

The statement added that "because of this exceptional progress, and the promise which continuation of his leadership holds for our people and the free world, we most earnestly hope that President Eisenhower will seek re-election."

THE SIGNERS of the statement concluded with an expression of confidence that "upon

Air Force Academy Opens

Fighter Pilot Candidate Leads Excited Recruits

Denver, July 11 (AP)—Nervous, excited cadets registered this morning at Lowry Air Force base here as the nation's top Air brass waited for the formal dedication of the Third Service Academy.

The first cadet to sign in at 6 a. m. (8 a. m. EST) was Valmore William Bourque, 75 Lam street, South Hadley Falls, Mass. Bourque, who wants to be a fighter pilot, said he felt "pretty nervous" about registering as the No. 1 cadet in the Air Force Academy.

Bourque was followed by Lee Roy Dorey of Route 6, Henrico county, Va., and Zachary Anderson Coles, Jr., 224 Deer Park Drive, Nashville, Tenn. All three cadets are 18 years old.

Bourque, obviously excited, said: "I'm nervous and anxious, and I want to get started, but I'm sure I'll like it a lot."

He said he got up at 3:30 a. m. to report in from Denver on time at the academy's temporary site on this sprawling base in the city's outskirts.

REGISTRATION was expected to be completed by 9 a. m. (11 a. m. EST), while preparations went forward for the dedication of the temporary site.

Air Secretary Harold Talbott and Gen. Nathan Twining, air force chief of staff, were scheduled to be the principal speakers.

Other distinguished visitors include former air force chief of staff Carl Spaatz (ret.) and Mrs. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, widow of a former chief of staff.

After the 306 cadets have completed preliminary paper work, they will be fitted for uniforms and will drill in preparation for the dedication ceremonies at 4 p. m. (6 p. m. EST). Temperature in the Denver area is expected to reach 100 this afternoon.

THE CADETS, who represent every state in the Union and some U. S. territories, will be sworn in by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, Commandant of Cadets, while Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, Academy Superintendent, looks on.

Also presented for the occasion are honor guards from West Point and Annapolis, the senior service academies. There will be an aerial salute by massive jet bombers sent here by the Strategic Air Command, and a demonstration by the crack jet team, the Thunderbirds.

CONGRESSMEN, AIR Force officers and several thousand invited guests were expected to show up for the dedication.

The first class is expected to stay at Lowry for two years. The permanet academy will be north of Colorado Springs, but it probably will not be ready for occupancy until 1957.

New England Apple Institute Meets at Red Hook July 13

The 20th annual meeting of the New York and New England Apple Institute, Inc., will be held at Red Hook beginning at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday.

It was pointed out that the convention marked a milestone in the history and progress of the institute. Twenty years ago, in the summer of 1935, while in the midst of a depression, Thomas E. Cross, Stuart Hubbard, Walter Clarke, John Lyman and a few other progressive apple growers met in Poughkeepsie to seek the creation of a better and wider market for McIntosh apples, then largely unknown even in cities of this area.

The institute emerged with John Lyman as its first president.

The regular meeting of the institute will be held at Palmer Hart's storage in Red Hook at noon for lunch and an afternoon meeting. This metting will follow a morning tour of the Poughkeepsie Laboratory and Dr. Palmiter's apple scab control tests at the McKiernan Orchard in Rock City under the auspices of the Hudson Valley Horticultural Research Cooperative.

Following the formal meeting, Al LaPlante will discuss the pest situation and Drs. Smock and Southwick will disclose the latest information on controlled atmosphere. The directors will get together at 6:30 p. m. at Alumnae House, Vassar, in Poughkeepsie, for dinner and an evening meeting.

23,000 Acres Burn In Western States

(By The Associated Press)

More than 2,000 smoke-grimed fighters renewed their efforts today to control blazes roaring through timber in three western states.

The fires have ripped through at least 23,000 acres of forest and have taken one life.

All were still out of control, but forest service officials made guarded predictions that some progress has been made toward getting the upper hand.

THE LARGEST fire has swept over an estimated 19,000 acres of wild, uninhabited land in Arizona's Prescott National Forest, about 15 miles south of Prescott.

A forest service spokesman said fighters have "made a lot of progress in bringing it under control" and "we are beginning to feel that we can see the end pretty soon."

Two separate fires have destroyed more than 3,500 acres in the Medicine Bow National Forest of southern Wyoming, but an official said there is hope one may be brought under control today.

ABOUT 100 fighters moved in on a small, smoky blaze in Arapahoe National Forest in northwestern Colorado.

Ambrose Burkhart, a Wyoming forest service official, said one of the two fires there is in terrain that "just couldn't be any worse"—steep slopes, rocky ground and heavy timber.

Prescott is about 100 miles northwest of Phoenix. Wyo-

Russian Church Will Invite Evangelist Graham to Moscow

London, July 11 (AP)—A Russian church leader said today Billy Graham will be invited to Moscow in the near future as a guest of the Evangelical Christian Baptist Council of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. J. L. Zhidkov, president of the Russian Baptist movement, speaking in behalf of a group of visiting Russian church leaders, told a news conference "we all hope he will be able to come over."

Graham, the American evangelist now on a European tour, has said he would gladly visit Russia if he were given an opportunity to preach the gospel.

Previously the visiting Soviet churchmen, headed by Metropolitan Pitirim of Minsk, said they were considering issuing an invitation to Graham. The Metropolitan said they had followed Graham's European crusade with much interest.

The Russian church dignitaries are visiting Britain as the guests of the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

Denver, July 11 (AP)—Nervous, excited cadets registered this morning at Lowry Air Force base here as the nation's top Air brass waited for the formal dedication of the Third Service Academy.

The first cadet to sign in at 6 a. m. (8 a. m. EST) was Valmore William Bourque, 75 Lam street, South Hadley Falls, Mass.

Bourque, who wants to be a fighter pilot, said he felt "pretty nervous" about registering as the No. 1 cadet in the Air Force Academy.

Bourque was followed by Lee Roy Dorey of Route 6, Henrico county, Va., and Zachary Anderson Coles, Jr., 224 Deer Park Drive, Nashville, Tenn. All three cadets are 18 years old.

Bourque, obviously excited, said: "I'm nervous and anxious, and I want to get started, but I'm sure I'll like it a lot."

He said he got up at 3:30 a. m. to report in from Denver on time at the academy's temporary site on this sprawling base in the city's outskirts.

REGISTRATION was expected to be completed by 9 a. m. (11 a. m. EST), while preparations went forward for the dedication of the temporary site.

Air Secretary Harold Talbott and Gen. Nathan Twining, air force chief of staff, were scheduled to be the principal speakers.

Other distinguished visitors include former air force chief of staff Carl Spaatz (ret.) and Mrs. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, widow of a former chief of staff.

After the 306 cadets have completed preliminary paper work, they will be fitted for uniforms and will drill in preparation for the dedication ceremonies at 4 p. m. (6 p. m. EST). Temperature in the Denver area is expected to reach 100 this afternoon.

THE CADETS, who represent every state in the Union and some U. S. territories, will be sworn in by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, Commandant of Cadets, while Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, Academy Superintendent, looks on.

Also presented for the occasion are honor guards from West Point and Annapolis, the senior service academies. There will be an aerial salute by massive jet bombers sent here by the Strategic Air Command, and a demonstration by the crack jet team, the Thunderbirds.

CONGRESSMEN, AIR Force officers and several thousand invited guests were expected to show up for the dedication.

The first class is expected to stay at Lowry for two years. The permanet academy will be north of Colorado Springs, but it probably will not be ready for occupancy until 1957.

New England Apple Institute Meets at Red Hook July 13

The 20th annual meeting of the New York and New England Apple Institute, Inc., will be held at Red Hook beginning at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday.

It was pointed out that the convention marked a milestone in the history and progress of the institute. Twenty years ago, in the summer of 1935, while in the midst of a depression, Thomas E. Cross, Stuart Hubbard, Walter Clarke, John Lyman and a few other progressive apple growers met in Poughkeepsie to seek the creation of a better and wider market for McIntosh apples, then largely unknown even in cities of this area.

The institute emerged with John Lyman as its first president.

The regular meeting of the institute will be held at Palmer Hart's storage in Red Hook at noon for lunch and an afternoon meeting. This metting will follow a morning tour of the Poughkeepsie Laboratory and Dr. Palmiter's apple scab control tests at the McKiernan Orchard in Rock City under the auspices of the Hudson Valley Horticultural Research Cooperative.

Following the formal meeting, Al LaPlante will discuss the pest situation and Drs. Smock and Southwick will disclose the latest information on controlled atmosphere. The directors will get together at 6:30 p. m. at Alumnae House, Vassar, in Poughkeepsie, for dinner and an evening meeting.

HELD IN SOS HOAX—Thomas Maldona, 21 (left), and George Peter Teen, 17, are shown in the Mineola, N. Y., police station after their arrest in connection with an SOS hoax that sent the Coast Guard on a $50,000 sea and air search for a "sinking" fishing boat. The pair are reported to have confessed. 2,000 Fighting Forest Fires

(By The Associated Press)

More than 2,000 smoke-grimed fighters renewed their efforts today to control blazes roaring through timber in three western states.

The fires have ripped through at least 23,000 acres of forest and have taken one life.

All were still out of control, but forest service officials made guarded predictions that some progress has been made toward getting the upper hand.

THE LARGEST fire has swept over an estimated 19,000 acres of wild, uninhabited land in Arizona's Prescott National Forest, about 15 miles south of Prescott.

A forest service spokesman said fighters have "made a lot of progress in bringing it under control" and "we are beginning to feel that we can see the end pretty soon."

Two separate fires have destroyed more than 3,500 acres in the Medicine Bow National Forest of southern Wyoming, but an official said there is hope one may be brought under control today.

ABOUT 100 fighters moved in on a small, smoky blaze in Arapahoe National Forest in northwestern Colorado.

Ambrose Burkhart, a Wyoming forest service official, said one of the two fires there is in terrain that "just couldn't be any worse"—steep slopes, rocky ground and heavy timber.

Prescott is about 100 miles northwest of Phoenix. Wyo-

Russian Church Will Invite Evangelist Graham to Moscow

London, July 11 (AP)—A Russian church leader said today Billy Graham will be invited to Moscow in the near future as a guest of the Evangelical Christian Baptist Council of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. J. L. Zhidkov, president of the Russian Baptist movement, speaking in behalf of a group of visiting Russian church leaders, told a news conference "we all hope he will be able to come over."

Graham, the American evangelist now on a European tour, has said he would gladly visit Russia if he were given an opportunity to preach the gospel.

Previously the visiting Soviet churchmen, headed by Metropolitan Pitirim of Minsk, said they were considering issuing an invitation to Graham. The Metropolitan said they had followed Graham's European crusade with much interest.

The Russian church dignitaries are visiting Britain as the guests of the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

Loan President,

in the Rosendale area where he learned from his father the trade of cooper. His energy and skill was quickly evidenced and he learned to swing an adz with such precision and skill that he soon was considered one of the most skilled workmen of the time, working with such efficiency that he soon was doing five times the work of the average worker.

He came to Kingston in 1899 and was graduated from Spencer's Business School in 1902. At that time he took a position in the office of James D. Shiel's hotel at Lackawack but he was soon attracted back to Kingston and in November 1902 he became associated with S. Cohen's Sons clothing store on North Front street where he worked as book-keeper, salesman and later became manager of the store, a position he held when the store was moved to Wall street in 1910.

MR. FLANAGAN was always interested in civic matters and he held numerous positions, giving very generously of his time to public matters. He was a candidate for mayor of Kingston on the Democratic ticket in 1933, opposing Harry B. Walker. At that time he was serving as a member of the Board of Public Works. He also served as a police commissioner at one time. Interested in the political life of the community, he sought to serve the people in anyway possible which would tend to assist in the improvement of the community.

It was on November 16, 1924, that Flanagan with Kenneth E. Archer and Oscar A. Watkins purchased the former Cohen business and ten years later he and his son, Albert, became sole owners of the business. Since then Albert C. Flanagan has managed the store continuously except for the three year period while he served with the armed forces during World War 2. During those years the late Paul A. Zucca managed the business.

ALTHOUGH E. Frank Flanagan devoted the majority of his time to the presidency of the Savings and Loan Association during the time he held that office, he always maintained an active interest in the working of the store and gave very generously of his time and ability to civic matters.

E. Frank Flanagan was deeply interested in the welfare of Kingston and served as president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and as a director. He was one of the organizers of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. He was a member and a past president of the Kingston Club, the first president of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association and was instrumental in carrying on some of the most important programs which that organization sponsored. He was a member of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, and served as Grand Knight, was a member of the Fourth Degree Assembly; a member of Kingston Lodge No. 550, B.P.O.E., a life member of Kingston Rotary Club; Ulster County Volunteer Exempt Firemen's Association, and a member of the firm of Lane and Flanagan, realtors.

He served as a director of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company at one time and was presently a director of the Savings and Loan Association League of New York State and also served as a member of the legislative committee of that League and as a member of the Personnel Policies Committee of the United States Savings and Loan League. He had been given the Veterans of Foreign Wars "Citizen of the Year" award.

SURVIVING are his wife, Louise S. Flanagan; a son, Albert C. Flanagan, and a grandson, John Albert Flanagan, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Thursday at 9 a. m. and from St. Joseph's church at 9:30 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home any time after Tuesday noon.

MAYOR Frederick H. Stang on hearing of the death of E. Frank Flanagan said, "It was with a great deal of sorrow that I heard of the passing of Frank Flanagan. Kingston loses one of its outstanding citizens. He was a man who has contributed much to the business, educational and political life of the community."

12 New Polio Cases Reported in State

Albany, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Twelve new cases of polio were reported last week in the 57-county area of the state outside New York city.

The State Health Department said today the victims included a 6-year-old boy from Port Chester, Westchester county, who had received Salk vaccine in the mass inoculation program.

His was the 10th such case reported so far this year.

THE DEPARTMENT does not report as to whether the victims are suffering from paralytic or non-paralytic forms of the disease. The Salk vaccine protects only against paralytic polio.

Last week's 12 cases raised to 111 the total reported so far this year in the 57 counties. In the corresponding period last year, there were 82 cases reported.

The week's total was three under the preceding week's and the same as the number reported in the corresponding week in 1954. The new cases were in the following counties: Broome, Erie, Genesee, Orange and Westchester, 2 each; Chautauqua and Sullivan, one each.

She Will Die

London, July 11 (AP)—A beautiful, platinum blonde ex-model, Ruth Ellis, 28, lost her last chance today to escape the gallows for murdering her lover. The home secretary turned down pleas for clemency on behalf of the divorced mother of two. Her execution was fixed for 9 a. m. (3 a. m. EST) Wednesday at Holloway prison. She was resigned to her fate. Friends who visited her in the prison's death row over the weekend said she told them: "I am quite content to die."

Daylight Extended

In much of New England, daylight saving time was extended through October instead of ending in September during 1954 and the practice is spreading to other localities.

Eisenhower

the consideration of all the factors he will not refuse his country's call."

The 54 signers are House GOP members who were elected when Eisenhower was in 1952 or since that time. They chose Reps. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. of New Jersey, Laurence Curtis of Massachusetts and William H. Avery of Kansas to present the second-term petition to Eisenhower.

THE PRESIDENT chuckled heartly as he read the statement, but the three House members confirmed later that he made no commitment regarding a second term.

The statement began this way:

"The undersigned, Republican members of the House of Representatives, wish to take this occasion—the third anniversary of Dwight D. Eisenhower's nomination to the presidency — to call attention to the outstanding accomplishments of his administration, and urge that he accept a second term of office."

WHEN EISENHOWER had read that far he laughed, and remarked:

"I am very much complimented by the first part of your statement."

Avery, in reference to the second-term appeal, said:

"We want you to consider the second part too."

Avery told newsmen later that he got no direct answer from Eisenhower on that, but that the President laughed and said that this was "the first political discussion I've had today."

Avery said he and his colleagues had not expected any commitment from Eisenhower this far in advance of next year's nominating convention.

Avery added, however, that he believes the President will run again.

"Mr. Eisenhower has never left any job uncompleted," he said. "I feel that because he doesn't believe his job is completed he will be a candidate."

Frelinghuysen and Curtis said they agreed.

23,000 Acres Burn

ming's Medicine Bow region lies approximately 130 miles northwest of Denver.

Charles Cline, 57, Waggoner, Ariz., was burned to death in the Prescott fire when he was trapped in a canyon while prospecting, Prescott authorities said.

W. B. GALLAHER, a flying ranger, said the Arizona fire was "a long way from being under control." Winds in velocities up to 30 miles an hour hindered the efforts of about 700 men he said.

Both Wyoming blazes died down during the night, forest supervisor E. J. Fortenberry reported, but he said he expected the flames to run away again today before "between 1,000 and 1,200" men could encircle them.

One of the Wyoming fires was raging about 40 miles northwest of Laramie in the Medicine Bow Mountains. It was discovered last Wednesday, and spread over about 1,800 acres.

The other, Fortenberry said, also has destroyed about 1,800 acres since it began Saturday in Medicine Bow National Forest 25 miles southwest of Saratoga, Wyo.

The Prescott fire began Friday morning near the forest's southern boundary.

90,000 Are

marchers, 23 mounted patrols riding 650 horses, 23 jackasses and seven camels—will highlight the convention tomorrow morning and Thursday evening.

TWO FORMER presidents will participate in the convention.

Harry S. Truman, a member of Kansas City's Ararat Temple will arrive tomorrow afternoon, the personal guest of Frank S. Land, imperial potentate and a fellow Kansas Citian.

Herbert Hoover will be among those to receive a "salute from Shrinedom" Wednesday night at the Shrinerama show in Soldier Field.

The potentate of Medinah Temple, Oscar H. Damman, is general chairman of the convention, being held in Chicago for the second time since the inception of the Shrine in 1872. The first Chicago convention was in 1949.

The fire damp found in some mines is marsh gas.

170 Registered For Third Week At YMCA Camp

The YMCA Day Camp started its third week of camping at DeWitt Lake today with an enrollment of over 170 boys and girls registered according to Camp Director Lou Schafer.

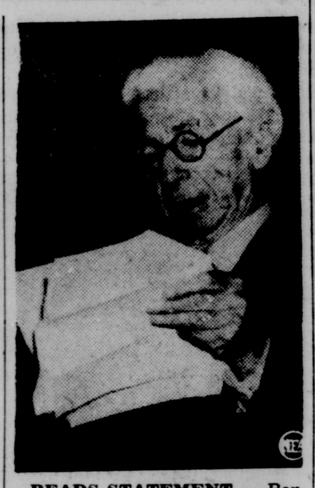

Due to hot weather, the two daily swimming programs have been lengthened. Many boys and girls are learning to swim much faster than in other years. Mr. Schafer will give many campers their tests for the beginners this week. The first test, after all fundamental skills have been mastered is to swim 75 feet in deep water without stopping. Campers doing this test are now in the "Minnow" class and are ready for advanced swimming. All new campers this week will be turned over to camp swimming director William Irland for their preliminary work. The head counsellors assisting Lou Schafer will then move ahead with the advanced swimming.

There is also much work being taught on arts and crafts. Competitive games have been played sparingly and the athletic field was used little during these first two weeks.

The mid-year camp championships in swimming and diving and in track and field will take place during the fourth week of camp which starts July 18. Many more boys and girls are expected to register so as to earn their blue,, red or white ribbons with the Day Camp insigna in gold letters.

There are still some openings during the 7th and 8th week of camp, which starts August 8 and 15. This is the period of all the 1955 Day Camp championships in every game and swimming event that takes place in camp. Parents interested in camping can contact the YMCA for special information.

Boys and girls going to camp this week are: Thomas Tierney, Beth Hauck, Stephen McGrath, Frank Ostrander, Robert Janesch, Pamela Crispell, John Coffey, Bernadette Brice, Bruce Safford, Frank Murphy, Stuart Werner, Eleanore Hidge, Carol Castiglione, Jr., Frank Lancer, Bruce Southard, Michael Provenzano, Christine Every, Peter Schline, Maureen, Kathleen and Joseph Rapp, Catherine Herd, William and Danny Bloom, John Diane and Arthur Davis, David Clearwater, Richard Townsend, Joseph Valle, Donna and Jeanne Dobbs, James MacManus, Richard Hurley, Jimmy and David Page, Joan and David Peebles, Karen Birchall, Tine Maines, Terry Rossler and Garry Millan.

GOP Candidates

had been nominated and elected three years ago and had "carried on ably" the duties of his office.

Mr. Mance pointed out that the duties of the office of coroner "almost require a doctor or undertaker" for their most effective performance. He said Dr. Rosenstock's education and experience well fitted him for the duties of coroner and that he was "well respected in his profession." He and his family have long been loyal and energetic supporters of the Republican party, he said.

H. LeRoy Gill and Benjamin Schechter of Kingston seconded the nomination.

POINTING OUT that Ellenville was a kind of "second home" to him, Mr. Schechter said he had known and admired Dr. Rosenstock for more than a quarter of a century. He listed many "virtues" and said Dr. Rosenstock was "most admirably equipped" for the duties of coroner and had a "host of friends."

The name of Mr. St. John was put in nomination by Attorney S. James Matthews of Kingston who said it was a sincere "honor and privilege" to do so. He had often used the word, "honor and privilege," he said, but never with more sincerity.

He described Mr. St. John as "truly a devoted public servant." He said Mr. St. John had been educated in Kingston public schools and Hamilton College and had served two years in the Pacific before returning to take his degree at Albany Law School from which he graduated with honors. Mr. St. John's law practice grew at a "great rate," he said.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that the present district attorney deserved credit for origination of a plan to represent that office in the city court in order that justice might be more adequately rendered and had fostered a "closer relationship between the district attorney's office and the justice courts of the county."

"IN HIS THREE years in office," Mr. Matthews said, "he has never lost a single case."

He described Mr. St. John as a "warm, sincere" individual "much sought after as a public speaker. . . . With your help and assistance the people of the county will return him to office to continue his fine work."

Mr. St. John's nomination was seconded by Morris Rosenblum of Saugerties and Charles Kaiser of Wawarsing. Mr. Rosenblum said he knew Mr. St. John quite well and it gave him "great personal pleasure" to second his nomination. Mr. Kaiser said it was an "honor, pleasure and a privilege" to second the nomination. He described Mr. St. John as a "youthful looking fellow" but said he had handled the job of district attorney like a real pro.

Mr. St. John was escorted to the rostrum by William Cruikshank of Shandaken and Mrs. Robert Rognor of Plattekill.

Mr. St. John thanked the convention and said he would do all in his power, if elected, to be a "good, honest and fearless district attorney."

THE NAME of Mr. Cook was placed in nomination by Jesse McHugh of the town of Shawangunk. Mr. McHugh described Mr. Cook as an "outstanding business man" with integrity and dependability, a "devoted public servant."

He said Mr. Cook had attended public schools here and Fordham University, served in World War 1 and had been in the insurance business for the past 33 years, holding the position of president of one of the biggest insurance organizations in the country. He said Mr. Cook had served his political apprenticeship under the late Philip Elting and had been active in First Ward politics for many years. Mr. Cook will meet the "exacting requirements of county treasurer" in the best tradition of that office, he said.

The name of Mr. Cook was seconded by Mrs. Myrtle Basten of Kingston.

George Knickerbocker of New Paltz and Mrs. Helen Marshall of Olive escorted Mr. Cook to the rostrum.

Mr. Cook said candidates who aspired to offices could not attain such offices "without your help." He thanked the convention for his nomination and urged delegates and their friends to campaign energetically in the coming election. If we do so, he said, we shall be rewarded by seeing every candidate elected.

The name of Mr. Bruhn was placed in nomination by County Judge John M. Cashin who has served in that office for the past 12 years.

JUDGE CASHIN expressed his "deepest thanks" to the convention for all the "nice things you have done for me during past years." He said he would always remember them as his friends. He expressed his appreciation to the Republican organization, Sen. Wicks and Assemblyman Wilson and said he had "no desire for a third term."

He said there had been some fine county judges since the first such judge took office in Ulster county in 1799 and that he had tried to emulate these men. "They represent a heritage," he said. He pointed out that whether or not he had succeeded he had given the position his very best.

He said Mr. Bruhn had been his friend for many years, had attended Union College and Albany Law School. He said Mr. Bruhn had fulfilled the duties of district attorney "ably and well," that he and Mr. Bruhn had been together "day and night," going out to make speeches and "singing duets" and that Mr. Bruhn was intelligent, humane and knew the law.

Attorney Charles Gaffney of Kingston seconded Mr. Bruhn's nomination, pointing out that it had been his privilege nine years ago to recommend Mr. Bruhn for the office of district attorney, an office in which he had served with great distinction. He said the work of the court had increased greatly in recent years and that Mr. Bruhn's experience, both in children's court and general practice, eminently fitted him for the duties of that position.

HE DESCRIBED Mr. Bruhn, who served in the U. S. Army Intelligence during World War 2, as honest, loyal and a "vigorous competitor."

The nomination was also seconded by Stewart Schantz of the town of Lloyd.

Mr. Bruhn was escorted to the rostrum by Mrs. Horace Boice of Ulster and Frank TenEyck of Hurley.

Mr. Bruhn said he was "at a loss for words" to express his deep gratitude. "My mind is full of its heritage, its importance," he said, referring to the office of county judge. He promised to try to carry on that heritage.

He expressed his appreciation to Judge Cashin but said Judge Cashin would never be able to "sit back" as an observer, as he said he would now like to do. "We hope he will adorn a federal bench."

Mr. Bruhn said it was "strange" after an absence of three years to get back into harness again. He said he would support the Republican slate with all his vigor. He expressed appreciation to the Republican organization and its leadership, referring to Sen. Wicks as a "very aggressive and battling senator." He said the candidates would have "no worries" as long as they had Sen. Wicks back of them.

A COMMITTEE to fill vacancies was named, consisting of Sen. Wicks, Lawrence D. Craft of Wawarsing and Peter Williams of Saugerties.

At the conclusion of Sen. Wicks' address Mr. Wilson remarked that he "wholeheartedly" concurred with the senator's views, referring explicitly to his comments on reconstruction and replacement of county bridges, consolidation of units of the county government and its decentralization.

As he adjourned the meeting Mr. Wilson remarked on the "very fine slate" of candidates and said he was "very happy to be a member of the team."

Attorney John Egan of Woodstock introduced a resolution, adopted unanimously by the convention, praising President Eisenhower for his domestic and foreign policies and the peace enjoyed during his administration and calling for his renomination and reelection.

Attorney Frank Campochiaro of Saugerties introduced a memorial resolution on the late John W. Lent of the town of Saugerties who died during the year at the age of 97, still active as a committeeman up to the time of his death.

Another memorial resolution on the late E. Leslie Fellows, a committeeman from the town of Saugerties, was introduced by Austin T. Simmons of the town of Saugerties.

3 Former GIs

ward S. Dickenson of Crackers Neck, Va., and Claude Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., changed their minds and were sent back to the UN command in Korea before the group were moved north in January, 1954. Both were convicted of collaborating with the enemy, Batchelor getting a 20-year sentence and Dickenson 10 years.

Peiping authorities last June sent word that another of the men, Rufus O. Douglas of San Angelo, Tex., had died in China of a heart trouble.

Anderson

ago when Roger M. Kyes resigned.

Before joining the administration, Anderson was general manager of the Waggoner estate at Vernon, Tex., at a reported $60,000 a year. The operation embraces ranching, oil and farming.

Anderson, 45, has not indicated publicly whether he intends to return to the Waggoner estate. There has been some speculation that he may run for governor of Texas next year.

Concrete on Viaduct

Police received a call at 9:25 a. m., today, from 498 Washington avenue, reporting a large piece of concrete "hanging" on the side of the Washington avenue viaduct. The Board of Public Works was notified.

Loan President,

in the Rosendale area where he learned from his father the trade of cooper. His energy and skill was quickly evidenced and he learned to swing an adz with such precision and skill that he soon was considered one of the most skilled workmen of the time, working with such efficiency that he soon was doing five times the work of the average worker.

He came to Kingston in 1899 and was graduated from Spencer's Business School in 1902. At that time he took a position in the office of James D. Shiel's hotel at Lackawack but he was soon attracted back to Kingston and in November 1902 he became associated with S. Cohen's Sons clothing store on North Front street where he worked as book-keeper, salesman and later became manager of the store, a position he held when the store was moved to Wall street in 1910.

MR. FLANAGAN was always interested in civic matters and he held numerous positions, giving very generously of his time to public matters. He was a candidate for mayor of Kingston on the Democratic ticket in 1933, opposing Harry B. Walker. At that time he was serving as a member of the Board of Public Works. He also served as a police commissioner at one time. Interested in the political life of the community, he sought to serve the people in anyway possible which would tend to assist in the improvement of the community.

It was on November 16, 1924, that Flanagan with Kenneth E. Archer and Oscar A. Watkins purchased the former Cohen business and ten years later he and his son, Albert, became sole owners of the business. Since then Albert C. Flanagan has managed the store continuously except for the three year period while he served with the armed forces during World War 2. During those years the late Paul A. Zucca managed the business.

ALTHOUGH E. Frank Flanagan devoted the majority of his time to the presidency of the Savings and Loan Association during the time he held that office, he always maintained an active interest in the working of the store and gave very generously of his time and ability to civic matters.

E. Frank Flanagan was deeply interested in the welfare of Kingston and served as president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and as a director. He was one of the organizers of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. He was a member and a past president of the Kingston Club, the first president of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association and was instrumental in carrying on some of the most important programs which that organization sponsored. He was a member of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, and served as Grand Knight, was a member of the Fourth Degree Assembly; a member of Kingston Lodge No. 550, B.P.O.E., a life member of Kingston Rotary Club; Ulster County Volunteer Exempt Firemen's Association, and a member of the firm of Lane and Flanagan, realtors.

He served as a director of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company at one time and was presently a director of the Savings and Loan Association League of New York State and also served as a member of the legislative committee of that League and as a member of the Personnel Policies Committee of the United States Savings and Loan League. He had been given the Veterans of Foreign Wars "Citizen of the Year" award.

SURVIVING are his wife, Louise S. Flanagan; a son, Albert C. Flanagan, and a grandson, John Albert Flanagan, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Thursday at 9 a. m. and from St. Joseph's church at 9:30 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home any time after Tuesday noon.

MAYOR Frederick H. Stang on hearing of the death of E. Frank Flanagan said, "It was with a great deal of sorrow that I heard of the passing of Frank Flanagan. Kingston loses one of its outstanding citizens. He was a man who has contributed much to the business, educational and political life of the community."

12 New Polio Cases Reported in State

Albany, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Twelve new cases of polio were reported last week in the 57-county area of the state outside New York city.

The State Health Department said today the victims included a 6-year-old boy from Port Chester, Westchester county, who had received Salk vaccine in the mass inoculation program.

His was the 10th such case reported so far this year.

THE DEPARTMENT does not report as to whether the victims are suffering from paralytic or non-paralytic forms of the disease. The Salk vaccine protects only against paralytic polio.

Last week's 12 cases raised to 111 the total reported so far this year in the 57 counties. In the corresponding period last year, there were 82 cases reported.

The week's total was three under the preceding week's and the same as the number reported in the corresponding week in 1954. The new cases were in the following counties: Broome, Erie, Genesee, Orange and Westchester, 2 each; Chautauqua and Sullivan, one each.

She Will Die

London, July 11 (AP)—A beautiful, platinum blonde ex-model, Ruth Ellis, 28, lost her last chance today to escape the gallows for murdering her lover. The home secretary turned down pleas for clemency on behalf of the divorced mother of two. Her execution was fixed for 9 a. m. (3 a. m. EST) Wednesday at Holloway prison. She was resigned to her fate. Friends who visited her in the prison's death row over the weekend said she told them: "I am quite content to die."

Daylight Extended

In much of New England, daylight saving time was extended through October instead of ending in September during 1954 and the practice is spreading to other localities.

Eisenhower

the consideration of all the factors he will not refuse his country's call."

The 54 signers are House GOP members who were elected when Eisenhower was in 1952 or since that time. They chose Reps. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. of New Jersey, Laurence Curtis of Massachusetts and William H. Avery of Kansas to present the second-term petition to Eisenhower.

THE PRESIDENT chuckled heartly as he read the statement, but the three House members confirmed later that he made no commitment regarding a second term.

The statement began this way:

"The undersigned, Republican members of the House of Representatives, wish to take this occasion—the third anniversary of Dwight D. Eisenhower's nomination to the presidency — to call attention to the outstanding accomplishments of his administration, and urge that he accept a second term of office."

WHEN EISENHOWER had read that far he laughed, and remarked:

"I am very much complimented by the first part of your statement."

Avery, in reference to the second-term appeal, said:

"We want you to consider the second part too."

Avery told newsmen later that he got no direct answer from Eisenhower on that, but that the President laughed and said that this was "the first political discussion I've had today."

Avery said he and his colleagues had not expected any commitment from Eisenhower this far in advance of next year's nominating convention.

Avery added, however, that he believes the President will run again.

"Mr. Eisenhower has never left any job uncompleted," he said. "I feel that because he doesn't believe his job is completed he will be a candidate."

Frelinghuysen and Curtis said they agreed.

23,000 Acres Burn

ming's Medicine Bow region lies approximately 130 miles northwest of Denver.

Charles Cline, 57, Waggoner, Ariz., was burned to death in the Prescott fire when he was trapped in a canyon while prospecting, Prescott authorities said.

W. B. GALLAHER, a flying ranger, said the Arizona fire was "a long way from being under control." Winds in velocities up to 30 miles an hour hindered the efforts of about 700 men he said.

Both Wyoming blazes died down during the night, forest supervisor E. J. Fortenberry reported, but he said he expected the flames to run away again today before "between 1,000 and 1,200" men could encircle them.

One of the Wyoming fires was raging about 40 miles northwest of Laramie in the Medicine Bow Mountains. It was discovered last Wednesday, and spread over about 1,800 acres.

The other, Fortenberry said, also has destroyed about 1,800 acres since it began Saturday in Medicine Bow National Forest 25 miles southwest of Saratoga, Wyo.

The Prescott fire began Friday morning near the forest's southern boundary.

90,000 Are

marchers, 23 mounted patrols riding 650 horses, 23 jackasses and seven camels—will highlight the convention tomorrow morning and Thursday evening.

TWO FORMER presidents will participate in the convention.

Harry S. Truman, a member of Kansas City's Ararat Temple will arrive tomorrow afternoon, the personal guest of Frank S. Land, imperial potentate and a fellow Kansas Citian.

Herbert Hoover will be among those to receive a "salute from Shrinedom" Wednesday night at the Shrinerama show in Soldier Field.

The potentate of Medinah Temple, Oscar H. Damman, is general chairman of the convention, being held in Chicago for the second time since the inception of the Shrine in 1872. The first Chicago convention was in 1949.

The fire damp found in some mines is marsh gas.

170 Registered For Third Week At YMCA Camp

The YMCA Day Camp started its third week of camping at DeWitt Lake today with an enrollment of over 170 boys and girls registered according to Camp Director Lou Schafer.

Due to hot weather, the two daily swimming programs have been lengthened. Many boys and girls are learning to swim much faster than in other years. Mr. Schafer will give many campers their tests for the beginners this week. The first test, after all fundamental skills have been mastered is to swim 75 feet in deep water without stopping. Campers doing this test are now in the "Minnow" class and are ready for advanced swimming. All new campers this week will be turned over to camp swimming director William Irland for their preliminary work. The head counsellors assisting Lou Schafer will then move ahead with the advanced swimming.

There is also much work being taught on arts and crafts. Competitive games have been played sparingly and the athletic field was used little during these first two weeks.

The mid-year camp championships in swimming and diving and in track and field will take place during the fourth week of camp which starts July 18. Many more boys and girls are expected to register so as to earn their blue,, red or white ribbons with the Day Camp insigna in gold letters.

There are still some openings during the 7th and 8th week of camp, which starts August 8 and 15. This is the period of all the 1955 Day Camp championships in every game and swimming event that takes place in camp. Parents interested in camping can contact the YMCA for special information.

Boys and girls going to camp this week are: Thomas Tierney, Beth Hauck, Stephen McGrath, Frank Ostrander, Robert Janesch, Pamela Crispell, John Coffey, Bernadette Brice, Bruce Safford, Frank Murphy, Stuart Werner, Eleanore Hidge, Carol Castiglione, Jr., Frank Lancer, Bruce Southard, Michael Provenzano, Christine Every, Peter Schline, Maureen, Kathleen and Joseph Rapp, Catherine Herd, William and Danny Bloom, John Diane and Arthur Davis, David Clearwater, Richard Townsend, Joseph Valle, Donna and Jeanne Dobbs, James MacManus, Richard Hurley, Jimmy and David Page, Joan and David Peebles, Karen Birchall, Tine Maines, Terry Rossler and Garry Millan.

Runnels in Hospital

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Pete Runnels, Washington Senators second baseman, will undergo an operation for appendicitis here tomorrow. Club officials expect him to be out of the lineup two or three weeks. The ailment is chronic and Runnels has been trying to hold off surgery until the end of the season but physicians decided against that. He became ill after Saturday's game and again yesterday.

Held for Burglary

John Kubik, 40, of 393 North street, Middletown, was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriffs Rose and McKinstry at Goshen on a bench warrant issued by County Judge John M. Cashin. He was held in jail on a burglary, third degree, charge.

PRAY AT SCENE OF TRAGEDY—Clemente Villa, left, of Decoto, Calif., is led in prayer by his daughter, Vickie, as rescuers in background prepare to go out in boat on San Joaquin river near Modesto, Calif. (July 9). Villa's three children, two grandchildren and son-in-law were drowned. (AP Wirephoto).

GOP Candidates

had been nominated and elected three years ago and had "carried on ably" the duties of his office.

Mr. Mance pointed out that the duties of the office of coroner "almost require a doctor or undertaker" for their most effective performance. He said Dr. Rosenstock's education and experience well fitted him for the duties of coroner and that he was "well respected in his profession." He and his family have long been loyal and energetic supporters of the Republican party, he said.

H. LeRoy Gill and Benjamin Schechter of Kingston seconded the nomination.

POINTING OUT that Ellenville was a kind of "second home" to him, Mr. Schechter said he had known and admired Dr. Rosenstock for more than a quarter of a century. He listed many "virtues" and said Dr. Rosenstock was "most admirably equipped" for the duties of coroner and had a "host of friends."

The name of Mr. St. John was put in nomination by Attorney S. James Matthews of Kingston who said it was a sincere "honor and privilege" to do so. He had often used the word, "honor and privilege," he said, but never with more sincerity.

He described Mr. St. John as "truly a devoted public servant." He said Mr. St. John had been educated in Kingston public schools and Hamilton College and had served two years in the Pacific before returning to take his degree at Albany Law School from which he graduated with honors. Mr. St. John's law practice grew at a "great rate," he said.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that the present district attorney deserved credit for origination of a plan to represent that office in the city court in order that justice might be more adequately rendered and had fostered a "closer relationship between the district attorney's office and the justice courts of the county."

"IN HIS THREE years in office," Mr. Matthews said, "he has never lost a single case."

He described Mr. St. John as a "warm, sincere" individual "much sought after as a public speaker. . . . With your help and assistance the people of the county will return him to office to continue his fine work."

Mr. St. John's nomination was seconded by Morris Rosenblum of Saugerties and Charles Kaiser of Wawarsing. Mr. Rosenblum said he knew Mr. St. John quite well and it gave him "great personal pleasure" to second his nomination. Mr. Kaiser said it was an "honor, pleasure and a privilege" to second the nomination. He described Mr. St. John as a "youthful looking fellow" but said he had handled the job of district attorney like a real pro.

Mr. St. John was escorted to the rostrum by William Cruikshank of Shandaken and Mrs. Robert Rognor of Plattekill.

Mr. St. John thanked the convention and said he would do all in his power, if elected, to be a "good, honest and fearless district attorney."

THE NAME of Mr. Cook was placed in nomination by Jesse McHugh of the town of Shawangunk. Mr. McHugh described Mr. Cook as an "outstanding business man" with integrity and dependability, a "devoted public servant."

He said Mr. Cook had attended public schools here and Fordham University, served in World War 1 and had been in the insurance business for the past 33 years, holding the position of president of one of the biggest insurance organizations in the country. He said Mr. Cook had served his political apprenticeship under the late Philip Elting and had been active in First Ward politics for many years. Mr. Cook will meet the "exacting requirements of county treasurer" in the best tradition of that office, he said.

The name of Mr. Cook was seconded by Mrs. Myrtle Basten of Kingston.

George Knickerbocker of New Paltz and Mrs. Helen Marshall of Olive escorted Mr. Cook to the rostrum.

Mr. Cook said candidates who aspired to offices could not attain such offices "without your help." He thanked the convention for his nomination and urged delegates and their friends to campaign energetically in the coming election. If we do so, he said, we shall be rewarded by seeing every candidate elected.

The name of Mr. Bruhn was placed in nomination by County Judge John M. Cashin who has served in that office for the past 12 years.

JUDGE CASHIN expressed his "deepest thanks" to the convention for all the "nice things you have done for me during past years." He said he would always remember them as his friends. He expressed his appreciation to the Republican organization, Sen. Wicks and Assemblyman Wilson and said he had "no desire for a third term."

He said there had been some fine county judges since the first such judge took office in Ulster county in 1799 and that he had tried to emulate these men. "They represent a heritage," he said. He pointed out that whether or not he had succeeded he had given the position his very best.

He said Mr. Bruhn had been his friend for many years, had attended Union College and Albany Law School. He said Mr. Bruhn had fulfilled the duties of district attorney "ably and well," that he and Mr. Bruhn had been together "day and night," going out to make speeches and "singing duets" and that Mr. Bruhn was intelligent, humane and knew the law.

Attorney Charles Gaffney of Kingston seconded Mr. Bruhn's nomination, pointing out that it had been his privilege nine years ago to recommend Mr. Bruhn for the office of district attorney, an office in which he had served with great distinction. He said the work of the court had increased greatly in recent years and that Mr. Bruhn's experience, both in children's court and general practice, eminently fitted him for the duties of that position.

HE DESCRIBED Mr. Bruhn, who served in the U. S. Army Intelligence during World War 2, as honest, loyal and a "vigorous competitor."

The nomination was also seconded by Stewart Schantz of the town of Lloyd.

Mr. Bruhn was escorted to the rostrum by Mrs. Horace Boice of Ulster and Frank TenEyck of Hurley.

Mr. Bruhn said he was "at a loss for words" to express his deep gratitude. "My mind is full of its heritage, its importance," he said, referring to the office of county judge. He promised to try to carry on that heritage.

He expressed his appreciation to Judge Cashin but said Judge Cashin would never be able to "sit back" as an observer, as he said he would now like to do. "We hope he will adorn a federal bench."

Mr. Bruhn said it was "strange" after an absence of three years to get back into harness again. He said he would support the Republican slate with all his vigor. He expressed appreciation to the Republican organization and its leadership, referring to Sen. Wicks as a "very aggressive and battling senator." He said the candidates would have "no worries" as long as they had Sen. Wicks back of them.

A COMMITTEE to fill vacancies was named, consisting of Sen. Wicks, Lawrence D. Craft of Wawarsing and Peter Williams of Saugerties.

At the conclusion of Sen. Wicks' address Mr. Wilson remarked that he "wholeheartedly" concurred with the senator's views, referring explicitly to his comments on reconstruction and replacement of county bridges, consolidation of units of the county government and its decentralization.

As he adjourned the meeting Mr. Wilson remarked on the "very fine slate" of candidates and said he was "very happy to be a member of the team."

Attorney John Egan of Woodstock introduced a resolution, adopted unanimously by the convention, praising President Eisenhower for his domestic and foreign policies and the peace enjoyed during his administration and calling for his renomination and reelection.

Attorney Frank Campochiaro of Saugerties introduced a memorial resolution on the late John W. Lent of the town of Saugerties who died during the year at the age of 97, still active as a committeeman up to the time of his death.

Another memorial resolution on the late E. Leslie Fellows, a committeeman from the town of Saugerties, was introduced by Austin T. Simmons of the town of Saugerties.

Two Charged For Speeding on By-Pass

Two motorists were arrested on charges of speeding today on East Chester street, police reported.

Anthony DeFrancesco, 41, of 3623 30th street, Astoria, L. I., was arrested at 11 a. m., by Officer Guernsey Burger, Jr. The arrest was made near Cassidy street, and DeFrancesco posted bail for hearing Tuesday in City Court.

Officer Floyd Krom arrested Melvin Meachum, Jr., 38, of 58 Clements street, Liberty, at 12:50 p. m., on a similar charge, near Garrison street. He was paroled for a hearing in City Court, July 18.

Chinese Nationals Report Reds Are Building Forces

Taipei, Formosa, July 11 (AP)—An official Nationalist Chinese news agency said today the Chinese Communists were concentrating a naval fleet off the Chushan Islands, southeast of Shanghai.

Tatao Agency charged also:

Soviet Russia turned over 30 more MIG 15s to North Korea in June, increasing the number there to 350.

The Chinese Reds were intensifying preparations for an invasion of Thailand through "Free Thai" forces being built up in the southwest China province of Yunnan.

TATAO IS operated by the Nationalist Interior Ministry and claims underground contacts.

The agency said 12 light destroyers, a 7,000-ton supply ship, about 50 gunboats, some landing ships and other assorted Communist craft had assembled at the Chusans 90 miles south of Shanghai.

Tatao also said tanks, guns and other weapons to equip two divisions had been shipped to North Korea in June from Vladivostok.

The agency charged the Chinese Reds were building up the military strength of the "Free Thai government" in southern Yunnan for subversion, infiltration and hoped-for conquest of Thailand.

IT SAID this government was established at Cheli near the borders of Burma, Thailand and North Viet Nam and that it was headed by Pridi Phanomyong, a former premier of Thailand, who has been living in Red China for years.

The "Free Thais," the agency declared, had a radio broadcasting station at Cheli and two newspapers, one published in Siamese and the other in Chinese.

200,000 Protest

Brussels, Belgium, July 11 (AP)—An estimated 200,000 Roman Catholics poured into Brussels yesterday to protest school policies of Premier Achille Van Acker's Liberal-Socialist coalition. The only casualties were caused by the heat. Arriving by train, car and bus, many demonstrators carried the traditional pirates' black flag of revolt and chanted slogans against the government's bill to tighten regulation of church and other private schools. Few incidents were reported.

Greatest Airlift Half Completed

Ashiya Air Base, Japan, July 11 (AP)—History's greatest airborne movement of troops from America to Asia was half completed today and a massive trooplift back to the United States was about to start.

By late Monday, 24 monster C124 Globemasters had brought more than 2,000 men of the 3,900-man 508th Airborne Regiment to Japan.

Nineteen more Globemasters, strung back across the Pacific, were hauling the rest of the 508th from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

ALREADY the first-arrived C124s were serviced, inspected and ready to launch the second half of operation gyroscope—the return to the United States of the Korean War-tested 187th airborne regiment.

Thirty-seven Globemasters are required to shuttle the 3,100-man 187th across the Pacific. The first takeoff is set for 10 a. m. tomorrow (8 p. m. Monday, EST) from nearby Itazuke Air Base, with others at two-hour intervals.

AFTER ARRIVAL, the husky paratroopers were sent to their new stations on musty troop trains pulled by old steam engines. The 508th will be based at Camps Chikamauga, Wood and Kashii, in different parts of Kyushu, the main southern island of Japan.

Col. Norman E. Tipton, commander of the 508th, pointed out to reporters that this is the second massive airlift. The other involved the exchange of the U. S. 10th and 1st divisions across the Atlantic.

TIPTON said that operationally, the airlift has proceeded smoothly. The main trouble appears to be legal difficulties connected with general military travel regulations.

He pointed out the regulations were written long before mass air travel became possible. They will have to be changed to eliminate the red tape—the filling out of forms—and the adherence to rules on movement of household goods—aspects connected with simultaneous exchange of large units and of families—which act to retard air lifts, he said.

Tipton also said the 508th will have two weeks in which to take things fairly easy, getting living quarters in shape and installing families coming over by ship. Then the paratroops will go into the field for squadron team jumps on Monkey Mountain—which teems with monkeys—overlooking Beppu.

SHIRTSLEEVE DIPLOMACY

With statesmen converging on Geneva for the Big Four talks, now is perhaps the time to take another look at diplomacy in our age.

Once diplomacy was regarded as a skilled game played by crafty but polite gentlemen on a diplomatic chessboard. As an old proverb puts it, "if a diplomat says YES he means PERHAPS, when he says PERHAPS he means NO, but it is not becoming to a diplomat to say NO."

The Communists were the first to discard this elegant 19th century diplomatic routine. Now it is the West Germans who have introduced something new in world diplomacy, a type of shirtsleeve diplomacy, from which the Western powers can learn a trick or two—especially in their negotiations with the Moscow-Peiping Axis.

What happened to the typical German militarist-diplomat, arrogant and monocled? He seems to have vanished with Hitler and the ruins of the last war.

Bonn's diplomat speaks softly and moves swiftly. He is no tea-drinking-striped-pants "gentleman" tied by diplomatic ritual and an intricate system of protocol.

A typical example is Heinrich von Brentano, the Bonn Republic's new foreign minister. In his early 50's, he is staunchly pro-Western and a political liberal who helped frame West Germany's U. S.-style Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Another German diplomat in shirtsleeves is Dr. H. L. Krekeler, Bonn's ambassador to the U. S. A soft-spoken and an unassuming man who has had the courage to fight both Nazis and Communists, he is primarily a scientist and a businessman rather than an old-style diplomat.

However, it is 79-year-old Chancellor Adenauer himself—a man who thinks, feels and acts like a Westerner—who stands at the summit of Germany's new diplomacy.

For instance, consider the skill with which the Chancellor evaded the trap set for him by the recent Soviet invitation to visit Russia.

The invitation itself was anything but a surprise. It merely showed again that Muscovite diplomacy sees nothing strange in issuing a polite invitation to a man whom Red propaganda long depicted as a blood-thirsty tyrant.

However, if the Kremlin leaders were under any illusions that Adenauer would fall for their gambit and rush to Moscow they clearly misunderstood not only the Chancellor's devotion to Western ideals but also the new type of diplomacy gradually emerging in Bonn under his leadership.

Adenauer neither accepted nor rejected Moscow's invitation. He simply suggested that before a decision on such a meeting could be made it would be necessary to examine and clarify what subjects are to be discussed and on what basis.

With one simple stroke he thus took away the diplomatic play from the Russians and upset their plan for the Geneva "summit" meeting. For clarity in international relations is one thing the Kremlin rulers fear like fire.

Something for nothing may seem to be a crafty goal—except that the result may turn out the other way around.

SURPRISING DEATH

Harry Agganis, for three years a first baseman with the Boston Red Sox has startled the baseball world by dying of pneumonia at 25. Ballplayers have to have unusual fitness, and unless they dissipate, a common thing now than formerly, they should have a life expectancy at least equal to that of the average man. Accidents on the field seldom prove fatal. The last one recalled goes back to 1920 when Ray Chapman, Cleveland Indian shortstop, was hit on the temple by a pitched ball and was killed.

Part of the shock comes from realizing that pneumonia, long rated as one of the most dangerous diseases, has not lost all its terrors in spite of the many new medical discoveries.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHAT IS COMMUNISM?

I want to recommend a book. I want to recommend it with unstinted enthusiasm as the best all-inclusive presentation about a subject that is widely discussed but concerning which most know too little.

The book is, "What Is Communism?" edited by Richard M. Ketchum, with an introduction by President Grayson Kirk of Columbia University. If your book-store does not have the book, or for some reason will not order it, write to E. P. Dutton and Co., Inc., New York. The price is $2.95.

Incidentally, I am told by publishers that one reason book-stores do not keep supplies of books is that publishers do not take back unsold copies and book-shops do not have the capital to tie up in books that do not sell. A second reason given is that the cost of ordering single copies is almost prohibitive in view of the small profit that these shops earn. If these reasons are correct, the alternative is to buy directly from the publisher—which I am told most of them do not favor. There must be a way of getting the book you want to have.

To return to this clearly-written, well-illustrated volume, I can only say that never having heard of its editor, I approached it with doubt and read it with enthusiasm. I am sure that I shall receive letters suggesting that there have been omissions and that the book might have been written in some other way. Nothing can be more certain than that all the great experts in this field, including myself, could have done this book differently and better, but we have not taken the trouble, nor shown the patience, nor done the research.

That sort of criticism reminds me of a story about Max Schuster, the publisher, who was approached by an author about a prospective book. "Wonderful idea!" said Max. "Bring it in on Thursday." "Which Thursday?" asked the prospective author. "Any Thursday that you have it," Max replied.

So, having answered that criticism, I call your attention to a chapter about which the expert who writes this column knew nothing at all. It is called "The Zone of Silence," and it stirred me deeply. I had always assumed that the term "Iron Curtain" was a poetic figment of the imagination of some such wordsmith as Winston Churchill, who first used it in a speech in Missouri. But there is an Iron Curtain:

"All around the perimeter of the Communist-held zone, from the Arctic Ocean to the Sea of Japan, there is a barrier which has come to be known as the 'Iron Curtain.' For nearly all of the 10,515-mile border between Communist and non-Communist counties, the Iron Curtain is a visible wall between two different worlds."

This Iron Curtain is not only described; it is illustrated and every informed American should know what it is, particularly in these days when the fact that Molotov smiles is front-page news. It must be the hardest thing he is called upon to do for his country.

Another fascinating chapter is "Young Pioneers," the Komsomol, the extremely competent education of the Russian child to the glories of patriotism. This is particularly interesting at a time when we in the United States reject the idea of patriotism or, as it is put by those who are alergic to love of country, "excessive patriotism." Incidentally, in this connection I have come across a series of books for boys and girls called "Landmark Books." They are definitely designed to acquaint young Americans with the heroes of their country and to stir their imaginations about their own country.

I have on one or two occasions been asked why I quote others so much and so often. This is a good opportunity to explain. The kind of work I do requires an enormous amount of reading. No one person knows everything, although many pretend to omniscience. Why not give the man who said it before the columnist ever thought of it credit for the idea? Why not quote the pertinent paragraph, giving the writer's name? Why not quote source material directly? It often takes more time and effort to search for the pertinent paragraph than to take it out of one's own head. But it seems to me worth while, if only to document what is written.

That Body of Yours

BOTULISM—A SERIOUS DANGER

Botulism is a disease which was first described in Germany over 100 years ago where it was found in individuals who had eaten contaminated sausage. For this reason the name of the illness is derived from the Latin word for sausage. Outbreaks of botulism have been observed in the United States, Canada, and other countries for many years, chiefly in association with the eating of inadequately processed canned foods. While these outbreaks are not great in number, the outlook for the patient so afflicted is so serious, the death rate being 65 per cent, that it would be wise for us to know something about it.

The products concerned, which may give rise to the disease, are canned fruits and vegetables and canned or preserved fish and meats, as well as cheeses. Commercial packers in this country now use sterilizing methods which are sufficient to destroy all the spores present in the foods. The chief danger lies in home-canned products, particularly when high-pressure steam methods are not used. Because of this most outbreaks have occurred in individual families or other small groups of people.

Spoilage of food may be suspected from abnormal taste, odor, etc., but, on the other hand, it may be spoiled and show no signs. Therefore, when possible, home-preserved products should be boiled for 10 minutes before use. Of course, any item which appears to be spoiled must be destroyed without being tested and care must be taken to prevent contact of spoiled food with cuts on the hands for a dangerous quantity of botulin might be absorbed into the system in this manner.

Symptoms of botulism may begin anywhere from two hours to 14 days after eating the spoiled food, depending on the amount of food eaten. Illness begins with fatigue, weakness, headache and dizziness. In some cases there is nausea, vomiting, upper abdominal discomfort and diarrhea which subside and are followed by constipation.

However, botulism's danger lies in the fact that it is a paralyzing disease and weakness in the muscles will be noted during the first 24 hours. Except for headache, botulism does not cause pain, the patient is clear mentally but the face becomes expressionless from paralysis. Chewing, swallowing and speech are interfered with and the tongue cannot be controlled. The neck muscles are unable to support the head. Limbs become progressively weaker. The paralysis may progress to death after two to 10 days of illness. Death results from paralysis of the breathing muscles, obstruction of the airway, or from pneumonia.

If a patient survives the first 10 days of illness, his chances of recovery are good. After 10 days, the power of the muscles gradually returns although eye defects may persist for weeks or months. Two to six months elapse before all the symptoms disappear.

As mentioned above, the outbreaks of botulism are not too common but they are so dangerous when they do occur that we must take all precautions against eating of spoiled food.

Khrushchev's Summer Replacement

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Democrats are constantly needling Republicans on the Hill about Ike's golf playing. But when Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas ducked out for a quick round the other afternoon, he almost upset his party's strategy of opposition to Ike's atomic ship proposal.

Just before the vote on the A-ship came up, Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) made a quick nose count and to his horror discovered he was one vote short to kill it.

Checking, he learned that Fulbright was out at the Columbia Country Club enjoying a fast round. So he dispatched a Capitol motorcycle cop who finally found Fulbright teeing off the eighth hole.

Democratic senators stalled the debate for about an hour while Fulbright rushed back to the Senate floor to cast his vote and beat the A-ship by that single vote.

If the vote had been taken without Fulbright, and it had been a tie, presiding Vice President Nixon could have broken the deadlock by casting a vote in favor of Ike's idea.

YOU CAN'T FOOL an old gourmet like Sen. Homer Capehart (R.-Ind.) when it comes to rare and exotic foods. At a party at the Guatemalan embassy given by Ambassador Jose Luis Cruz Salazar for America's new envoy to his country, Henry J. Sparks, big plates of what looked like dark brown mud dotted the huge buffet table.

Nobody had courage to dive into the stuff until Homer came along. "Only a fool would pass this up," he said, ladling a trowelful on his plate. "It's called Guatemalan caviar and is made out of fried black beans flavored with garlic, onions and many spices," he explained.

Volteados is the official name for it, and after Homer's sales talk everybody dove in to clean the plates in a hurry.

IN THIS MODERN AGE of advertising and promotions, a state's hero isn't even safe anymore. That's the complaint of Rep. Keith Thomson (R.Wyo.) who reports:

"I've just heard the shocking news that in Cody, Wyo., home of our famous Buffalo Bill, Davy Crockett suits are now outselling Buffalo Bill suits about 60 to 1."

It was a sneaky thing to do, but we checked with Keith's attractive wife, Thyra, and discovered that her three sons all have Davy Crockett hats.

MOTHERS, TAKE a tip from the wife of Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeineddine on how to get your kids to eat spinach. She wowed the guests at a reception the other afternoon with a fancy spinach concoction shoveled into pastry.

"It's all psychological," explains Mme. Zeineddine. "Just dress it up a bit and it tastes wonderful."

NOW THAT he has left the job of Secretary of the Army, Bob Stevens is just beginning to catch on to some of the neater tricks of the big-shot trade here.

When he flew into Bolling Air Force Base the other day, his car and secretary were waiting on the landing strip at the main terminal. The mob of newsmen and photographers, who had to park on the other side of the terminal, were standing around the car waiting to ask Stevens about his resignation.

As the plane landed, however, it pulled up to a hangar at the end of the field. Stevens' car raced down the runway and whisked him away before the newsmen could get back to their cars to catch him.

OTHER EVENING when the House was having a late session to debate the Defense Department appropriation bill, Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex.), due at a reception, showed up in a tuxedo. When ribbed about it he replied:

"When it comes time to vote on a 32 billion-dollar appropriation, I think we owe it to the taxpayers to dress for the occasion."

AT THE PEAK of festivities at a lively cocktail party recently, with crowds jamming the bars, females laughing hysterically and no one feeling any pain, a Latin-American diplomat had the temerity to suggest that Washington parties were really pretty dull affairs.

"You Americans set a time limit from six to eight, you crowd a lot of people into one room and nobody introduces anyone to anyone else. You may be a little drunk when you leave, but your varicose veins will ache for a week from all the standing up," he complained.

"Now in Latin America we never set a time limit, our parties go until three or four in the morning, there is music and dancing, and if you want to, you can sit down once in a while."

Creeping Inflation Is Big News Story in the Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 10 — Sometimes there's a big news story developing right in front of our eyes but, because there's no single dramatic climax, it escapes headlines.

Today the biggest story in America is the creeping inflation that has set in. It may eventually bring the value of the dollar down from around fifty cents, where it is at present, to twenty cents or even lower in the next two decades.

People wonder why the stock market is booming, but it should be no mystery. The stock market senses inflation faster nowadays than it does any other influence, and security values jump upward accordingly.

THE MOST sensational piece of inflation news happened a fortnight ago. Just as soon as the C. I. O. Steelworkers' Union held up the steel industry and forced it to pay a wage increase of around 15 cents an hour, the steel companies turned around and increased the price of steel by $7.50 a ton. That's about a 5 per cent increase and anybody who thinks you can put into effect a 5 per cent increase in steel prices without affecting almost the entire manufacturing economy of America isn't looking facts in the face.

Big wage increases have just been forced on the auto and copper industries, too.

NOBODY begrudges American labor the enjoyment of high wages, but there comes a time when stability is more important than selfishness and greed. The union leaders are in a contest to get the most they can each year, and they are forcing wage increases in reckless disregard of their own labor-union members. For when inflation reaches its peak, the workers who have accumulated savings in the banks or in the form of pensions will suffer the greatest hardship. The dollars of today look good at the time but, when they will buy only twenty cents' worth of goods, they will not look so good.

Time was when the free-enterprise system in America functioned effectively because the government protected the public interest. It stepped in when the corporations fixed prices or engaged in monopolistic practices to stifle competition. Today the government is faced with a dangerous monopoly—labor-union control of entire industries. Today price-fixing is being brought about by labor-union manipulation of wage rates. The government is afraid to act because the labor unions control the Democratic party and, with their huge campaign funds, can control the election of many members of Congress in both parties.

So, being fearful of political reprisals, the government takes no action to protect the public interest, while the labor unions, on the one hand, and the corporations, on the other, fix the prices. The smaller units in business which used to cut prices because they didn't need to pay as high wages as their big competitors now are being gradually forced out of business. Monopolies and quasi-monopolies today are in command of the nation's economy.

IN EUROPE in order to hold labor unions and corporations at bay, either the corporate state of fascism or the state-controlled mechanism of communism is introduced. Both are instruments of totalitarianism and offer no solution for America.

Revision of the anti-trust laws is often talked about in Washington, but nothing is done about it. The labor unions are today engaged in a "restraint of trade" in much the same way that the corporations operated in the 1890s, when the Sherman anti-trust law was born. But there's no sentiment on Capitol Hill today to put through any important changes in the anti-trust laws.

SO THE OUTLOOK is for more and more inflation, and, of course more and more devaluation in the purchasing power of the dollar, higher and higher prices and a gradual depreciation of the value of pensions and retirement benefits. Labor-union leaders are forgetting tomorrow and living only in today's atmosphere of rivalry in which one labor chief vies with another to get the maximum. Strikes are too costly to be endured, so management gives in without a struggle. Then, as if convinced that the public will not mind, the price increases are announced almost immediately after the termination of the wage controversies with the unions.

Another cycle of price increases generally now is in the offing.

IF PROFITS of corporations are too high, the answer doesn't lie in turning the excess over to one industry, but in sharing it with the entire public in the form of price decreases. Today's system is a triumph for special privilege—the monopolistic unions and corporations.

The end result—economic depression—will not be apparent till it comes. For economic laws are never repealed. The inevitability of a price spiral and a consequent reduction in the dollar's value are as plain to see today as they have been in similar periods in the economic history of the world. Bad economic practices do not always make headlines—but they can make breadlines.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A few days ago I published a letter written by Mrs. Manuel Miller from St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a government madhouse in Washington to which she had been transported as a prisoner from her home in Bethel, Vt. That letter was lucid, sensible and vigorous Mrs Miller now has been expelled from St. Elizabeth's because the Department of Justice did not dare face a habeas corpus action.

Today I present letters which Henry Wallace wrote to his guru, Nicholas Roerich, and others. Roerich was a Russian religious quack. Wallace fell under his spell and wrote these letters before and during his terms as secretary of agriculture. In 1940, well knowing of this association and well knowing the text of these letters, the Democratic party put Wallace over as vice president. The author of this trash served four years within one heartbeat of the highest secular office on earth in time of war.

A letter dated April 15, 1929, from "H. A. Wallace" to Miss Frances Grant, the guru's press-agent and secretary, said:

"Altai-Himalaya arrived this morning and I have read enough to know that is what I hoped. Both in words and in painting, Roerich is an adept in the use of symbols which have a power unknown to science. And yet Roerich's mysticism has a decidedly practical aspect and eventual significance to the scientific world."

Another letter to Miss Grant, with a notation "Rec'd Dec. 14, '37", began:

"En route, Chicago to Washington:

"Former Senator Brookhart on train told me how he got Father Walsh to withdraw certain attacks a month or so ago. Also how he headed off certain strong resolutions by AFL and AM. Legion. Undoubtedly he (Brookhart) is working harder for the USSR than even their own people. He is, as you know, in my department (Agriculture) at the direct request of the flaming one (F. D. Roosevelt).

"The protecting shield of the great ones has been felt under very trying conditions.

"The Tigers (Russians) are going through various tricks but with respect to them, the man now in charge at the old house (the man in charge was Cordell Hull and the old house was the State Department) is excellent. The flaming one is soft-hearted toward the Tigers and I fear has made commitments of some sort. The battle against the vermin is fierce and the one refuge is the thought of the steadfast ones and that inmost conviction.

"I look at the locket from out of the past and wonder if I shall see it again in the far distant future. Apparently we are fighting always a new battle. Shall our hearts sing at the fighting? Do we never create that sweet land of beauty and justice?—steadfast one." This screed was signed with a juvenile monogram of the initials "HAW."

Another letter, undated, said:

"Dear Prof. R,

"Long have I been aware of the occasional fragrance from that other world which is the real world. But now I must live in the outer world and at the same time make over my mind and body to serve as fit instruments for the lord of justice. The changes in awareness must come as a result of steady, earnest recollectedness. I shall strive to grow as rapidly as possible without undue violence. I am planning on being in NY April 14 and I do not yet just know what hour of the day I will have available for the visit with the 'heart trust'. Yes, the chalice is filling.

"These evenings before I go to bed, I read fiery stronghold. Also I am having some fortune in setting certain decentralizing forces in motion. Humbly as I am striving with hope to serve as an instrument do to my part. My highest regards to the heart trust, the guardians of the stone and chalice. H. A. W."

Another letter is dated March 12, 1933, in typewriter but with the initial signature "G" which Wallace sometimes used, signifying "Gallahad," his cultish name. It says:

"Dear Guru:

"I have been thinking of you holding the casket, the most precious casket. And I have thought of the new country going forth to meet the seven stars under the sign of the three stars. And I have thought of the admonition 'await the stone.'

"We await the stone and welcome you again to this glorious land of destiny, clouded though it may be with strange, fumbling fears, who shall hold up the compelling vision to those who wander in darkness? In answer to this question, we again welcome you. To drive out depression. To drive out fear. We think of the people of northern Shambhalla and the hastening feet of the successor or Buddha and the lightning flashes and the breaking of the new day. And so I await your convenience, prepared to do what I am here to do.

"May peace, joy and fire attend you as always (G).

A letter addressed "Dear Guru," undated, said: "A terrific attack is gathering from many different directions but I am well fortified by your directions. The matter I wrote about to you yesterday perhaps alarmed me unduly. Probably nothing will come of it but much depends on the desperation of the dark ones. Tell F (Miss Grant) I today warned the wavering one (another name Wallace applied to Roosevelt) of the hyena servant R in a sufficiently impressive way. (The 'hyena servant' was a man who had served under President Hoover in the White House.) Mac expressed fear that you and George (Roerich's son) being of feline race might be persona non grata to our friends on whose graces we are so dependent. Mac seemed to have a certain uneasiness about a sound relationship with the enemies of the Tigers. I have read and reread the indication. May the tireless one abound in renewed strength. May glory and joy and peace surround us in the midst of the most fiery strife.

(Initialled) W."

Adenauer neither accepted nor rejected Moscow's invitation. He simply suggested that before a decision on such a meeting could be made it would be necessary to examine and clarify what subjects are to be discussed and on what basis.

With one simple stroke he thus took away the diplomatic play from the Russians and upset their plan for the Geneva "summit" meeting. For clarity in international relations is one thing the Kremlin rulers fear like fire.

Something for nothing may seem to be a crafty goal—except that the result may turn out the other way around.

SURPRISING DEATH

Harry Agganis, for three years a first baseman with the Boston Red Sox has startled the baseball world by dying of pneumonia at 25. Ballplayers have to have unusual fitness, and unless they dissipate, a common thing now than formerly, they should have a life expectancy at least equal to that of the average man. Accidents on the field seldom prove fatal. The last one recalled goes back to 1920 when Ray Chapman, Cleveland Indian shortstop, was hit on the temple by a pitched ball and was killed.

Part of the shock comes from realizing that pneumonia, long rated as one of the most dangerous diseases, has not lost all its terrors in spite of the many new medical discoveries.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHAT IS COMMUNISM?

I want to recommend a book. I want to recommend it with unstinted enthusiasm as the best all-inclusive presentation about a subject that is widely discussed but concerning which most know too little.

The book is, "What Is Communism?" edited by Richard M. Ketchum, with an introduction by President Grayson Kirk of Columbia University. If your book-store does not have the book, or for some reason will not order it, write to E. P. Dutton and Co., Inc., New York. The price is $2.95.

Incidentaliy, I am told by publishers that one reason book-stores do not keep supplies of books is that publishers do not take back unsold copies and book-shops do not have the capital to tie up in books that do not sell. A second reason given is that the cost of ordering single copies is almost prohibitive in view of the small profit that these shops earn. If these reasons are correct, the alternative is to buy directly from the publisher—which I am told most of them do not favor. There must be a way of getting the book you want to have.

To return to this clearly-written, well-illustrated volume, I can only say that never having heard of its editor, I approached it with doubt and read it with enthusiasm. I am sure that I shall receive letters suggesting that there have been omissions and that the book might have been written in some other way. Nothing can be more certain than that all the great experts in this field, including myself, could have done this book differently and better, but we have not taken the trouble, nor shown the patience, nor done the research.

That sort of criticism reminds me of a story about Max Schuster, the publisher, who was approached by an auther about a prospective book. "Wonderful idea!" said Max. "Bring it in on Thursday." "Which Thursday?" asked the prospective author. "Any Thursday that you have it," Max replied.

So, having answered that criticism, I call your attention to a chapter about which the expert who writes this column knew nothing at all. It is called "The Zone of Silence," and it stirred me deeply. I had always assumed that the term "Iron Curtain" was a poetic figment of the imagination of some such wordsmith as Winston Churchill, who first used it in a speech in Missouri. But there is an Iron Curtain:

"All around the perimeter of the Communist-held zone, from the Arctic Ocean to the Sea of Japan, there is a barrier which has come to be known as the 'Iron Curtain.' For nearly all of the 10,515-mile border between Communist and non-Communist counties, the Iron Curtain is a visible wall between two different worlds."

This Iron Curtain is not only described; it is illustrated and every informed American should know what it is, particularly in these days when the fact that Molotov smiles is front-page news. It must be the hardest thing he is called upon to do for his country.

Another fascinating chapter is "Young Pioneers," the Komsomol, the extremely competent education of the Russian child to the glories of patriotism. This is particularly interesting at a time when we in the United States reject the idea of patriotism or, as it is put by those who are alergic to love of country, "excessive patriotism." Incidentally, in this connection I have come across a series of books for boys and girls called "Landmark Books." They are definitely designed to acquaint young Americans with the heroes of their country and to stir their imaginations about their own country.

I have on one or two occasions been asked why I quote others so much and so often. This is a good opportunity to explain. The kind of work I do requires an enormous amount of reading. No one person knows everything, although many pretend to omniscience. Why not give the man who said it before the columnist ever thought of it credit for the idea? Why not quote the pertinent paragraph, giving the writer's name? Why not quote source material directly? It often takes more time and effort to search for the pertinent paragraph than to take it out of one's own head. But it seems to me worth while, if only to document what is written.

That Body of Yours

BOTULISM—A SERIOUS DANGER

Botulism is a disease which was first described in Germany over 100 years ago where it was found in individuals who had eaten contaminated sausage. For this reason the name of the illness is derived from the Latin word for sausage. Outbreaks of botulism have been observed in the United States, Canada, and other countries for many years, chiefly in association with the eating of inadequately processed canned foods. While these outbreaks are not great in number, the outlook for the patient so afflicted is so serious, the death rate being 65 per cent, that it would be wise for us to know something about it.

The products concerned, which may give rise to the disease, are canned fruits and vegetables and canned or preserved fish and meats, as well as cheeses. Commercial packers in this country now use sterilizing methods which are sufficient to destroy all the spores present in the foods. The chief danger lies in home-canned products, particularly when high-pressure steam methods are not used. Because of this most outbreaks have occurred in individual families or other small groups of people.

Spoilage of food may be suspected from abnormal taste, odor, etc., but, on the other hand, it may be spoiled and show no signs. Therefore, when possible, home-preserved products should be boiled for 10 minutes before use. Of course, any item which appears to be spoiled must be destroyed without being tested and care must be taken to prevent contact of spoiled food with cuts on the hands for a dangerous quantity of botulin might be absorbed into the system in this manner.

Symptoms of botulism may begin anywhere from two hours to 14 days after eating the spoiled food, depending on the amount of food eaten. Illness begins with fatigue, weakness, headache and dizziness. In some cases there is nausea, vomiting, upper abdominal discomfort and diarrhea which subside and are followed by constipation.

However, botulism's danger lies in the fact that it is a paralyzing disease and weakness in the muscles will be noted during the first 24 hours. Except for headache, botulism does not cause pain, the patient is clear mentally but the face becomes expressionless from paralysis. Chewing, swallowing and speech are interfered with and the tongue cannot be controlled. The neck muscles are unable to support the head. Limbs become progressively weaker. The paralysis may progress to death after two to 10 days of illness. Death results from paralysis of the breathing muscles, obstruction of the airway, or from pneumonia.

If a patient survives the first 10 days of illness, his chances of recovery are good. After 10 days, the power of the muscles gradually returns although eye defects may persist for weeks or months. Two to six months elapse before all the symptoms disapear.

As mentioned above, the outbreaks of botulism are not too common but they are so dangerous when they do occur that we must take all precautions against eating of spoiled food.

Khrushchev's Summer Replacement

Washington (NEA) — Democrats are constantly needling Republicans on the Hill about Ike's golf playing. But when Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas ducked out for a quick round the other afternoon, he almost upset his party's strategy of opposition to Ike's atomic ship proposal.

Just before the vote on the A-ship came up, Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) made a quick nose count and to his horror discovered he was one vote short to kill it.

Checking, he learned that Fulbright was out at the Columbia Country Club enjoying a fast round. So he dispatched a Capitol motorcycle cop who finally found Fulbright teeing off the eighth hole.

Democratic senators stalled the debate for about an hour while Fulbright rushed back to the Senate floor to cast his vote and beat the A-ship by that single vote.

If the vote had been taken without Fulbright, and it had been a tie, presiding Vice President Nixon could have broken the deadlock by casting a vote in favor of Ike's idea.

YOU CAN'T FOOL an old gourmet like Sen. Homer Capehart (R.-Ind.) when it comes to rare and exotic foods. At a party at the Guatemalan embassy given by Ambassador Jose Luis Cruz Salazar for America's new envoy to his country, Henry J. Sparks, big plates of what looked like dark brown mud dotted the huge buffet table.

Nobody had courage to dive into the stuff until Homer came along. "Only a fool would pass this up," he said, ladling a trowelful on his plate. "It's called Guatemalan caviar and is made out of fried black beans flavored with garlic, onions and many spices," he explained.

Volteados is the official name for it, and after Homer's sales talk everybody dove in to clean the plates in a hurry.

IN THIS MODERN AGE of advertising and promotions, a state's hero isn't even safe anymore. That's the complaint of Rep. Keith Thomson (R.Wyo.) who reports:

"I've just heard the shocking news that in Cody, Wyo., home of our famous Buffalo Bill, Davy Crockett suits are now outselling Buffalo Bill suits about 60 to 1."

It was a sneaky thing to do, but we checked with Keith's attractive wife, Thyra, and discovered that her three sons all have Davy Crockett hats.

MOTHERS, TAKE a tip from the wife of Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeineddine on how to get your kids to eat spinach. She wowed the guests at a reception the other afternoon with a fancy spinach concoction shoveled into pastry.

"It's all psychological," explains Mme. Zeineddine. "Just dress it up a bit and it tastes wonderful."

NOW THAT he has left the job of Secretary of the Army, Bob Stevens is just beginning to catch on to some of the neater tricks of the big-shot trade here.

When he flew into Bolling Air Force Base the other day, his car and secretary were waiting on the landing strip at the main terminal. The mob of newsmen and photographers, who had to park on the other side of the terminal, were standing around the car waiting to ask Stevens about his resignation.

As the plane landed, however, it pulled up to a hangar at the end of the field. Stevens' car raced down the runway and whisked him away before the newsmen could get back to their cars to catch him.

OTHER EVENING when the House was having a late session to debate the Defense Department appropriation bill, Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex.), due at a reception, showed up in a tuxedo. When ribbed about it he replied:

"When it comes time to vote on a 32 billion-dollar appropriation, I think we owe it to the taxpayers to dress for the occasion."

AT THE PEAK of festivities at a lively cocktail party recently, with crowds jamming the bars, females laughing hysterically and no one feeling any pain, a Latin-American diplomat had the temerity to suggest that Washington parties were really pretty dull affairs.

"You Americans set a time limit from six to eight, you crowd a lot of people into one room and nobody introduces anyone to anyone else. You may be a little drunk when you leave, but your varicose veins will ache for a week from all the standing up," he complained.

"Now in Latin America we never set a time limit, our parties go until three or four in the morning, there is music and dancing, and if you want to, you can sit down once in a while."

Creeping Inflation Is Big News Story in the Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 10 — Sometimes there's a big news story developing right in front of our eyes but, because there's no single dramatic climax, it escapes headlines.

Today the biggest story in America is the creeping inflation that has set in. It may eventually bring the value of the dollar down from around fifty cents, where it is at present, to twenty cents or even lower in the next two decades.

People wonder why the stock market is booming, but it should be no mystery. The stock market senses inflation faster nowadays than it does any other influence, and security values jump upward accordingly.

THE MOST sensational piece of inflation news happened a fortnight ago. Just as soon as the C. I. O. Steelworkers' Union held up the steel industry and forced it to pay a wage increase of around 15 cents an hour, the steel companies turned around and increased the price of steel by $7.50 a ton. That's about a 5 per cent increase and anybody who thinks you can put into effect a 5 per cent increase in steel prices without affecting almost the entire manufacturing economy of America isn't looking facts in the face.

Big wage increases have just been forced on the auto and copper industries, too.

NOBODY begrudges American labor the enjoyment of high wages, but there comes a time when stability is more important than selfishness and greed. The union leaders are in a contest to get the most they can each year, and they are forcing wage increases in reckless disregard of their own labor-union members. For when inflation reaches its peak, the workers who have accumulated savings in the banks or in the form of pensions will suffer the greatest hardship. The dollars of today look good at the time but, when they will buy only twenty cents' worth of goods, they will not look so good.

Time was when the free-enterprise system in America functioned effectively because the government protected the public interest. It stepped in when the corporations fixed prices or engaged in monopolistic practices to stifle competition. Today the government is faced with a dangerous monopoly—labor-union control of entire industries. Today price-fixing is being brought about by labor-union manipulation of wage rates. The government is afraid to act because the labor unions control the Democratic party and, with their huge campaign funds, can control the election of many members of Congress in both parties.

So, being fearful of political reprisals, the government takes no action to protect the public interest, while the labor unions, on the one hand, and the corporations, on the other, fix the prices. The smaller units in business which used to cut prices because they didn't need to pay as high wages as their big competitors now are being gradually forced out of business. Monopolies and quasi-monopolies today are in command of the nation's economy.

IN EUROPE in order to hold labor unions and corporations at bay, either the corporate state of fascism or the state-controlled mechanism of communism is introduced. Both are instruments of totalitarianism and offer no solution for America.

Revision of the anti-trust laws is often talked about in Washington, but nothing is done about it. The labor unions are today engaged in a "restraint of trade" in much the same way that the corporations operated in the 1890s, when the Sherman anti-trust law was born. But there's no sentiment on Capitol Hill today to put through any important changes in the anti-trust laws.

SO THE OUTLOOK is for more and more inflation, and, of course more and more devaluation in the purchasing power of the dollar, higher and higher prices and a gradual depreciation of the value of pensions and retirement benefits. Labor-union leaders are forgetting tomorrow and living only in today's atmosphere of rivalry in which one labor chief vies with another to get the maximum. Strikes are too costly to be endured, so management gives in without a struggle. Then, as if convinced that the public will not mind, the price increases are announced almost immediately after the termination of the wage controversies with the unions.

Another cycle of price increases generally now is in the offing.

IF PROFITS of corporations are too high, the answer doesn't lie in turning the excess over to one industry, but in sharing it with the entire public in the form of price decreases. Today's system is a triumph for special privilege—the monopolistic unions and corporations.

The end result—economic depression—will not be apparent till it comes. For economic laws are never repealed. The inevitability of a price spiral and a consequent reduction in the dollar's value are as plain to see today as they have been in similar periods in the economic history of the world. Bad economic practices do not always make headlines—but they can make headlines.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A few days ago I published a letter written by Mrs. Manuel Miller from St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a government madhouse in Washington to which she had been transported as a prisoner from her home in Bethel, Vt. That letter was lucid, sensible and vigorous Mrs Miller now has been expelled from St. Elizabeth's because the Department of Justice did not dare face a habeas corpus action.

Today I present letters which Henry Wallace wrote to his guru, Nicholas Roerich, and others. Roerich was a Russian religious quack. Wallace fell under his spell and wrote these letters before and during his terms as secretary of agriculture. In 1940, well knowing of this association and well knowing the text of these letters, the Democratic party put Wallace over as vice president. The author of this trash served four years within one heartbeat of the highest secular office on earth in time of war.

A letter dated April 15, 1929, from "H. A. Wallace" to Miss Frances Grant, the guru's press-agent and secretary, said:

"Altai-Himalaya arrived this morning and I have read enough to know that is what I hoped. Both in words and in painting, Roerich is an adept in the use of symbols which have a power unknown to science. And yet Roerich's mysticism has a decidedly practical aspect and eventual significance to the scientific world."

Another letter to Miss Grant, with a notation "Rec'd Dec. 14, '37", began:

"En route, Chicago to Washington:

"Former Senator Brookhart on train told me how he got Father Walsh to withdraw certain attacks a month or so ago. Also how he headed off certain strong resolutions by AFL and AM. Legion. Undoubtedly he (Brookhart) is working harder for the USSR than even their own people. He is, as you know, in my department (Agriculture) at the direct request of the flaming one (F. D. Roosevelt).

"The protecting shield of the great ones has been felt under very trying conditions.

"The Tigers (Russians) are going through various tricks but with respect to them, the man now in charge at the old house (the man in charge was Cordell Hull and the old house was the State Department) is excellent. The flaming one is soft-hearted toward the Tigers and I fear has made commitments of some sort. The battle against the vermin is fierce and the one refuge is the thought of the steadfast ones and that inmost conviction.

"I look at the locket from out of the past and wonder if I shall see it again in the far distant future. Apparently we are fighting always a new battle. Shall our hearts sing at the fighting? Do we never create that sweet land of beauty and justice?—steadfast one." This screed was signed with a juvenile monogram of the initials "HAW."

Another letter, undated, said:

"Dear Prof. R,

"Long have I been aware of the occasional fragrance from that other world which is the real world. But now I must live in the outer world and at the same time make over my mind and body to serve as fit instruments for the lord of justice. The changes in awareness must come as a result of steady, earnest recollectedness. I shall strive to grow as rapidly as possible without undue violence. I am planning on being in NY April 14 and I do not yet just know what hour of the day I will have available for the visit with the 'heart trust'. Yes, the chalice is filling.

"These evenings before I go to bed, I read fiery stronghold. Also I am having some fortune in setting certain decentralizing forces in motion. Humbly as I am striving with hope to serve as an instrument do to my part. My highest regards to the heart trust, the guardians of the stone and chalice. H. A. W."

Another letter is dated March 12, 1933, in typewriter but with the initial signature "G" which Wallace sometimes used, signifying "Gallahad," his cultish name. It says:

"Dear Guru:

"I have been thinking of you holding the casket, the most precious casket. And I have thought of the new country going forth to meet the seven stars under the sign of the three stars. And I have thought of the admonition 'await the stone.'

"We await the stone and welcome you again to this glorious land of destiny, clouded though it may be with strange, fumbling fears, who shall hold up the compelling vision to those who wander in darkness? In answer to this question, we again welcome you. To drive out depression. To drive out fear. We think of the people of northern Shambhalla and the hastening feet of the successor or Buddha and the lightning flashes and the breaking of the new day. And so I await your convenience, prepared to do what I am here to do.

"May peace, joy and fire attend you as always (G).

A letter addressed "Dear Guru," undated, said: "A terrific attack is gathering from many different directions but I am well fortified by your directions. The matter I wrote about to you yesterday perhaps alarmed me unduly. Probably nothing will come of it but much depends on the desperation of the dark ones. Tell F (Miss Grant) I today warned the wavering one (another name Wallace applied to Roosevelt) of the hyena servant R in a sufficiently impressive way. (The 'hyena servant' was a man who had served under President Hoover in the White House.) Mac expressed fear that you and George (Roerich's son) being of feline race might be persona non grata to our friends on whose graces we are so dependent. Mac seemed to have a certain uneasiness about a sound relationship with the enemies of the Tigers. I have read and reread the indication. May the tireless one abound in renewed strength. May glory and joy and peace surround us in the midst of the most fiery strife.

(Initialled) W."

Life's Free Riders

By FRANK TRIPP

It is a strange amusement park or carnival that doesn't have a merry-go-round. Nothing in playland so exemplifies how far it is possible to go without getting anywhere.

Life is a merry-go-round, of sorts.

The gayly striped horses, zebras, tigers and sleighs are way out on the outer rim of the revolving platform. The farther out you get the farther and the faster you ride, but when you get off you're right where you started.

Life is like that to many a misguided soul. Maybe he got fooled by a merry-go-round, when a boy.

The man who collects, your ticket walks over as near to the axis of the thing as he can get, leans against the center pole and watches you whirl away your dough.

Meantime he slowly revolves around a small circle, which neither disturbs his equilibrium nor deceives him that he's going someplace.

THE WHIRLIGIG stops. You've ridden 50 times faster and farther than the man who owns the contraption. It's fun for you; work to him.

Of course you might catch the brass ring and get a free ride. That's swell, provided you take the brass ring at its face value, and don't let it fool Junior. That's important.

Just like life, riding on the merry-go-round always are reachers for the brass ring, people looking for a free ride.

And, just like life, the proprietor puts only one or two brass rings in the slot with the hundreds of iron ones. Only one of scores gets a free ride, and nobody ever got to own a merry-go-round by reaching for brass rings—depending on lady luck.

Brass rings are not good for life, not even for one hilarious evening; just one ride, a come-on.

EXPLAIN IT to Junior this way: My boy, all through life you'll see a man, seeming to take life easy, leaning against the center pole of something that he worked hard to get, and other people will be revolving around him, paying him to ride; some scheming for free rides; leeches, cheats.

Don't begrudge that man his success. Don't try to wreck his merry-go-round, his factory, business; his livelihood.

Maybe he has the kind of merry-go-round or business you'd like to own. You'll never get it by staying on the outer rim of frolic, speed and envy and reaching for brass rings; risking a dollar to get one nickel ride.

YOU'LL GET IT by plodding your way patiently, diligently toward the center pole, the balancing bearing upon which every worthwhile enterprise rests and revolves — where there are no free rides, no loafers, no brass rings.

Once there, you'll find only hard work and responsibility; just planning, worry and headaches to keep the thing going. That's what the world calls success.

But you will have learned long before then that there will always be jealous searchers for thrills, brass rings and something for nothing to throw stones and criticize.

Junior will thank you some day for telling him.

Report Kidnapping

Sioux City, Iowa, July 11 (AP)—A 2-year-old girl apparently was kidnaped from her crip last night while her parents watched television in another room, police said today. Mr. and Mrs. James Davis reported their daughters, Donna Sue, missing to police about 30 minutes after they had put her to bed at 9:30 p. m. The father said a screen had been removed from a window. Davis, a clerk for the Chicago North Western Railroad, and his family live on the first floor of a two-story duplex in a modest Sioux City neighborhood. Police Capt. John Rispolje said he has learned no motive for a kidnaping. He said there apparently has been no family trouble and the parents knew of no one who would want to take the child.

Central School Board Will Be Elected Tonight

The important election for the new central school board in Saugerties is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock in the Saugerties High School.

To date there are 11 candidates for the nine positions on the Board of Education of the newly-formed Saugerties Central School District No. 1.

In addition to the nine candidates on a slate drafted by the Centralization Study Committee, Philip A. Gatti, builder and contractor, and Mrs. John Pukurney have announced their candidacy as independents. Mr. Gatti was a staunch supporter of centralization in Glasco.

The slate of the Centralization Study Committee includes William Ziegler, village; Charles Riccardi, Glasco; Henry Haeussler, Mt. Marion; Robert Herb, Malden; Mrs. Agnes Schroeder, village; William Woestendiek, Pine Grove; Ernest A. Schirmer, village; Mrs. Mary Lasher, Saxton; and Milton Armstrong, village.

The Study Committee's slate includes candidates who opposed the centralization proposal as well as those who were strong supporters.

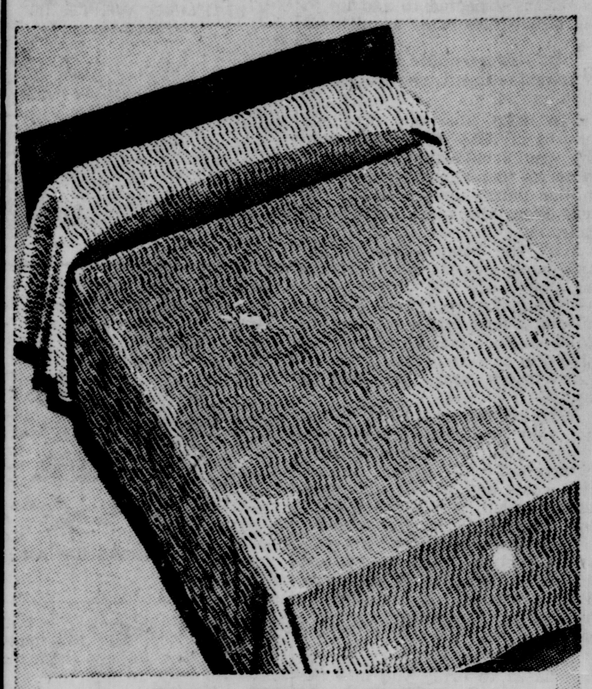

Loftus Asks to Retire

New York, July 11 (AP)—Fire Chief Peter Loftus has asked to be retired after more than 35 years as a fireman. He has been chief of the department's uniformed force since 1948. A department spokesman confirmed last night that Loftus had asked for retirement last Friday at three-quarters of his $15,000 yearly salary. Usually retired firemen received half pay, but Loftus claimed additional pay because of an injury in line of duty in a 1952 collision in Queens. Loftus, 61, whose years as fire chief have been occasionally stormy, was quoted as saying: "I just made up my mind that I'd had enough. I plan to take a long vacation, then loaf."

New Amoco-Gas ENDS OCTANE WASTE!

Exclusive Octane BONUS for every car

Just remember this: every gas—except Amoco-Gas—uses lead to boost its octane rating. And lead wastes part of the octane it adds!

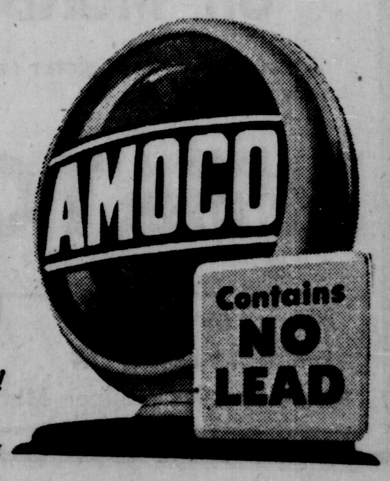

Lead leaves harmful deposits

Lead just won't burn up completely. And lead deposits inside your car's engine actually steal anti-knock value away from the gas. Then up goes the engine's octane demand!

The new, Ultraformed Amoco-Gas has more usable road octane! Now the most advanced achievement of petroleum science brings you the new Amoco-Gas—the clear white motor fuel that needs no lead—that can all burn—that leaves no octane-robbing lead deposits.

Every drop of octane-energy in the new Amoco-Gas can go to work in your car. It all reaches the road—to give you an exclusive Octane Bonus in every gallon. A wonderful thing for your car . . . stop for it today.

Life's Free Riders

By FRANK TRIPP

It is a strange amusement park or carnival that doesn't have a merry-go-round. Nothing in playland so exemplifies how far it is possible to go without getting anywhere.

Life is a merry-go-round, of sorts.

The gayly striped horses, zebras, tigers and sleighs are way out on the outer rim of the revolving platform. The farther out you get the farther and the faster you ride, but when you get off you're right where you started.

Life is like that to many a misguided soul. Maybe he got fooled by a merry-go-round, when a boy.

The man who collects, your ticket walks over as near to the axis of the thing as he can get, leans against the center pole and watches you whirl away your dough.

Meantime he slowly revolves around a small circle, which neither disturbs his equilibrium nor deceives him that he's going someplace.

THE WHIRLIGIG stops. You've ridden 50 times faster and farther than the man who owns the contraption. It's fun for you; work to him.

Of course you might catch the brass ring and get a free ride. That's swell, provided you take the brass ring at its face value, and don't let it fool Junior. That's important.

Just like life, riding on the merry-go-round always are reachers for the brass ring, people looking for a free ride.

And, just like life, the proprietor puts only one or two brass rings in the slot with the hundreds of iron ones. Only one of scores gets a free ride, and nobody ever got to own a merry-go-round by reaching for brass rings—depending on lady luck.

Brass rings are not good for life, not even for one hilarious evening; just one ride, a come-on.

EXPLAIN IT to Junior this way: My boy, all through life you'll see a man, seeming to take life easy, leaning against the center pole of something that he worked hard to get, and other people will be revolving around him, paying him to ride; some scheming for free rides; leeches, cheats.

Don't begrudge that man his success. Don't try to wreck his merry-go-round, his factory, business; his livelihood.

Maybe he has the kind of merry-go-round or business you'd like to own. You'll never get it by staying on the outer rim of frolic, speed and envy and reaching for brass rings; risking a dollar to get one nickel ride.

YOU'LL GET IT by plodding your way patiently, diligently toward the center pole, the balancing bearing upon which every worthwhile enterprise rests and revolves — where there are no free rides, no loafers, no brass rings.

Once there, you'll find only hard work and responsibility; just planning, worry and headaches to keep the thing going. That's what the world calls success.

But you will have learned long before then that there will always be jealous searchers for thrills, brass rings and something for nothing to throw stones and criticize.

Junior will thank you some day for telling him.

Report Kidnapping

Sioux City, Iowa, July 11 (AP)—A 2-year-old girl apparently was kidnaped from her crip last night while her parents watched television in another room, police said today. Mr. and Mrs. James Davis reported their daughters, Donna Sue, missing to police about 30 minutes after they had put her to bed at 9:30 p. m. The father said a screen had been removed from a window. Davis, a clerk for the Chicago North Western Railroad, and his family live on the first floor of a two-story duplex in a modest Sioux City neighborhood. Police Capt. John Rispolje said he has learned no motive for a kidnaping. He said there apparently has been no family trouble and the parents knew of no one who would want to take the child.

Central School Board Will Be Elected Tonight

The important election for the new central school board in Saugerties is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock in the Saugerties High School.

To date there are 11 candidates for the nine positions on the Board of Education of the newly-formed Saugerties Central School District No. 1.

In addition to the nine candidates on a slate drafted by the Centralization Study Committee, Philip A. Gatti, builder and contractor, and Mrs. John Pukurney have announced their candidacy as independents. Mr. Gatti was a staunch supporter of centralization in Glasco.

The slate of the Centralization Study Committee includes William Ziegler, village; Charles Riccardi, Glasco; Henry Haeussler, Mt. Marion; Robert Herb, Malden; Mrs. Agnes Schroeder, village; William Woestendiek, Pine Grove; Ernest A. Schirmer, village; Mrs. Mary Lasher, Saxton; and Milton Armstrong, village.

The Study Committee's slate includes candidates who opposed the centralization proposal as well as those who were strong supporters.

Loftus Asks to Retire

New York, July 11 (AP)—Fire Chief Peter Loftus has asked to be retired after more than 35 years as a fireman. He has been chief of the department's uniformed force since 1948. A department spokesman confirmed last night that Loftus had asked for retirement last Friday at three-quarters of his $15,000 yearly salary. Usually retired firemen received half pay, but Loftus claimed additional pay because of an injury in line of duty in a 1952 collision in Queens. Loftus, 61, whose years as fire chief have been occasionally stormy, was quoted as saying: "I just made up my mind that I'd had enough. I plan to take a long vacation, then loaf."

Prices, New Styles Promote Sales

Shoe Production May Smash Records in 1955

New York, July 11 (AP)—Americans are buying shoes at a record clip. Footwear production in 1955 will smash all prior records.

That's the latest word from Boston, St. Louis and other big manufacturing centers. If manufacturers' guesses are correct, you'll stride along in style this year. The nation's total shoe bill in 1955 is expected to add up to 3½ billion dollars — an all-time high.

That's sweet music in the ears of manufacturers who saw sales slide in '54.

FIGURES for the first six months of 1955 show which way the wind is blowing now: U. S. factories turned out a record 294 million pairs—up a hefty 12 per cent from the same period last year.

Why the boom? High wages and plenty of consumer purchasing power are one answer—and with population trends on the upbeat, there are more feet to be shod. Shoe merchandisers will give you two additional reasons: Low prices and fast-changing styles.

Whether prices are too low, or not low enough, depends on where you sit. Manufacturers confronted with rising production costs say prices will eventually go up; retailers are holding the line. When you shop for a new pair of shoes this fall, you'll probably find prices just about the same as a year ago. That's because it's a buyer's market in shoes today; competition was never keener.

QUICK SHIFTS in styles are calculated to bring you into the store even when the shoes you already own have plenty of wear left in them. And never before have styles been changed so drastically or so often.

Even the men, long accustomed to wearing the same style shoe year in and year out—or the very same shoe with repeated resolings—have become style conscious. And the manufacturers hope to keep them that way.

The shoe with possibly the biggest style impact on the male half of the U. S. population was introduced from Italy several years ago. It's called the "Continental." It has a moccasin-type toe, and it's cut very low. It frequently sports a tassle.

This summer, the industry promoted an extremely light, extremely low version of the "Continental." It sold like the proverbial hot cakes. For autumn they're making it higher again—not as high as the cumbersome wing-tip oxford of yesteryear, but not quite as low-slung as the currently popular model.

Women's styles, always volatile, are more evanescent than ever—and the lightning-like transitions in style are paying off. There's a shoe today that's selling by the millions—a trend-setter for summer wear. The uppers are of vinyl plasic in pastel colors (the favorite is pink) and the heels are made of a clear plastic that looks like glass. The toes are wide open.

Come fall, say the stylists, and the glass-heeled slipper will be tossed into a corner of the closet while mom and sis turn to an austere, conservative number patterned after the old "spectator" or "dressmaker shoe." Colors will be somber and toes tightly closed. It's being counted upon to keep retailers' cash registers jingling in the fall months, and to keep the factories humming.

Prices, New Styles Promote Sales

Shoe Production May Smash Records in 1955

New York, July 11 (AP)—Americans are buying shoes at a record clip. Footwear production in 1955 will smash all prior records.

That's the latest word from Boston, St. Louis and other big manufacturing centers. If manufacturers' guesses are correct, you'll stride along in style this year. The nation's total shoe bill in 1955 is expected to add up to 3½ billion dollars — an all-time high.

That's sweet music in the ears of manufacturers who saw sales slide in '54.

FIGURES for the first six months of 1955 show which way the wind is blowing now: U. S. factories turned out a record 294 million pairs—up a hefty 12 per cent from the same period last year.

Why the boom? High wages and plenty of consumer purchasing power are one answer—and with population trends on the upbeat, there are more feet to be shod. Shoe merchandisers will give you two additional reasons: Low prices and fast-changing styles.

Whether prices are too low, or not low enough, depends on where you sit. Manufacturers confronted with rising production costs say prices will eventually go up; retailers are holding the line. When you shop for a new pair of shoes this fall, you'll probably find prices just about the same as a year ago. That's because it's a buyer's market in shoes today; competition was never keener.

QUICK SHIFTS in styles are calculated to bring you into the store even when the shoes you already own have plenty of wear left in them. And never before have styles been changed so drastically or so often.

Even the men, long accustomed to wearing the same style shoe year in and year out—or the very same shoe with repeated resolings—have become style conscious. And the manufacturers hope to keep them that way.

The shoe with possibly the biggest style impact on the male half of the U. S. population was introduced from Italy several years ago. It's called the "Continental." It has a moccasin-type toe, and it's cut very low. It frequently sports a tassle.

This summer, the industry promoted an extremely light, extremely low version of the "Continental." It sold like the proverbial hot cakes. For autumn they're making it higher again—not as high as the cumbersome wing-tip oxford of yesteryear, but not quite as low-slung as the currently popular model.

Women's styles, always volatile, are more evanescent than ever—and the lightning-like transitions in style are paying off. There's a shoe today that's selling by the millions—a trend-setter for summer wear. The uppers are of vinyl plasic in pastel colors (the favorite is pink) and the heels are made of a clear plastic that looks like glass. The toes are wide open.

Come fall, say the stylists, and the glass-heeled slipper will be tossed into a corner of the closet while mom and sis turn to an austere, conservative number patterned after the old "spectator" or "dressmaker shoe." Colors will be somber and toes tightly closed. It's being counted upon to keep retailers' cash registers jingling in the fall months, and to keep the factories humming.

Longer Summers, Milder Winters Are Predicted

BY JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent

Cleveland—(NEA)—Think it's hot this summer? No wonder. Over the past 50 years, America has been getting warmer and warmer.

And you'd better get used to the heat. It looks as though the country is going to get hotter still—maybe much hotter.

This isn't a question of tomorrow's weather, of course. Your town may have a cool snap tonight, a cold spell in August, and a real bristler of a frigid winter next year.

But the climate, which is the cumulative record of the weather over a period of years, decades, and centuries, seems to be changing. As climate changes go, it's happening at a startlingly rapid rate.

OVER THE YEARS ahead, our summers are probably going to be longer and our winters milder, with less and less snow and ice. Fifty years from now winters in most parts of the United States and even some of Canada may be marked by only occasional short freezes.

These are estimates made on the basis of the work of some of the top scientific minds in America.

Since the U. S. Weather Bureau began collecting reliable figures from all over the country about 60 years ago, the normal mean temperature has climbed by about two degrees.

THE CHANGE hasn't been uniform. It has been felt more, for instance, in the north than in the south. Temperatures in Cleveland, for instance, have climbed by three degrees in 80 years of official records, while temperatures in Miami have not risen significantly.

In two regions, the Great Basin and central Canada, there even seems to have been a slight cooling-off in the past 40 years.

But in general the trend is up. Cleveland, which used to have average January temperatures of 26.5, for the past 10 years has enjoyed the 30.5 average that used to be typical of Cincinnati. Cincinnati, meanwhile, has climbed to the old Washington, D. C., mid-winter level of 35.5, while Washington Januaries have soared to a 10-year average of 39.1.

TWO DEGREES may not sound like much. But scientists believe that an increase only that great all over the world would be enough to melt every scrap of ice at both the North and South Poles. That much melted ice would raise the levels of the oceans of the world by 180 feet.

BURIED DEEP In the closing pages of the 1954 report of the authorative National Science Foundation are these words on climate:

"Glacier studies have given clear indications that we are now in a cycle of warming which began about 1900.

"It is estimated that if the indicated warming continues for another 25 to 50 years the ice will melt out of the Arctic Ocean in the summer, making it navigable.

"In addition, the warming cycle, if continued, may melt enough ice now tied up in glaciers to add to the sea level sufficiently to affect the lives of millions of people living along low coastal lands."

THE NEAREST ARCTIC glaciers to the United States are in Greenland, 1,000 miles to the north of New England; in Baffinland 1,000 miles north of Lake Superior, and in Alaska 750 miles north of Washington.

Here are some of the important developments that scientists equate with the trend toward warmer weather:

In Greenland the ice has retreated beyond limits it is known to have occupied for 500 years. In the Alps, hotels built 50 years ago take advantage of a sweeping view over a glacier are now out of sight of the ice in the summertime.

In the Southwest, continued water shortage is partly due to man's own impact on the land. extended nature of the drough has a direct tie with the melting of the Arctic ice pack 3,000 miles to the north.

IN CANADA, almost every year farmers push the boundary of wheat culture northward. A longer growing season, milder winters and hardier plants combine to supply the reasons.

In northern waters, Greenland Eskimos are reported to have given up seal-hunting, because the seal have disappeared toward the Arctic. In their place the Eskimos now depend for food and oil on cod, which have migrated from the Great Banks.

New storm patterns have brought hurricanes and tornadoes to New England, and violent tidal inundations to England and Holland.

Skeptics still insist that grandfather's idea about the winters getting warmer is all in his head. The statistics show otherwise.

NEXT: The far-reaching effects.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

More and more — talkie, talkie — now tough, but oh so gentle! No change of heart — but change of strategy. It could be, neighbor, we have failed to see the change. Perhaps the slave hunters are not fully ready to take on "Uncle Samuel." They've been tough — overrunning the minor leagues, but "Uncle Samuel" is tops in the big league.

Mr. Futton

Simple as that; but the slave boys must learn that a top-fighting machine must have as support the "know-how" — like large industrial and agricultural powers. That's what it takes for a long fight. They could deliver a punch now — it would be devastating. That punch could knock out any nation, but not "Uncle Samuel." So, failing in that, the slave hunters would be facing the same conditions as Hitler.

As for China, take a peek. She's a watered-down creature, — a lean bear — and has men to burn, but no industrial potential to sustain a war except the Kremlin.

When Moscow pipes down on the tough talk, China does the same. For us, this means a "breathing spell" in the timetable of conquest and a chance to keep strong in all departments, — ready for the day when something besides soft talk will flow from Moscow and Peking.

Neighbor, send this to your Congressmen.

The Consistory of the Blue Mountain Reformed Church will meet on Wednesday at the manse at 8 p. m.

Grew Up

Casablanca, city of parks and palaces, was only a tiny fishing village on a pestilential swamp in north Africa less than 50 years ago. Today, its population is estimated at more than a half-million persons.

'Plains of Abraham'

The heights near Quebec, known as the Plains of Abraham, took their name from Abraham Martin, a Canadian pioneer, who was a pilot on the St. Lawrence river.

As Pegler Sees It

Philadelphia in 1948, where the Communists acclaimed him as their candidate on the "progressive" ticket, Wallace publicly refused to answer whether or not he had written this nonsense. However, there is abundant proof that he did. He had tricked Roerich into a trip to Mongolia and then set the internal revenue after him on income tax charges to keep him on the other side of the world so that Roerich could not embarass him.

A code accompanied this gibberish. In addition to the definitions already given here, the code called Mme. Roerich "mother"; the Japanese "rulers"; Roerich "father"; Roosevelt "M. O." and "mediocre one"; and Cordell Hull, "sour one."

Longer Summers, Milder Winters Are Predicted

BY JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent

Cleveland—(NEA)—Think it's hot this summer? No wonder. Over the past 50 years, America has been getting warmer and warmer.

And you'd better get used to the heat. It looks as though the country is going to get hotter still—maybe much hotter.

This isn't a question of tomorrow's weather, of course. Your town may have a cool snap tonight, a cold spell in August, and a real bristler of a frigid winter next year.

But the climate, which is the cumulative record of the weather over a period of years, decades, and centuries, seems to be changing. As climate changes go, it's happening at a startlingly rapid rate.

OVER THE YEARS ahead, our summers are probably going to be longer and our winters milder, with less and less snow and ice. Fifty years from now winters in most parts of the United States and even some of Canada may be marked by only occasional short freezes.

These are estimates made on the basis of the work of some of the top scientific minds in America.

Since the U. S. Weather Bureau began collecting reliable figures from all over the country about 60 years ago, the normal mean temperature has climbed by about two degrees.

THE CHANGE hasn't been uniform. It has been felt more, for instance, in the north than in the south. Temperatures in Cleveland, for instance, have climbed by three degrees in 80 years of official records, while temperatures in Miami have not risen significantly.

In two regions, the Great Basin and central Canada, there even seems to have been a slight cooling-off in the past 40 years.

But in general the trend is up. Cleveland, which used to have average January temperatures of 26.5, for the past 10 years has enjoyed the 30.5 average that used to be typical of Cincinnati. Cincinnati, meanwhile, has climbed to the old Washington, D. C., mid-winter level of 35.5, while Washington Januaries have soared to a 10-year average of 39.1.

TWO DEGREES may not sound like much. But scientists believe that an increase only that great all over the world would be enough to melt every scrap of ice at both the North and South Poles. That much melted ice would raise the levels of the oceans of the world by 180 feet.

BURIED DEEP In the closing pages of the 1954 report of the authorative National Science Foundation are these words on climate:

"Glacier studies have given clear indications that we are now in a cycle of warming which began about 1900.

"It is estimated that if the indicated warming continues for another 25 to 50 years the ice will melt out of the Arctic Ocean in the summer, making it navigable.

"In addition, the warming cycle, if continued, may melt enough ice now tied up in glaciers to add to the sea level sufficiently to affect the lives of millions of people living along low coastal lands."

THE NEAREST ARCTIC glaciers to the United States are in Greenland, 1,000 miles to the north of New England; in Baffinland 1,000 miles north of Lake Superior, and in Alaska 750 miles north of Washington.

Here are some of the important developments that scientists equate with the trend toward warmer weather:

In Greenland the ice has retreated beyond limits it is known to have occupied for 500 years. In the Alps, hotels built 50 years ago take advantage of a sweeping view over a glacier are now out of sight of the ice in the summertime.

In the Southwest, continued water shortage is partly due to man's own impact on the land. extended nature of the drough has a direct tie with the melting of the Arctic ice pack 3,000 miles to the north.

IN CANADA, almost every year farmers push the boundary of wheat culture northward. A longer growing season, milder winters and hardier plants combine to supply the reasons.

In northern waters, Greenland Eskimos are reported to have given up seal-hunting, because the seal have disappeared toward the Arctic. In their place the Eskimos now depend for food and oil on cod, which have migrated from the Great Banks.

New storm patterns have brought hurricanes and tornadoes to New England, and violent tidal inundations to England and Holland.

Skeptics still insist that grandfather's idea about the winters getting warmer is all in his head. The statistics show otherwise.

NEXT: The far-reaching effects.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

More and more — talkie, talkie — now tough, but oh so gentle! No change of heart — but change of strategy. It could be, neighbor, we have failed to see the change. Perhaps the slave hunters are not fully ready to take on "Uncle Samuel." They've been tough — overrunning the minor leagues, but "Uncle Samuel" is tops in the big league.

Mr. Hutton

Simple as that; but the slave boys must learn that a top-fighting machine must have as support the "know-how" — like large industrial and agricultural powers. That's what it takes for a long fight. They could deliver a punch now — it would be devastating. That punch could knock out any nation, but not "Uncle Samuel." So, failing in that, the slave hunters would be facing the same conditions as Hitler.

As for China, take a peek. She's a watered-down creature, — a lean bear — and has men to burn, but no industrial potential to sustain a war except the Kremlin.

When Moscow pipes down on the tough talk, China does the same. For us, this means a "breathing spell" in the timetable of conquest and a chance to keep strong in all departments, — ready for the day when something besides soft talk will flow from Moscow and Peking.

Neighbor, send this to your Congressmen.

The Consistory of the Blue Mountain Reformed Church will meet on Wednesday at the manse at 8 p. m.

Grew Up

Casablanca, city of parks and palaces, was only a tiny fishing village on a pestilential swamp in north Africa less than 50 years ago. Today, its population is estimated at more than a half-million persons.

'Plains of Abraham'

The heights near Quebec, known as the Plains of Abraham, took their name from Abraham Martin, a Canadian pioneer, who was a pilot on the St. Lawrence river.

As Pegler Sees It

Philadelphia in 1948, where the Communists acclaimed him as their candidate on the "progressive" ticket, Wallace publicly refused to answer whether or not he had written this nonsense. However, there is abundant proof that he did. He had tricked Roerich into a trip to Mongolia and then set the internal revenue after him on income tax charges to keep him on the other side of the world so that Roerich could not embarass him.

A code accompanied this gibberish. In addition to the definitions already given here, the code called Mme. Roerich "mother"; the Japanese "rulers"; Roerich "father"; Roosevelt "M. O." and "mediocre one"; and Cordell Hull, "sour one."

James E. Watson, former senator from Indiana, made a call on President Harding during the days when the dog, Laddie Boy, was a White House celebrity. Watson stood in front of the president's desk at a safe distance from Laddie Boy, who, to say the least, was quite belligerent.

"Warren," asked Watson, "do you think that dog is going to bite me?"

"He will, Jim," the President replied, "if he finds out you are a United States senator."

For years I thought I had to hurry. I gulped my breakfast down each day and dashed to work all in a flurry. And rushed about to earn my pay. I gave the office force the "jitters" by "zooming" all around the place. They hardly could control their titters; and asked me once, "Say — what's the race?" The boss, however, seemed contented to see me rushing through my work. Said he, "In you is represented ambition that will never shirk." And then he piled more work upon me (but, strange enough, no raise in pay). The double load was heavy on me. I had to hurry more each day. Alas! My blood pressure went soaring. One fateful day I took a dive; fainted away, and hit the flooring. The doc said, "Lucky you're alive. You've got to learn to take it easy. For there are times we all must shirk. ENDLESS INFLATION

If more people in America understood how easy it is for Uncle Sam to create money, they would have a deeper appreciation of one of this column's themes: Buy sound equities for permanent investment.

Uncle Sam presently owes about $275,000,000,000. That is an awful lot of money. The assessed valuation of all property in the United States is less than $250,000,000,000. In a state like California where, in 1954, the assessed value of property was 17 billions of dollars, the state's proper share of the federal debt was over 25 billions.

In Michigan last year assessed values were 13 billions and the share of the 275-billion debt was 14 billions. In New York the respective figures were 31 and 34 billions, while in Pennsylvania they were 10 and 19 billions.

In 20 years the greatest growth in the United States has been that of Uncle Sam's debt. Far too few people comprehend its economic significance.

What made possible this colossal increase in debt? Three main things: an elastic currency system, a long depression, an expensive war.

IN 1913, the Federal Reserve Act was written. This established the 12 Federal Reserve Banks. These banks are empowered to issue money. Most of the dollars in the United States are paper, and most of the paper dollars are Federal Reserve notes. Today currency in circulation totals around 30 billions of dollars and of this, 26½ billions are such notes.

Now when Uncle Sam needs a billion, five billions, 10 billions (any amount), Congress passes legislation approving the issuance of bonds. And a bond is a debt. If investors or institutions with savings don't buy the bonds, then these obligations may eventually land in the banks, where they are turned into money.

The term "monetizing the debt" means that bonds have been turned into money. And this has been going on for years.

Uncle Sam's debts are handled entirely differently from an individual's. If John Jones borrows $1,000 for a year at his bank, he is expected to pay it back when his note falls due. There may be an extension, but endless borrowing and frequent renewals are out.

Uncle Sam, through Congressional approval, can borrow with impunity and the renewal of his giant loans is a matter of no consequence. Since the dollars his debts create have no gold backing in the United States, America gets choked with debt and the national economy surfeited with paper money.

Ten billions of deficit financing can create a pile of paper money, which, in turn, can undermine the purchasing power of the dollar. Any economic, political or social event that will cost Uncle Sam billions of dollars will tend to make further borrowing necessary and this will keep inflation going. With the world as it is today, I can see no end to the inflation in the near future. It may be halted for a time, but the complete reversal of the economic events that have hit the dollar hard is not in the cards now. And in such a world, values that will inflate are better than dollars and fixed dollar obligations.

THE FORUM — (Q) "Are guaranteed wages inflationary?"

(A) Yes. Anything that adds to the cost of things and does not assure a corresponding increase in productivity, in inflationary.

South got away with a very peculiar bid in today's hand. He certainly had enough strength for a rebid after North had opened the bidding with one club and the raised spades, but South might well have made the orthodox rebid of three spades. North would have passed, and that would have been the end of it, except that South might have gone down at three spades against the normal diamond opening.

When South bid three diamonds, his idea was to find out about his partner's strength and to steer West away from a diamond opening lead at the same time. The idea has some merit, provided that South intends to pass if North can bid only three spades. North would jump to four spades if he had good values for his bidding up to that point. The bid of three diamonds thus serves the same purpose as the orthodox bid of three spades, and may have the additional advantage of confusing the opponents.

Mind you, such a deceptive bid may confuse your partner instead of the opponents. Moreover, you may discover that you have prevented the opening lead that would help you most. No deceptive bid will work all the time.

In today's hand, South foolishly went on to four spades even after his partner had indicated a near-minimum opening bid. South should have been defeated, but luck and his deceptive bidding helped him.

West opened the deuce of hearts, steered away from his normal diamond opening. Dummy played low, East put up the queen, and South won with the king. South drew two rounds of trumps and then led the eight of hearts. West played low, and South let the eight of hearts ride for a finesse.

When the finesse held, South drew another trump and led his remaining heart to finesse dummy's ten. Thus declarer made four heart tricks in addition to five trumps and a club, making his ambitious game contract.

ENDLESS INFLATION

If more people in America understood how easy it is for Uncle Sam to create money, they would have a deeper appreciation of one of this column's themes: Buy sound equities for permanent investment.

Uncle Sam presently owes about $275,000,000,000. That is an awful lot of money. The assessed valuation of all property in the United States is less than $250,000,000,000. In a state like California where, in 1954, the assessed value of property was 17 billions of dollars, the state's proper share of the federal debt was over 25 billions.

In Michigan last year assessed values were 13 billions and the share of the 275-billion debt was 14 billions. In New York the respective figures were 31 and 34 billions, while in Pennsylvania they were 10 and 19 billions.

In 20 years the greatest growth in the United States has been that of Uncle Sam's debt. Far too few people comprehend its economic significance.

What made possible this colossal increase in debt? Three main things: an elastic currency system, a long depression, an expensive war.

IN 1913, the Federal Reserve Act was written. This established the 12 Federal Reserve Banks. These banks are empowered to issue money. Most of the dollars in the United States are paper, and most of the paper dollars are Federal Reserve notes. Today currency in circulation totals around 30 billions of dollars and of this, 26½ billions are such notes.

Now when Uncle Sam needs a billion, five billions, 10 billions (any amount), Congress passes legislation approving the issuance of bonds. And a bond is a debt. If investors or institutions with savings don't buy the bonds, then these obligations may eventually land in the banks, where they are turned into money.

The term "monetizing the debt" means that bonds have been turned into money. And this has been going on for years.

Uncle Sam's debts are handled entirely differently from an individual's. If John Jones borrows $1,000 for a year at his bank, he is expected to pay it back when his note falls due. There may be an extension, but endless borrowing and frequent renewals are out.

Uncle Sam, through Congressional approval, can borrow with impunity and the renewal of his giant loans is a matter of no consequence. Since the dollars his debts create have no gold backing in the United States, America gets choked with debt and the national economy surfeited with paper money.

Ten billions of deficit financing can create a pile of paper money, which, in turn, can undermine the purchasing power of the dollar. Any economic, political or social event that will cost Uncle Sam billions of dollars will tend to make further borrowing necessary and this will keep inflation going. With the world as it is today, I can see no end to the inflation in the near future. It may be halted for a time, but the complete reversal of the economic events that have hit the dollar hard is not in the cards now. And in such a world, values that will inflate are better than dollars and fixed dollar obligations.

THE FORUM — (Q) "Are guaranteed wages inflationary?"

(A) Yes. Anything that adds to the cost of things and does not assure a corresponding increase in productivity, in inflationary.

Miss Joan Perry, Aden Stoutenburg Nuptials Are Held

In St. Mary's Church, Friday, at 2 o'clock, Miss Joan Margaret Perry became the bride of Aden Robert Stoutenburg of West Hurley. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony. A buffet luncheon at the bride's home followed, for the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Perry of 17 Staples street, and the late Robert Perry, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stoutenburg of West Hurley.

The bride wore a white ballerina length gown of Chantilly type lace with Peter Pan neckline, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant tulle skirt over satin with a lace panel in front. A shoulder length veil was secured to a crown of white sequins shaped in small hearts. She carried a nosegay of white roses, carnations and gladioli with showers.

Miss Patricia Perry was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of light blue crystaleen with embroidered bodice and an embroidered panel in the front. A small blue lace hat in heart shape completed her ensemble. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and gladioli with blue delphinium and pink bows.

Elwood Stoutenburg of West Hurley served as best man. Fred Pieper of this city, uncle of the bride, was usher.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Lake George, Niagara Falls and Canada. For traveling the bride chose a yellow organdy dress trimmed with small white daisies, a matching hat, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. On their return, they will live in Glenford.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Moran-Spencerian School of business, is with Kingston Trust Co., central branch.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Hurley school, is associated with his father in the electrical contracting business.

Mary E. Dempsey, James Stephen Smith Wed in Port Ewen

In Church of the Presentation, Saturday morning at 10:30 a. m. Miss Mary Elizabeth Dempsey, daughter of Mrs. Mary M. Dempsey of Port Ewen and the late William J. Dempsey, became the bride of James Stephen Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Smith of 16 Summer street. The Rev. Joseph P. Kerins, CSsR officiated at the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Joseph Comyns CSsR was seated within the sanctuary. A reception followed for 150 guests in St. Leo's Hall, Port Ewen.

Miss Catherine Juhl was soloist accompanied by Miss Veronica Congilio, organist. White gladioli were the floral decorations in the church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Francis J. Dempsey, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The lace bodice was fashioned in a long torso effect with a billowing skirt of nylon tulle. The v-neckline of the bodice was edged in pearls. A cap of lace and pearls secured a veil of nylon illusion in tier effect. She carried a cascade bouquet of two white orchids and feathered carnations.

Miss Dolores Smith, sister of the bridegroom, of 16 Summer street, was honor attendant. The bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Baschnagel and Miss Rosemary Doyle of Port Ewen.

The honor attendant wore a gown of pure silk organza in maize fashioned with a tucked skirt, long torso, and bouffant floor length skirt. She wore a cloche type headpiece trimmed with tiny forget-me-nots, and carried a garden basket of yellow roses and white delphiniums.

The attendants wore gowns in horizon blue in identical style to that of the honor attendant, and carried identical flowers. John M. Dempsey of Port Ewen, brother of the bride, served as best man. The ushers were Raymond Dempsey of Port Ewen and Raymond Morris, Jr. of New Paltz.

For the wedding trip throught northern New York state, the bride chose a two-piece light grey dress with matching jacket and pink accessories, and a pink rose corsage. On their return, they will live at 16 Summer street.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Kingston Hall of Records.

The bridegroom, a Kingston High School graduate, served four years in the Navy. He is now with Great Bull Market.

J. A. Raney Named New Kiwanis Head

JACKSON A. RANEY, Indianapolis school executive, has been named president of Kiwanis International. He was elected to the number-one Kiwanis post Wednesday, June 29, by delegates attending the 40th annual Convention of Kiwanis International at Cleveland, Ohio.

As head of Kiwanis International, Raney will be official spokesman for almost a quarter million Kiwanians in 4062 clubs located throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. He succeeds Don E. Engdahl, Spokane, Washington lumberman who has held the post since August of 1954.

Kiwanis' president-elect has been an active Kiwanian for 19 years. Immediately prior to his selection for the number-one Kiwanis post, he was vice-president of the organization. He also chairmanned the International Convention Program Committee for this year, and for 1954. He has served as president of his own Indianapolis Kiwanis Club, lieutenant governor and governor of the Indiana Kiwanis District and chairman of the International Committee on Boys and Girls Work. His work in the field of boys and girls work has been instrumental in bringing increased public attention to the various Kiwanis programs devoted to the welfare of the youth of the United States and Canada.

Delegates to the Cleveland convention, Kiwanis' 40th, numbered more than 13,000, to make the convention one of the organization's largest. In addition to naming Raney their President, the delegates also chose two vice-presidents, a treasurer and six international trustees. They are: Harold John Fraser, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan and W. Donald Dubail, St. Louis, Missouri, vice-presidents; Reed C. Culp, Salt Lake City, Utah, treasurer; Luman W. Holman, Jacksonville, Texas, Walter F. Patenge, Lansing, Michigan, Everett F. Penshorn, Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts, Simon H. Reynolds, Rochester, New York, Merle H. Tucker, Gallup, New Mexico and Albert J. Tully, Mobile, Alabama, trustees.

10th Is Arriving For 'Curtain Duty'

Bremerhaven, Germany, July 11 (AP)—The U. S. 10th Division from Ft. Riley, Kan., started arriving here today to replace the U. S. 1st Division for duty along the Iron Curtain frontier.

The first shipload of 1,100 officers and men and 170 families arrived in bright sunshine aboard the U. S. Military Transport Upshur after a nine day Atlantic voyage. They were the first to reach Germany in the army's new division-for-division rotation dubbed "Operation Gyroscope."

They yelled and cheered as an army band on the docks struck up a tune. After disembarking and processing in record time, they boarded special German trains that sped them to their new assignment in Bavaria.

The arrivals included the entire 3rd Battalion of the 86th Regiment.

Buses Operate Again In Rome, New York

Rome, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Civic cooperation and a loan of $2,500 got the buses rolling again today in this city of 45,000.

The community has been without regular bus service since April 30 when the Rome City Bus Lines Inc. ceased operations because, it said, it no longer could afford to remain in business.

Today, Romen Transit Inc., backed by a loan from the Chamber of Commerce and local merchants, launched service on three routes for a three-month trial. Except for Mondays, the service will be daytimes only. One route will extend to the Griffiss Air Force Base.

Walter Sweet of Utica, president of the new carrier, said patronage would determine whether service would be extended beyond three months.

The Mature Parent

Child's First Resistance to Step-Mom Is Natural

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mr. W.'s two young daughters have been attending boarding school since their mother's death two years ago. Now he plans remarriage. Several Sundays ago, he drove the lady to the children's school to meet them. Though he didn't introduce her as a future step-mother, they sensed that she might be. They went out of their way to slight her. His older child was frankly rude.

Mr. W. asks me: "Has this marriage, so opposed by the girls any chance of happiness for us?"

A poor chance, I'd say—if Mr. W. is going to be so impressed by his children's opposition.

Why is he? Why is he so overawed by it? Why the resignation to the "No" of his youngsters as though they were granite gods, unchanging and immovable?

Perhaps Mr. W. doesn't want to marry this lady as whole-heartedly as he believes. And in the normal, initial opposition of his daughters has found the denial he wants to evade a marriage he himself opposes.

If so, it would be wise to know it. Only then can he see that his problem is not the children's resistance, but his own.

There's nothing to fear in children's first resistance to a prospective step-parent. Take these two. They have lost their mother to death. They see their father rarely—and do not share his life. But the hope of sharing it is what keeps them going.

Now, without warning, they're presented to a stranger who is also hoping to share his life. She has the advantages of sexual influence and adult experience. How do they know what portion of his life she'll give to them? Death left them no portion of their mother, but put absolute separation between them.

They'd be amazing children not to suspect this lady of intending the same, absolute separation from their father.

If we understand this, we know how to proceed. We take the steps that expose this fear of absolute separation as unfounded. For example, Mr. W.'s lady might make it her business to visit these future daughters of hers alone, refusing to intrude on their time with their father.

She would find other chances to efface herself as a fighting competitor for his total love and attenion until the children stopped seeing her as one. But such action would, of course have to presuppose such trust of happiness in this marriage that both adults could forget it—and to go to work on the children's trust.

It doesn't seem to exist, does it? Mr. W. seems doubtful of the lady's power to make him happy. This indicates doubt of his power to make her happy, and may explain his too-discouraged resonse to his children's critical judgment of the lady.

A WOMAN RECEIVING MEN FRIENDS

A question of propriety is asked in this letter: May an unmarried business woman of middle age, living in an apartment hotel, receive a man of her own age and station, with whom she has long been acquainted, in her own sitting room, and visit and have tea with him there, no one else being present, or should she receive him only in the public sitting room of the hotel, and dine or have tea with him only in the public dining room or restaurant? If he may be received in her apartment, may he take the elevator and go directly there, if he knows when calling, that she is at home, or should he go first to the desk and have the clerk announce him on the telephone?"

Answer: If you have a sitting room of your own you cannot only receive women but men friends in it, taking it for granted that your friends are proper. You cannot receive a man very late at night, but in the afternoon or early evening it is quite all right. He takes the elevator and goes directly there.

An Unnecessary Effort

Dear Mrs. Post: When two couples are in an automobile, is it not bad manners for the couple in the back seat to carry on a private conversation? Shouldn't the conversation at all times be general and loud enough for both couples to hear?

Answer: No, as it is often difficult for those in the back to hear what those in the front are saying—and vice versa.

The Mothers' Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for the mothers of the bride and groom to wear the same color dresses? I have bought a very pretty blue dress for the wedding, and I understand from my son that the mother of the bride also is planning to wear blue and he seems to think that I should choose another color.

Answer: No, each mother wears whatever color she prefers. If the same, it doesn't make any difference as they never sit together at church and rarely stand together at the reception.

Details for a home wedding including flowers, clothes, and ceremony are in leaflet E-8, "Today's Typical Weddings." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Miss Joan Perry, Aden Stoutenburg Nuptials Are Held

In St. Mary's Church, Friday, at 2 o'clock, Miss Joan Margaret Perry became the bride of Aden Robert Stoutenburg of West Hurley. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony. A buffet luncheon at the bride's home followed, for the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Perry of 17 Staples street, and the late Robert Perry, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stoutenburg of West Hurley.

The bride wore a white ballerina length gown of Chantilly type lace with Peter Pan neckline, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant tulle skirt over satin with a lace panel in front. A shoulder length veil was secured to a crown of white sequins shaped in small hearts. She carried a nosegay of white roses, carnations and gladioli with showers.

Miss Patricia Perry was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of light blue crystaleen with embroidered bodice and an embroidered panel in the front. A small blue lace hat in heart shape completed her ensemble. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and gladioli with blue delphinium and pink bows.

Elwood Stoutenburg of West Hurley served as best man. Fred Pieper of this city, uncle of the bride, was usher.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Lake George, Niagara Falls and Canada. For traveling the bride chose a yellow organdy dress trimmed with small white daisies, a matching hat, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. On their return, they will live in Glenford.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Moran-Spencerian School of business, is with Kingston Trust Co., central branch.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Hurley school, is associated with his father in the electrical contracting business.

In Church of the Presentation, Saturday morning at 10:30 a. m. Miss Mary Elizabeth Dempsey, daughter of Mrs. Mary M. Dempsey of Port Ewen and the late William J. Dempsey, became the bride of James Stephen Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Smith of 16 Summer street. The Rev. Joseph P. Kerins, CSsR officiated at the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Joseph Comyns CSsR was seated within the sanctuary. A reception followed for 150 guests in St. Leo's Hall, Port Ewen.

Miss Catherine Juhl was soloist accompanied by Miss Veronica Congilio, organist. White gladioli were the floral decorations in the church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Francis J. Dempsey, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The lace bodice was fashioned in a long torso effect with a billowing skirt of nylon tulle. The v-neckline of the bodice was edged in pearls. A cap of lace and pearls secured a veil of nylon illusion in tier effect. She carried a cascade bouquet of two white orchids and feathered carnations.

Miss Dolores Smith, sister of the bridegroom, of 16 Summer street, was honor attendant. The bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Baschnagel and Miss Rosemary Doyle of Port Ewen.

The honor attendant wore a gown of pure silk organza in maize fashioned with a tucked skirt, long torso, and bouffant floor length skirt. She wore a cloche type headpiece trimmed with tiny forget-me-nots, and carried a garden basket of yellow roses and white delphiniums.

The attendants wore gowns in horizon blue in identical style to that of the honor attendant, and carried identical flowers. John M. Dempsey of Port Ewen, brother of the bride, served as best man. The ushers were Raymond Dempsey of Port Ewen and Raymond Morris, Jr. of New Paltz.

For the wedding trip throught northern New York state, the bride chose a two-piece light grey dress with matching jacket and pink accessories, and a pink rose corsage. On their return, they will live at 16 Summer street.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Kingston Hall of Records.

The bridegroom, a Kingston High School graduate, served four years in the Navy. He is now with Great Bull Market.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Vacation Required

Big business knows that one of its major investments is in its top executives. And the health of these high-salaried men is one of its deepest concerns. A new trend in many companies is the required vacation—a trend with a message for all of us.

"Too busy to take a vacation"—those words are spoken with pride by too many men in their most productive middle years of life.

"Too busy not to take a vacation"—that's the answer of the health experts.

Middle aged men, judging by the statistics, have become one of the nation's most serious health problems. Too many are breaking down in the years when they should be at their peak. Tuberculosis, for example, was once looked on as a disease of young people. Today it is increasingly a disease of middle age. There are twice as many newly reported active cases of TB among people from 45 to 64 as in the 5 to 24 group. Fifty-five per cent of the deaths from TB are in men over 40.

Young or old, people still get tuberculosis from TB germs. But of the millions of Americans who get the germs in their systems from exposure to active cases, only about 100,000 a year break down with the disease. Why do they break down? Some of the reasons are known: a heavy invasion of germs, poor nutrition, lowering of the general level of health, and severe mental and emotional stress. The last two factors are probably of primary importance in the breakdowns among middle aged men.

A vacation from which a man returns mentally and physically rested and refreshed, full of new vigor and enthusiasm, can usually give his general health the boost it needs to ward off serious illness.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Miss Corinne Evory Has Luncheon Party

Miss Corinne Evory of Main street, Bloomington, entertained at a luncheon Friday noon in honor of her house guest, Miss Diane Olsen of West Farmingdale, L. I. Miss Olsen is a former resident of Bloomington.

Firemen Called Out Twice This Morning

Firemen answered two alarms today, the first at 12:05 a. m., in a one-story frame bungalow at 3 Grandview avenue, occupied by Clarence Perry, where a broken hot water pipe in the bathroom flooded the cellar with two inches of water. Damage from "condensation throughout the house," was reported by firemen. Engine 3 of Wiltwyck responded under Deputy Chief George Matthews.

At 6:35 a. m., firemen removed a leaky refrigerator from the home of Hamilton Boyd, 120 St. James street. This alarm was also answered by Engine 3 of Wiltwyck under Deputy Matthews.

Floating Radar Station Will Be Placed off Cape

Boston, July 11 (AP) — The world's first floating radar station, to give early warning of approaching enemy planes, is scheduled to be towed tomorrow to its spotting anchorage 110 miles off Cape Cod in the Atlantic ocean.

A fleet of tugs will tow the 200-foot high structure—dubbed the "Texas Tower" because of its resemblance to oil derricks in that state—to its strategic position.

The 6,000-ton radar island is the first in a circle of outer warning stations proposed to protect 1,500 miles of coast from Newfoundland to Norfolk, Va., against enemy planes.

The radar station and the men working to get it ready were blessed yesterday by Roman Catholic Archbishop Cushing of Boston.

The floating island will be anchored permanently by stilts filled with concrete and sunk 48 feet below the ocean floor. Its platform will be 87 feet above water level.

Mother's Illness Reduces Bail

Mineola, July 11 (AP)—George B. Teen, 17, who landed in jail because of a fake marine distress alarm, has been freed on reduced bail because of his mother's illness.

In district court yesterday Teen's lawyer said the boy's mother had suffered a heart attack because of his arrest and her life would be in danger if he remained in jail.

Judge John Daly reduced bail from $5,000 to $1,000, which was then posted. The boy left with his father, George, of Asbury Park, N. J., who is estranged from his wife, Evelyn, of Oceanside.

Young Teen and Thomas Maldona, 21, of East Rockaway, are accused of sending a series of fake radiotelephone messages that touched off a two-day ocean search last week for a burning fishing boat that didn't exist.

Lands on Turnpike

Bedford, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Air Force Maj. Leo Carboneau, lost and out of fuel in his F-86D jet plane, badly needed a place to land yesterday and picked the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Luckily he landed at a time when there was a lull in the usual heavy Sunday traffic. The major got his ship down in an eastbound lane near the Sideling Hill tunnel in Fulton county about 30 miles east of here. He was unhurt and the plane was only slightly damaged.

Kingston Evening Programs Listed

The evening program of the Kingston Recreation Department is in full swing this week with movies, band concert and square dance all being scheduled for the various parks throughout the city. On Monday night at Block Park the film "The Fabulous Texan" starring William Elliott, John Carroll and Albert Decker will be shown starting at dusk.

The film will be shown in Forsyth Park Tuesday and Hutton Park on Wednesday. On Tuesday evening the first band concert of the season will be played at the beach at Kingston Point starting at 8 p. m. and continuing until 10 p. m.

The concert will be played by some 20 of the areas top musicians. Also on Wednesday night at Hasbrouck Park starting at 8 p. m., the Catskill Mountaineers with Mike Amarello doing the calling will play for a square dance under the Pavilion overlooking the Hudson river. Square sets and Polish hops will be featured by the Mountaineers.

86 New Factories Planned in State

Olean, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Edward T. Dickinson state commerce commissioner, said today 86 industrial firms had informed the department this year that they planned to build new factories in the state.

In addition, Dickinson said, 97 concerns would expand their New York state operations in 1955. He reported that 7,000 new job opportunities would be created.

The commissioner estimated the new buildings and additional equipment and facilities would total more than 30 million dollars.

Light Counts Cars

Lynn, Mass., July 11 (AP)—General Electric Co. announced today development of a new traffic light that automatically counts cars and "rations" the green light to keep traffic moving at maximum efficiency. Cars approaching a main highway on a secondary road are counted by an electronic controller. Then the signal allows just enough "green time" to clear the autos. General Electric officials said the electronic device is part of a new line of devices designed to meet street intersection traffic problems and keep traffic moving on main highways.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

This is the very sad story of a foreign correspondent. From 1937 to 1952, Merrill (Red) Mueller was NBC's representative in such places as Munich, London, Australia, Japan and Africa. Then he was transferred back to New York and bought a home at Greenwich, Conn.

Red is a putterer, and he decided to give the house a thorough going-over. He practically rebuilt it. He finished the job, and had two weeks to enjoy it before he got the sad news. He's been transferred to Rome.

There are two sides to being a Godfrey. Kathy, Arthur's sister, is an intelligent woman, and she's honest with herself, so she knows that the relationship hasn't hurt her career.

"I used to call myself Kathy Morton," she says. "That was my mother's maiden name. I didn't want to capitalize on Arthur's reputation. I had a job on radio in Phoenix, and I wanted a TV spot. Well, the boss learned that I was a Godfrey and he said he'd give me a TV show, but I'd have to use the name Kathy Godfrey. He said if I didn't he'd fire me. I became Kathy Godfrey."

And it was as Kathy Godfrey that she came to New York a year and a half ago, and started with ABC on a poor show called "On Your Way." They kept changing the format—once she had three different shows in three weeks—but nothing helped. "They weren't my kind of shows," she says.

Now, she thinks, for the first time since she arrived in New York she has "her kind of show." It's on CBS-Radio Sundays, and it's a pleasant, relaxed affair with music and interviews. Those two adjectives — pleasant and relaxed — seem to be the keys to the Godfrey family's skill. Kathy is every bit the easy-going, neighborly performer that Arthur is. Perhaps more so.

This business of being a Godfrey, as noted above, helped her by opening doors. But she feels she's lost her share of shows because of it, too.

"If I was running a network," she says, "I'd be very hesitant about hiring a Godfrey. Every time I'd be on the air, it would be a plug for CBS and Arthur."

So she's happy she's on the CBS side of the airwaves. And she's determined she's going to prove herself on this show.

President Names Negro to Office

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Everett Frederic Morrow, a Negro, moved into a key managerial post in President Eisenhower's executive offices today. He is the first of his race to hold a job of that caliber there.

The White House announced Saturday Morrow's appointment as administrative officer for the special projects group, which includes units planning foreign policy, foreign economic policy, public works and disarmament. The post pays between $12,000 and $13,000 a year.

Morrow, a native of Hackensack, N. J., has been an adviser on business affairs to Secretary of Commerce Weeks since September 1953. He formerly was a field secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and a public relations representative for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

This is the very sad story of a foreign correspondent. From 1937 to 1952, Merrill (Red) Mueller was NBC's representative in such places as Munich, London, Australia, Japan and Africa. Then he was transferred back to New York and bought a home at Greenwich, Conn.

Red is a putterer, and he decided to give the house a thorough going-over. He practically rebuilt it. He finished the job, and had two weeks to enjoy it before he got the sad news. He's been transferred to Rome.

There are two sides to being a Godfrey. Kathy, Arthur's sister, is an intelligent woman, and she's honest with herself, so she knows that the relationship hasn't hurt her career.

"I used to call myself Kathy Morton," she says. "That was my mother's maiden name. I didn't want to capitalize on Arthur's reputation. I had a job on radio in Phoenix, and I wanted a TV spot. Well, the boss learned that I was a Godfrey and he said he'd give me a TV show, but I'd have to use the name Kathy Godfrey. He said if I didn't he'd fire me. I became Kathy Godfrey."

And it was as Kathy Godfrey that she came to New York a year and a half ago, and started with ABC on a poor show called "On Your Way." They kept changing the format—once she had three different shows in three weeks—but nothing helped. "They weren't my kind of shows," she says.

Now, she thinks, for the first time since she arrived in New York she has "her kind of show." It's on CBS-Radio Sundays, and it's a pleasant, relaxed affair with music and interviews. Those two adjectives — pleasant and relaxed — seem to be the keys to the Godfrey family's skill. Kathy is every bit the easy-going, neighborly performer that Arthur is. Perhaps more so.

This business of being a Godfrey, as noted above, helped her by opening doors. But she feels she's lost her share of shows because of it, too.

"If I was running a network," she says, "I'd be very hesitant about hiring a Godfrey. Every time I'd be on the air, it would be a plug for CBS and Arthur."

So she's happy she's on the CBS side of the airwaves. And she's determined she's going to prove herself on this show.

President Names Negro to Office

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Everett Frederic Morrow, a Negro, moved into a key managerial post in President Eisenhower's executive offices today. He is the first of his race to hold a job of that caliber there.

The White House announced Saturday Morrow's appointment as administrative officer for the special projects group, which includes units planning foreign policy, foreign economic policy, public works and disarmament. The post pays between $12,000 and $13,000 a year.

Morrow, a native of Hackensack, N. J., has been an adviser on business affairs to Secretary of Commerce Weeks since September 1953. He formerly was a field secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and a public relations representative for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Bruce and Cliff Miller, Nieffer Win in KPBA Outboard Regatta

The racing Millers—Bruce and Cliff — and William Nieffer of Saugerties upheld area racing prestige by scoring victories in the Kingston Power Boat Association's first stock outboard regatta Sunday on the Rondout.

The promotion was the 14th annual for the Kingston organization.

BRUCE MILLER launched the regatta on a victory note for Kingston with an impressive win in the first heat of the Class A hydroplanes. He was clocked in 3 mins., 34 seconds and finished a quarter lap ahead of Al Drum of Nanuet.

Jesse Jewel, the veteran Northville ace, got the jump on Miller in the second heat and won by a clear margin although his time was 12 seconds slower than Miller's.

A fortuitous circumstance helped Cliff Miller annex the first heat of the Class B hydroplanes. John Armour of Newburgh had a big lead on Miller when he swamped making the third turn in front of the clubhouse. With Armour out of action, Miller circled the last half lap by a comfortable margin ahead of Bob Henry of Watervliet.

WILLIAM NIEFFER of Saugerties tied Miller's winning time at 4 min., 35 seconds to lead the second heat of B hydroplanes all the way.

After a shaky start in the first race when several of the entries were left at the post, the regatta settled down to an exciting battle among the simon pures. There was the usual quota of swampings and mishaps but no serious injuries.

Threatening weather at race time held down the attendance which seemed lighter than in recent years.

Bob Veiga of Troy and Vincent DeBerto of Newburgh were the only double winners of the day.

Veiga swept both heats of the Class D hydroplanes in almost identical times of 3 min., 54 seconds. Tony Rodriguez of Schenectady took second place and Ed Kukler, Poughkeepsie, third in the three-man field. The positions behind Veiga were reversed in the second heat.

DeBERTO LED all the way in the first heat of the Class A utilities, with Bruce Miller chasing him at the first lap mark. Miller fell behind Ken Myers of Philmont who grabbed second place in the heat.

The local pilot had the lead on the second lap of the second heat but couldn't hold it and DeBerto finished with a burst of power to complete the sweep.

Bob Boerckel, a nifty operator from Long Island had the best elapsed time in the first heat of the Class D utility but was disqualified for jumping the gun. The disqualification gave the heat to John Scardefield of New Hamburg in 4 min., 39 seconds. Second place went to Michael Polkonic of Piermont with William Decker of Walden taking third.

Boerckel took no chances in the second heat, grabbing the lead at the start and making a show of the field. Fred Perry of Poughkeepsie was second, followed by Scardefield. James Myers of Saugerties was disqualified in this heat.

Newburgh Dodger Jewels Beat Colonials, 6-4 in NY-NJ Contest

Those Old Bases On Balls Ruin Local Chances

One bad inning created by some questionable strategy sent the Colonials down to a 6-4 defeat at the hands of the Newburgh Jewels in Saturday night's New York-New Jersey League game at Dietz Stadium.

It was still a tight ball game at 2-1 in favor of the Jewels when the Colonials reasoned starter Bob Maines was tiring.

Manager Fred Davi introduced a new right hander, Bob Dickout and within three batters Dickout had walked himself out of the game.

THAT BROUGHT southpaw Frank Reis on the scene and he couldn't find the plate either. After walking three men in a row, Reis was lifted in favor of Jack Houghtaling, who stopped the Jewels without further damage.

Big Sal Misasi's second inning homer—a power shot to right field on which Jack Dexter missed a shoestring catch sent the Colonials ahead, 1-0. The Jewels tied it in the third and took the lead, 2-1 in the sixth. Then came the parade of walks and a 6-1 bulge at the end of seven.

THE COLONIALS rallied for for a pair of runs in the eighth on an infield error, walks to Eddie Passante and Steve Cea, Johnny Armstrong's single to right and Bob Shelightner's fly to deep center. Carmen Donato, the Newburgh starter, was lifted in favor of Corky Mullins during the rally.

A couple of walks to Ronnie Ashdown and Paul Giannuzi, and infield out and Cea's fly to right accounted for Kingston's final run in the bottom of the ninth.

Donato, who was credited with the victory, fanned 11 men. Maines gave up only 2 hits and struck out seven in a six-inning stint. Was he really tired? Well, we'll never really know.

ALL TOLD the Jewels were able to colleect only four hits off Maines, Dickhout, Reis and Houghtaling, but were comforted by nine walks and four Kingston miscues.

Big Bob Shelightner, who was laid low for about 10 minutes when accidentally struck by a bat in the third inning, slammed a triple for the locals.

Poughkeepsie shaded the Brooklyn Windsors, 5 to 4, at Poughkeepsie to take over third place with a record of four wins and two losses. New York Mohawks and Paterson Uncle Sams share the league lead with a 4-1 record.

Nine Dodger errors, fourteen walks and three hits gave the Indians an 18-9 victory in the Esopus Legion Little League Saturday at Port Ewen.

Base hits were at a premium, for sure. Like the winners, the Dodgers got only three.

The errors and walks came thick and fast on both sides. The Indians made five miscues and their hurlers allowed 10 bases on balls.

Bill Boss pitched five innings for the winners. Bob Miller finished. Bob Dickenson and Kirk Eckert toiled for the losers.

3 Teams Tie For 1st Place In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Three teams were tied for first place in the Eastern League today.

League-leading Binghamton was downed, 5-4, by second place Williamsport in a game yesterday at Williamsport. Reading, which shared second place with Williamsport, also managed to move into the tie for the top spot by downing Schenectady 11-2.

In other games yesterday Johnstown and Elmira divided a pair. Johnstown captured an afternoon contest 11-7 and Elmira took the night game 5-4. Albany was a 7-6 victor in an 11-inning game at Allentown.

MILT GRAFF'S two-run single in the sixth at Williamsport and the relief pitching of Myron Hoffman and Manager Larry Shepard helped the Grays.

Righthander Gene Law of Reading spaced eight Schenectady hits. Roger Maris and Jim Tolleson, both of Reading, contributed home runs.

Elmira's victory ended a seven-game losing streak. On Saturday night, the Johnnies ended an 11-game losing streak by drubbing Elmira 12-1.

Successive doubles by Joe Belcastro and Manager Bert Haas in the 11th at Allentown, provided the margin of victory for Albany.

High Gun Clicks

New York, July 11 (AP)—High Gun, a $10,200 bargain basement beauty, is back on the championship highway today after his smashing triumph in the $56,000 Brooklyn Handicap. The tough King Ranch 4-year-old answered the big question Saturday at Aqueduct when he led all the way to grab the mile and one-quarter classic under 132 pounds as Eddie Arcaro piloted his fourth Brooklyn champ.

Bolt Captures St. Paul Open

St. Paul, Minn., July 11 (AP)—Tommy Bolt traded his famed temper for some unspectacular patience and a tip from Ben Hogan to get back in the winner's circle with a victory in the $15,000 St. Paul Open.

The square-jawed Texan overtook little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles yesterday to finish 19 under par for a 269 in what was one of the steadiest shows of his stormy career. It earned him $2,400.

HIS OWN 68 did part of the job and Barber's slow collapse did the rest. Tiny Jerry, the tournament leader for three rounds, slumped to a 73 and finished two strokes behind with 271.

Fred Hawkins, St. Andrew's, Ill., and Arnold Palmer, the 1954 National Amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., tied for third with 273.

Bolt won with near flawless play from the tee that found him off the fairway only once during the four days. This he credited to some casual tutoring by Hogan in Texas a month ago.

All-Star Teams Set For Tuesday's Game

Milwaukee, July 11 (AP) — For the first time in years, the American and National League squads come up for the annual All-Star game tomorrow with "rested" pitchers and a minimum of injuries.

Whereas in other years, All-star pitchers were called upon within 48 hours after working a nine-inning game on Sunday, only five of the 16 saw action yesterday. A year ago, five of the seven National League pitchers and four of the eight American Leaguers had worked on Sunday.

OUTSIDE of Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, who was scratched several days ago because of a damaged knee, neither side reported any injuries.

Managers Al Lopez and Leo Durocher, who will direct the American and National League squads, respectively, have a wide choice of pitchers. Most likely starter for the Americans is Early Wynn (11-4), Cleveland's strong-armed righthander, who probably will be opposed by either Don Newcombe (14-1) of Brooklyn or Robin Roberts (13-7) of Philadelphia.

Newcombe, the majors' biggest winner, has not worked since his three-inning stint Friday night. Roberts went the distance Saturday while Wynn hurled only five innings the same day. Of the others, Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox, Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs and Harvey Haddix of St. Louis have been idle since Thursday. Frank Sullivan of Boston, Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Billy Hoeft of Detroit pitched Friday.

BOB TURLEY of the New York Yankees and Baltimore's Jim Wilson pitched Saturday. Sunday's pitchers included Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Herb Score of Cleveland, Luis Arroyo of St. Louis, Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Joe Nuxhall, who relieved in Cincinnati's last three games.

A sellout crowd of nearly 45,000 was virtually assured as Milwaukee's baseball-batty populace awaited the 22nd annual mid-summer spectacle with tremendous interest.

The original starting time was set back a half hour to 2 p. m., local time (3 p. m., EST), to let baseball officials attend the funeral services for Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, who founded the game back in 1933. The game will be carried on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC).

The game figures to be a battle of National League power against American League pitching. Although the Americans boast a 13 to 8 edge in previous games, the Nationals have been installed as 13 to 10 favorite to win their fifth in the last six clashes.

AL Starter

THE NATIONALS, led by such power hitters as Ted Kluszewski, Duke Snider, Stan Musial, Willie Mays, Eddie Mathews, Del Ennis and Ernie Banks, stands head and shoulder above its rival in the home run and runs batted in department.

Kluszewski, with 29 homers, Snider with 28, Mays with 27, Banks with 23 and Mathews with 22, all top Mickey Mantle, the American League leader with 21. Snider's 89 RBI's is far and above the figures of any of his rivals. The National, as a whole, has hit over 100 more home runs than the American.

The American, however, has the edge in speed, defense and pitching. Five of the junior circuit pitchers have won 10 or more with Turley and Score far out in front in strikeouts.

Fromer Horse Wins Feature At Roosevelt

Emerson Hanover, a nine-year-old Free-For-All trotter owned by C. O. Fromer of Kingston, scored his second victory of the season at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L. I., Friday night, breezing home two and a half lengths ahead of Gemette Bunter.

William Myer who reined the Nibble Hanover trotter, started from the outside. Showing plenty of speed, Emerson Hanover reached the top at the quarter and never was headed, although Charles Amachie's Lady Titan trailed the winner by only a neck as the field of eight trotters turned for home. Showing speed to burn, the Kingston trotter spread-eagled the field in the final quarter as he was clocked in 2:11.2 over a muddy track.

Emerson Hanover who collected $12,700 in purses last season has gotten off to a slow start this season, but in his last few races he has shown signs of returning to his 1954 form. He has started seven times.

Roslyn Youth Wins Net Title

Rochester, July 11 (AP)—John Clark of Roslyn, N. Y., is the new state junior tennis champ.

Clark defeated top-seeded David Breckner of Brooklyn 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2 Saturday to take the crown.

Top-seeded George Stoesser of Pebble Beach, Calif., won the boys final by defeating Donald Rubell of Brooklyn, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-3.

In the junior doubles, Clark and Richard Razzetti of Garden City teamed to defeat Alfred Vinton of Rye and Bryan Miscal of Forest Hills, 6-2 and 6-3.

Alan Tobias of New York and Rubell defeated Stoesser and Ogden Phipps of Roslyn 6-2 and 6-3 in the boys doubles.

DeLisio-Bailey Annex WCC's Member-Guest

Stephen DeLisio and his guest, J. Watson Bailey of Kingston, captured the Woodstock Country Club's Member-Guest tournament with a sparkling best ball 61 on Saturday.

The tournament was a handicap best-ball affair based on 50 per cent of the combined handicaps.

DeLisio and Bailey were out in 32 and back in 29.

ANTHONY DELISIO, WCC president, and Maurice Davenport of Wiltwyck, tied for second place with Fred Allen and Roy Vogt with net 63s.

DeLisio and Davenport fired 33-30, with Allen and Vogt rallying from a 34 to tie the best nine hole score of 29.

Two other tandems were deadlocked with 64s to complete the prize list. August Torres and District Attorney Howard St. John and Charles J. Tiano and Dr. George Rifenbary carded 64s. Torres and St. John spliced 31-33, while Tiano and Rifenbary had 32-32.

FORTY PLAYERS competed and were guests of the club at a buffet luncheon after the matches.

Other results:

Bill Waterous-Clarence Raichle, 31-35-66; Henry York-Joseph O'Connor, 33-32-65; James Fuller-Austin Boyd Jr., 35-36-71; Harry Kapreilian-William Fuller, 36-31-67; Harry Byrnes-Bob Daley, 38-34-72;

Bruce and Cliff Miller, Nieffer Win in KPBA Outboard Regatta

The racing Millers—Bruce and Cliff—and William Nieffer of Saugerties upheld area racing prestige by scoring victories in the Kingston Power Boat Association's first stock outboard regatta Sunday on the Rondout.

The promotion was the 14th annual for the Kingston organization.

BRUCE MILLER launched the regatta on a victory note for Kingston with an impressive win in the first heat of the Class A hydroplanes. He was clocked in 3 mins., 34 seconds and finished a quarter lap ahead of Al Drum of Nanuet.

Jesse Jewel, the veteran Northville ace, got the jump on Miller in the second heat and won by a clear margin although his time was 12 seconds slower than Miller's.

A fortuitous circumstance helped Cliff Miller annex the first heat of the Class B hydroplanes. John Armour of Newburgh had a big lead on Miller when he swamped making the third turn in front of the clubhouse. With Armour out of action, Miller circled the last half lap by a comfortable margin ahead of Bob Henry of Watervliet.

WILLIAM NIEFFER of Saugerties tied Miller's winning time at 4 min., 35 seconds to lead the second heat of B hydroplanes all the way.

After a shaky start in the first race when several of the entries were left at the post, the regatta settled down to an exciting battle among the simon pures. There was the usual quota of swampings and mishaps but no serious injuries.

Threatening weather at race time held down the attendance which seemed lighter than in recent years.

Bob Veiga of Troy and Vincent DeBerto of Newburgh were the only double winners of the day.

Veiga swept both heats of the Class D hydroplanes in almost identical times of 3 min., 54 seconds. Tony Rodriguez of Schenectady took second place and Ed Kukler, Poughkeepsie, third in the three-man field. The positions behind Veiga were reversed in the second heat.

DeBERTO LED all the way in the first heat of the Class A utilities, with Bruce Miller chasing him at the first lap mark. Miller fell behind Ken Myers of Philmont who grabbed second place in the heat.

The local pilot had the lead on the second lap of the second heat but couldn't hold it and DeBerto finished with a burst of power to complete the sweep.

Bob Boerckel, a nifty operator from Long Island had the best elapsed time in the first heat of the Class D utility but was disqualified for jumping the gun. The disqualification gave the heat to John Scardefield of New Hamburg in 4 min., 39 seconds. Second place went to Michael Polkonic of Piermont with William Decker of Walden taking third.

Boerckel took no chances in the second heat, grabbing the lead at the start and making a show of the field. Fred Perry of Poughkeepsie was second, followed by Scardefield. James Myers of Saugerties was disqualified in this heat.

Newburgh Dodger Jewels Beat Colonials, 6-4 in NY-NJ Contest

Those Old Bases On Balls Ruin Local Chances

Misasi Cracks Homer; Shelightner Triples

NY-NJ Standings

	Won	Lost
New York Mohawks	4	1
Paterson Uncle Sams	4	1
Poughkeepsie	4	2
Newburgh Jewels	3	3
Brooklyn Windsors	1	5
Kingston Colonials	0	4

One bad inning created by some questionable strategy sent the Colonials down to a 6-4 defeat at the hands of the Newburgh Jewels in Saturday night's New York-New Jersey League game at Dietz Stadium.

It was still a tight ball game at 2-1 in favor of the Jewels when the Colonials reasoned starter Bob Maines was tiring.

Manager Fred Davi introduced a new right hander, Bob Dickout and within three batters Dickout had walked himself out of the game.

THAT BROUGHT southpaw Frank Reis on the scene and he couldn't find the plate either. After walking three men in a row, Reis was lifted in favor of Jack Houghtaling, who stopped the Jewels without further damage.

Big Sal Misasi's second inning homer—a power shot to right field on which Jack Dexter missed a shoestring catch sent the Colonials ahead, 1-0. The Jewels tied it in the third and took the lead, 2-1 in the sixth. Then came the parade of walks and a 6-1 bulge at the end of seven.

THE COLONIALS rallied for for a pair of runs in the eighth on an infield error, walks to Eddie Passante and Steve Cea, Johnny Armstrong's single to right and Bob Shelightner's fly to deep center. Carmen Donato, the Newburgh starter, was lifted in favor of Corky Mullins during the rally.

A couple of walks to Ronnie Ashdown and Paul Giannuzi, and infield out and Cea's fly to right accounted for Kingston's final run in the bottom of the ninth.

Donato, who was credited with the victory, fanned 11 men. Maines gave up only 2 hits and struck out seven in a six-inning stint. Was he really tired? Well, we'll never really know.

ALL TOLD the Jewels were able to colleect only four hits off Maines, Dickhout, Reis and Houghtaling, but were comforted by nine walks and four Kingston miscues.

Big Bob Shelightner, who was laid low for about 10 minutes when accidentally struck by a bat in the third inning, slammed a triple for the locals.

Poughkeepsie shaded the Brooklyn Windsors, 5 to 4, at Poughkeepsie to take over third place with a record of four wins and two losses. New York Mohawks and Paterson Uncle Sams share the league lead with a 4-1 record.

Nine Dodger errors, fourteen walks and three hits gave the Indians an 18-9 victory in the Esopus Legion Little League Saturday at Port Ewen.

Base hits were at a premium, for sure. Like the winners, the Dodgers got only three.

The errors and walks came thick and fast on both sides. The Indians made five miscues and their hurlers allowed 10 bases on balls.

Bill Boss pitched five innings for the winners. Bob Miller finished. Bob Dickenson and Kirk Eckert toiled for the losers.

3 Teams Tie For 1st Place In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Three teams were tied for first place in the Eastern League today.

League-leading Binghamton was downed, 5-4, by second place Williamsport at Williamsport. Reading, which shared second place with Williamsport, also managed to move into the tie for the top spot by downing Schenectady 11-2.

In other games yesterday Johnstown and Elmira divided a pair. Johnstown captured an afternoon contest 11-7 and Elmira took the night game 5-4. Albany was a 7-6 victor in an 11-inning game at Allentown.

MILT GRAFF'S two-run single in the sixth at Williamsport and the relief pitching of Myron Hoffman and Manager Larry Shepard helped the Grays.

Righthander Gene Law of Reading spaced eight Schenectady hits. Roger Maris and Jim Tolleson, both of Reading, contributed home runs.

Elmira's victory ended a seven-game losing streak. On Saturday night, the Johnnies ended an 11-game losing streak by drubbing Elmira 12-1.

Successive doubles by Joe Belcastro and Manager Bert Haas in the 11th at Allentown, provided the margin of victory for Albany.

High Gun Clicks

New York, July 11 (AP)—High Gun, a $10,200 bargain basement beauty, is back on the championship highway today after his smashing triumph in the $56,000 Brooklyn Handicap. The tough King Ranch 4-year-old answered the big question Saturday at Aqueduct when he led all the way to grab the mile and one-quarter classic under 132 pounds as Eddie Arcaro piloted his fourth Brooklyn champ.

Bolt Captures St. Paul Open

St. Paul, Minn., July 11 (AP)—Tommy Bolt traded his famed temper for some unspectacular patience and a tip from Ben Hogan to get back in the winner's circle with a victory in the $15,000 St. Paul Open.

The square-jawed Texan overtook little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles yesterday to finish 19 under par for a 269 in what was one of the steadiest shows of his stormy career. It earned him $2,400.

HIS OWN 68 did part of the job and Barber's slow collapse did the rest. Tiny Jerry, the tournament leader for three rounds, slumped to a 73 and finished two strokes behind with 271.

Fred Hawkins, St. Andrew's, Ill., and Arnold Palmer, the 1954 National Amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., tied for third with 273.

Bolt won with near flawless play from the tee that found him off the fairway only once during the four days. This he credited to some casual tutoring by Hogan in Texas a month ago.

All-Star Teams Set For Tuesday's Game

Milwaukee, July 11 (AP)—For the first time in years, the American and National League squads come up for the annual All-Star game tomorrow with "rested" pitchers and a minimum of injuries.

Whereas in other years, All-star pitchers were called upon within 48 hours after working a nine-inning game on Sunday, only five of the 16 saw action yesterday. A year ago, five of the seven National League pitchers and four of the eight American Leaguers had worked on Sunday.

OUTSIDE of Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, who was scratched several days ago because of a damaged knee, neither side reported any injuries.

Managers Al Lopez and Leo Durocher, who will direct the American and National League squads, respectively, have a wide choice of pitchers. Most likely starter for the Americans is Early Wynn (11-4), Cleveland's strong-armed righthander, who probably will be opposed by either Don Newcombe (14-1) of Brooklyn or Robin Roberts (13-7) of Philadelphia.

Newcombe, the majors' biggest winner, has not worked since his three-inning stint Friday night. Roberts went the distance Saturday while Wynn hurled only five innings the same day. Of the others, Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox, Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs and Harvey Haddix of St. Louis have been idle since Thursday. Frank Sullivan of Boston, Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Billy Hoeft of Detroit pitched Friday.

BOB TURLEY of the New York Yankees and Baltimore's Jim Wilson pitched Saturday. Sunday's pitchers included Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Herb Score of Cleveland, Luis Arroyo of St. Louis, Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Joe Nuxhall, who relieved in Cincinnati's last three games.

A sellout crowd of nearly 45,000 was virtually assured as Milwaukee's baseball-batty populace awaited the 22nd annual mid-summer spectacle with tremendous interest.

The original starting time was set back a half hour to 2 p. m., local time (3 p. m., EST), to let baseball officials attend the funeral services for Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, who founded the game back in 1933. The game will be carried on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC).

The game figures to be a battle of National League power against American League pitching. Although the Americans boast a 13 to 8 edge in previous games, the Nationals have been installed as 13 to 10 favorite to win their fifth in the last six clashes.

AL Starter

Early Wynn

THE NATIONALS, led by such power hitters as Ted Kluszewski, Duke Snider, Stan Musial, Willie Mays, Eddie Mathews, Del Ennis and Ernie Banks, stands head and shoulder above its rival in the home run and runs batted in department.

Kluszewski, with 29 homers, Snider with 28, Mays with 27, Banks with 23 and Mathews with 22, all top Mickey Mantle, the American League leader with 21. Snider's 89 RBI's is far and above the figures of any of his rivals. The National, as a whole, has hit over 100 more home runs than the American.

The American, however, has the edge in speed, defense and pitching. Five of the junior circuit pitchers have won 10 or more with Turley and Score far out in front in strikeouts.

Fromer Horse Wins Feature At Roosevelt

Emerson Hanover, a nine-year-old Free-For-All trotter owned by C. O. Fromer of Kingston, scored his second victory of the season at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L. I., Friday night, breezing home two and a half lengths ahead of Gemette Bunter.

William Myer who reined the Nibble Hanover trotter, started from the outside. Showing plenty of speed, Emerson Hanover reached the top at the quarter and never was headed, although Charles Amachie's Lady Titan trailed the winner by only a neck as the field of eight trotters turned for home. Showing speed to burn, the Kingston trotter spread-eagled the field in the final quarter as he was clocked in 2:11.2 over a muddy track.

Emerson Hanover who collected $12,700 in purses last season has gotten off to a slow start this season, but in his last few races he has shown signs of returning to his 1954 form. He has started seven times.

Roslyn Youth Wins Net Title

Rochester, July 11 (AP)—John Clark of Roslyn, N. Y., is the new state junior tennis champ.

Clark defeated top-seeded David Breckner of Brooklyn 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2 Saturday to take the crown.

Top-seeded George Stoesser of Pebble Beach, Calif., won the boys final by defeating Donald Rubell of Brooklyn, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-3.

In the junior doubles, Clark and Richard Razzetti of Garden City teamed to defeat Alfred Vinton of Rye and Bryan Miscal of Forest Hills, 6-2 and 6-3.

Alan Tobias of New York and Rubell defeated Stoesser and Ogden Phipps of Roslyn 6-2 and 6-3 in the boys doubles.

DeLisio-Bailey Annex WCC's Member-Guest

Stephen DeLisio and his guest, J. Watson Bailey of Kingston, captured the Woodstock Country Club's Member-Guest tournament with a sparkling best ball 61 on Saturday.

The tournament was a handicap best-ball affair based on 50 per cent of the combined handicaps.

DeLisio and Bailey were out in 32 and back in 29.

ANTHONY DELISIO, WCC president, and Maurice Davenport of Wiltwyck, tied for second place with Fred Allen and Roy Vogt with net 63s.

DeLisio and Davenport fired 33-30, with Allen and Vogt rallying from a 34 to tie the best nine hole score of 29.

Two other tandems were deadlocked with 64s to complete the prize list. August Torres and District Attorney Howard St. John and Charles J. Tiano and Dr. George Rifenbary carded 64s. Torres and St. John spliced 31-33, while Tiano and Rifenbary had 32-32.

FORTY PLAYERS competed and were guests of the club at a buffet luncheon after the matches.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

No one won the American League pennant in the last 10 days, but it could be that the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers lost it in that span.

With the All-Star game break at hand, the New York Yankees hold a five-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who are a length in front of the White Sox. Ten days ago, the Yanks were 5½ games to the good with the White Sox second—1½ up on the Indians.

Detroit, fourth 10 days ago and 9½ games behind, now is fifth, victim of the onrushing Boston Red Sox. The Bosox, with the incomparable Ted Williams, had a 9-1 record for the 10 days, taking over fourth place seven games behind the Yanks and 5½ ahead of the Tigers.

The Yanks played .500 ball, meeting mostly second division clubs, for the 10 days. Cleveland won eight of 12. The White Sox and Tigers, who faded at the same time last season, lost six of 11 and nine of 12, respectively.

NEW YORK PLAYED at the same 50-50 pace yesterday, beating Washington 8-3 after losing the first game of the twin bill 6-4. Cleveland defeated Chicago 5-2, but lost the nightcap, 4-2. Boston beat Baltimore 10-7 before rain washed out the second game. Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-1 after the A's had won 9-5.

In the National, Brooklyn's lead was trimmed to 11½ games in a 3-2 defeat by New York as second place Milwaukee split with Cincinnati. The Braves won 7-4, then lost 7-6. St. Louis whipped Chicago 7-2 and Philadelphia trimmed Pittsburgh 4-1 before losing 3-1.

The Yankees were beaten in a six-run fifth by the Nats that chased Whitey Ford. Carlos Paula homered to open the rally. In the nightcap, Mickey Mantle—whose homers had gone to waste in the first game—whacked his 21st with a man on in the fourth as New York waltzed off to a 7-1 lead. Rookie John Kucks was the winner, relieving Ted Gray in the fourth.

Virgil Trucks saved the day for Chicago, giving Cleveland four hits in eight innings of the second game. Bob Nieman's two-run homer off loser Herb Score wiped out an early 1-0 Indian lead on Larry Doby's solo home run. Bobby Avila's bases-loaded triple wrapped up the opener as Ray Narleski and Don Mossi protected Art Houtteman's sixth victory.

The Red Sox collected a three-run homer from Williams, yet needed a five-run eighth to subdue the Orioles. A bases-loaded walk by Harry Dorish and two-run singles by Billy Goodman and Norm Zauchin did it. Gus Triandos homered twice for Baltimore.

THE GIANTS WON the rubber game of their three-game set with the Dodgers as Willie Mays' single drove in the winning marker in a two-run ninth inning. Three consecutive singles and Duke Snider's first error of the season had sent home the tying run.

Milwaukee won its sixth straight in the opener before Cincinnati ended its own six-game losing streak. Ted Kluszewski belted his 29th homer in the first game, but two unearned runs in the sixth won for the Braves. It was Gene Conley's 11th victory. The Redlegs enjoyed four unearned runs and Wally Post's two-run homer to take the nightcap from Warren Spahn.

Luis Arroyo made his third try for No. 10 and won for the Cards. Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst slapped two doubles righthanded and a lefthanded triple in support of the rookie southpaw. Stan Musial added his 19th homer as St. Louis ran up a 5-0 lead off old Cardinal Howie Pollet in the first two innings.

Ned Garver tamed the A's on four hits in the nightcap after Kansas City had clipped the Tigers for 18 safeties in the first game. Ray Boone doubled and hit two singles for five runs in the second game. Vic Power homered and hit two singles, and Elmer Valo bashed a two-run homer, in the A's triumph.

Curt Simmons six-hit the Bucs in the Phillies' victory with Marv Blaylock driving home two runs. Pittsburgh scored three times in the third, with Jerry Lynch's single good for two runs, as Vern Law pitched six-hit ball in the nightcap.

Sam Jones, no-hit pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, is a former member of the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro American League.

Billy Shields Edges Goodwin In State Golf Final, 1 Up

Jamestown, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Billy Shields of Albany, a reserved 28-year-old who plays golf with the intensity of an old pro, held the New York State amateur golf title today for the third time in his youthful life.

Billy defeated four-time title holder Tommy Goodwin of Rye one up yesterday in a dramatic 36-hole championship final of the 33rd annual state amateur tournament.

IT WAS a see-saw battle that found Billy on the short end much of the way. The end came in spectacular fashion as the pair teed off on the final hole of the Moon Brook Country Club with the match even.

Billy played it safe with an iron shot and sent the ball straight down the middle. Goodwin put a wood shot into the woods, but his second was just like Shields—20 feet beyond the green.

Goodwin chipped about 10 feet from the pin and two-putted for a bogey 5. Shields sent a beautiful chip shot to within a foot of the cup and holed it out to become the champ.

IN 1951, Shields beat Godwin 4 and 2 in a quarterfinals match at White Plains.

On the 31st hole, Shields made a miraculous wedge shot for an eagle two. The ball traveled high about 100 yards, struck the pin about four feet from the top, and followed the shaft straight into the hole without touching the rim.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching—Luis Arroyo, Cardinals, southpaw rookie scattered seven hits, keeping Cubs hitless for five innings, for 7-2 decision and 10th victory.

Hitting—Mickey Mantle, Yankees, regained American League home run lead with three, two in first game, as Yanks beat Washington 8-3 after losing 6-4.

Surname Usage

Surnames, in modern times, first were used in France, particularly Normandy, where they can be traced to the latter part of the 10th century. They were introuced into England by the Normans after the Conquest. The Jews were the last to adopt surnames.

White Sox outfielder Jim Rivera was credited with three assists in one game against the Kansas City Athletics. The major league record is four.

After three straight setbacks, the Ferraro's Bowlodrome entry will seek its initial victory in the City League tonight at the Athletic Field. The Bowler Boys duel the Dobler Beer entry, beginning at 6:15 o'clock.

Player-manager Jack Watzka is the probable pitcher for the Ferraro club. Gerry Bechtold is the likely mound choice for the Dobler nine.

The Ferraro team takes on the league-leading New York Panthers in Wednesday night's game. Tomorrow night it'll be Jones Dairy against Nadler Motors.

10-Rounder Set Between DeMarco, Dupas

New Orleans, La., July 11 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, hoping to strike it rich again at Ralph Dupas' expense, meets the New Orleans youngster for the second time in a 10-rounder here tonight.

Just 18 months ago, the Brooklyn veteran was a fading fighter apparently on the way out following three beatings in four fights. Then he met and edged Dupas in New Orleans and two months later won the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter. Carter took back his "loan" eight months later by stopping bustling Paddy in the 15th round.

DUPAS, now 19, has fought himself back into the top contender's position.

Tony Johnson and Tony Anthony, a couple of free-swinging New York light heavyweights, collide tonight in a television 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST). The winner could earn himself a crack at one of the top 10 175-pounders.

This spring, for the first time since the Notre Dame football stadium was opened in 1930 the annual spring "Old-Timers-Varsity Game" was not played there. It was played in School Field, South Bend.

SEMINICK OUT AT HOME—Andy Seminick, Philadelphia Phillies' catcher, is about to be tagged out at plate when attempting to score from first on infielder Roy Smalley's double in second inning against Pirates at Pittsburgh (July 10). Pirates' catcher Jack Shepard takes relay from infield in time to nip the runner. Umpire is Stanley Landes. Pirates won, 3-0. (AP Wirephoto).

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Maverick Slates Noted Quartet

Woodstock, July 11 — The Claremont Quartet raised the curtain on the 40th season of the Maverick Sunday Concerts July 3, will return for its second concert at the Maverick July 17. Musicians, critics and audiences alike have come to recognize this young quartet organization as belonging among the three or four top chamber groups in the country. Woodstockers have been in on the discovery and early beginnings of the Claremont when it gave its electrifying debut at the Art Gallery, sponsored by the Woodstock Artists Association, last year.

This outstanding ensemble will give four concerts in all at the Maverick this summer.

The program July 17 will consist of the Quartet in E flat major by Schubert, the Piano Quintet in F minor by Brahms, with Ilse Sass as assisting artist, and the Quartet No. 3 by Walter Piston.

Walter Piston, sometimes referred to as the American Hindemith, is head of the Music Department at Harvard. With Hindemith he shares the flair and love for teaching and the self-critical integrity of style. His textbooks on Harmony, Counterpoint and Orchestration are used everywhere. But this is where the similarity ends for Piston is, in his own right, one of the most maturely individual composers in the world today. The rendition by the Claremont Quartet of Piston's Third String Quartet, enthusiastically received in New York and elsewhere, but new to Woodstock, should be a special treat to the Maverick audience.

Library Fair Announces Plans

Woodstock, July 11 — The Woodstock Library Fair Thursday, July 28, traditionally one of the brightest spectacles of the summer season, will be more colorful than ever this year with the additoin of fantastic Mardi Gras figures as decorations. The painted papier mache figures—including a gigantic sea serpent, a 12-foot angel and a golden lion—were created by Woodstock artists Edward Chavez, Howard Mandel, James Turnbull and others, and are being loaned for the occasion. George H. Laws, chairman of the Fair Grounds Committee, will have the complicated task of setting up these and other decorations as well as all the booths.

As final plans for the fair began to take shape, one more sub-committee was announced this week: the Fruits and Vegetables committee. Mrs. Charles A. Boswell will serve as chairman and Mrs. Gordon Taylor, the former Margot Cramer, as co-chairman. Miss Harriet Goddard will assist in preliminary work but will be out of town the day of the fair. Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen will be in charge of the popular watermelon table.

Again, as in the past, many of the fresh vegetables and flowers to be sold at the fair will be from the rich farmland of the Kingston flats. From private gardens throughout the Woodstock area will come other contributions to the fair.

Interest in the annual Library Fair has gone far beyond this area to Los Angeles, Calif., according to the Fair chairmen, Mrs. Henry Morton Robinson and Miss Anita Smith. An inquiry was received from S. L. Weir, of Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation who asked for ideas in planning a similar fair.

The Library Fair Collection Center behind the library will be open for business as usual next Monday. Old hats for the "Hats for Fun" department, used jewelry to be re-made, outworn clothing and shoes and second-hand art materials and frames are among the items most welcome as donations.

The final meeting of the full Library Fair Committee will be held Monday, July 11, at 8 p. m. in the library. In addition to chairmen and co-chairmen, anyone who wants to help is invited, Mrs. Robinson said.

Volunteers Start Boy Scout Fund Drive

Woodstock, July 11—The volunteers who are carrying out the house to house visitation for funds for Boy Scouting in this village are now out on the job. They met at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church basement after a chicken chowmein "kick-off" dinner on Tuesday evening for final instructions. Enthusiasm ran high, and there is great hope that the award given for the best coverage will again come to the Western District to which Woodstock belongs. Other communities as well as Woodstock—Pine Hill, Phoenicia, Shandaken, Shokan, Olive Bridge, West Shokan and West Hurley—are much better organized than in the past. This District won the award once and has stood in second place at other times. It is expected that better organization will bring excellent results.

In the township of Woodstock the following have been added to the roster of solicitors: Sidney Berkowitz, Fred Toms, Mrs. Iven Freer, Mrs. Philip Buttrick, Douglas Franckling, Earl Snyder, Mrs. Charles Kullman, Miss Katrina Fischer, Alf Evers, Mrs. Edward Ross, Mrs. Irving Cousins, Mrs. Gerald Green, Miss Genevieve Riela, Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Joseph Fitzsimmons, Walter Riseley, Robert Smith, Mrs. Ethel Adams, Albert Hoffman, Nicholas Blazy, Warren Graver, Mrs. John Cedarquist, Mrs. Richard Chambers, William Hutty, Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., and Stephen Todd.

Cantine Agrees To Enter Board Election Race

Woodstock, July 11—Robert L. Cantine of Bearsville, vice president in charge of production at the Martin Cantine paper mills in Saugerties, has agreed to stand for election as a member of the Board of Education of the Onteora Central school. A vacancy on the board has been created by the resignation of Lauren Peters of Lake Hill. The election will be held at the school on July 12.

Mr. Cantine consented to run after he had been asked to do so by a group of Bearsville citizens who worked with him to bring the Bearsville district into the Onteora Central district. Soon after he had agreed to run, the necessary signatures for his nomination were obtained.

Born in Saugerties, Mr. Cantine graduated from the Woodstock Elementary School and attended Kingston High School. He transferred to Scarborough School and graduated in 1937. He entered Duke University from which he was graduated in 1941 with the Bachelor of Arts degree. He joined the United States Navy in January, 1942, and served on minesweepers in the Pacific during the war. He became commanding officer of a fleet of minesweepers. With the rank of lieutenant he left the service in 1946.

Mr. Cantine's home is on the Ohayo Mountain road. His son, Robin, attends the Onteora Central school. Mrs. Cantine is a Den mother in the Cub Scouts and has attended adult education sessions at Onteora.

Lester Shultis of Wittenberg is also running for the same position. Mr. Shultis was previously on the Board for six years, and was also trustee for the Wittenberg School for three years.

Kings Daughters Set Annual Fair-Supper

Woodstock, July 11 — The Kings Daughters of Shady will hold their annual fair and supper, Thursday, July 14. The fair will start at 2 p. m., and the roast beef supper will be served at 5:30 p. m. The fair will be held on the Methodist Church grounds in Shady, and the supper in the church hall.

The fair will include a fancy article table, a food table and a special table.

Set Fair Meeting

Woodstock, July 11—The second meeting of the Woodstock Library Fair committee will be held Monday, July 11, at the Library at 8 p. m.

The chairmen and co-chairmen have been asked to bring lists of equipment needed on the day of the Fair, to be given to the Grounds Committee. They are also requested to bring lists of their workers.

Ladies Day Held

Woodstock, July 11—Another successful Ladies Day was held at the Woodstock Country Club, Tuesday, July 5, with Mrs. Gilbert Schneider serving as hostess. The winners at cards were: Mrs. Valentine Peyree, Mrs. E. Bradshaw and Dr. Alekian.

Through the generosity of Fred Mollenhauer, the ladies were able to raise a sum of money for the benefit of the club. Mrs. Bruff Olin donated a lemon chiffon pie for the occasion.

Members and their guests are urged to attend these weekly Ladies Days, which are held every Tuesday at the club.

At the annual meeting of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club last Wednesday night at the club houst, the following officers were elected: Fred Markle, president; Nelson Shultis, vice president; Birge Simmons, secretary; and treasurer, Everand Short.

The annual clambake of the club will be held on Sunday, August 7, at 2 p. m.

A spaghetti and meat ball supper was served following the meeting.

The Lydian Society will meet in the basement of the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Wednesday, July 13, at 2 p. m.

Village Notes

Woodstock, July 11—Mrs. Gilbert Schneider entertained 50 guests at a party last Saturday evening prior to the roast at the country club. The party went on to the club and attended the carnival given that evening.

Gaston Bell is recovering at his home from a broken arm.

Mrs. C. L. Jellinghous of Bearsville is ill at the Kingston Hospital.

Frank Schilz of New York, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schilz of Shady.

The property of the late Walter Goeltz, including the house, two out-buildings and two acres of land, has been purchased by Joseph Fitzsimmons and Allen D. Elwyn. It was purchased from Arthur S. and Charles B. Goeltz, brothers of the deceased. Martin Comeau was the attorney for both parties and Orville Elwyn was the real estate agent.

Larry Elwyn, son of Allen D. Elwyn, is now in boot training in the U. S. Navy at Bainbridge, Md.

Knight Hurls Two-Hit Game In IBM Softball

Knight pitched a two-hit game last week in the IBM Softball League as Team Ten routed Team Twelve, 5-0.

In other games, Dept. 868 won a free-scoring battle from Dept. 088, 26-21; Team Eleven stopped Bradley's, 14-6; Team Six edged Team Four, 7-5. In another game one team scored a 13-9 victory. The names of the squads were not reported.

Team Ten collected eight hits off losing pitcher Bartsh, including a sixth-inning home run by Babcock.

The score by innings:

Team Ten	100	121	0—5
Team Twelve	000	000	0—0

Knight and Franz; Bartsh and Boyce.

Schoonmaker pitched and batted Dept. 868 to victory. He blasted two home runs. Del-Rosario, Holt and Miller also homered for the winners. Miller had five hits.

The score by innings:

Dept. 868	170	268	2—26
Dept. 088	082	007	4—21

Schoonmaker and Levy; Argulewitz and Galitzky.

Team Eleven did its scoring early in the game to beat Bradley's. The losers got only three hits off Picker. The winners gathered 20 off Bradley.

The score by innings:

Team Eleven	472	010	0—14
Bradley's	004	002	0— 6

Picker and O'Brien; Bradley and Burdett.

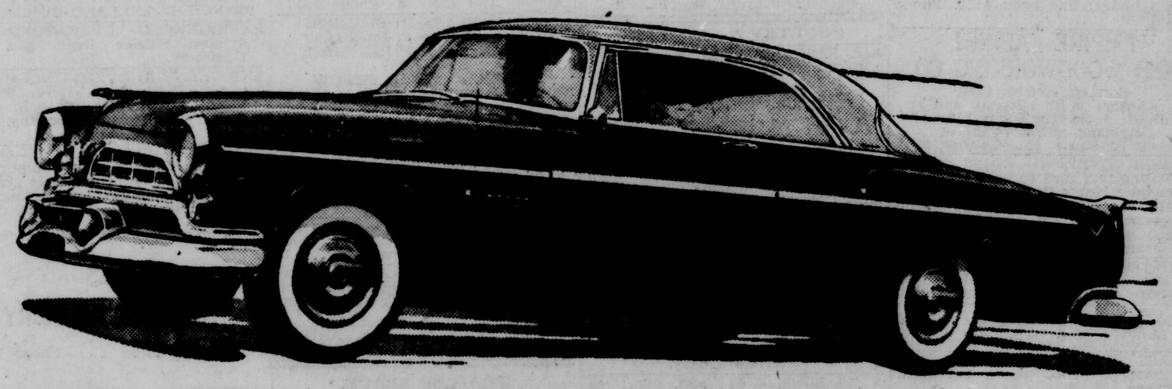

Team Six went ahead with four runs in the fifth inning and stayed in front. Each pitcher allowed six hits.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

No one won the American League pennant in the last 10 days, but it could be that the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers lost it in that span.

With the All-Star game break at hand, the New York Yankees hold a five-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who are a length in front of the White Sox. Ten days ago, the Yanks were 5½ games to the good with the White Sox second—1½ up on the Indians.

Detroit, fourth 10 days ago and 9½ games behind, now is fifth, victim of the onrushing Boston Red Sox. The Bosox, with the incomparable Ted Williams, had a 9-1 record for the 10 days, taking over fourth place seven games behind the Yanks and 5½ ahead of the Tigers.

The Yanks played .500 ball, meeting mostly second division clubs, for the 10 days. Cleveland won eight of 12. The White Sox and Tigers, who faded at the same time last season, lost six of 11 and nine of 12, respectively.

NEW YORK PLAYED at the same 50-50 pace yesterday, beating Washington 8-3 after losing the first game of the twin bill 6-4. Cleveland defeated Chicago 5-2, but lost the nightcap, 4-2. Boston beat Baltimore 10-7 before rain washed out the second game. Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-1 after the A's had won 9-5.

In the National, Brooklyn's lead was trimmed to 11½ games in a 3-2 defeat by New York as second place Milwaukee split with Cincinnati. The Braves won 7-4, then lost 7-6. St. Louis whipped Chicago 7-2 and Philadelphia trimmed Pittsburgh 4-1 before losing 3-1.

The Yankees were beaten in a six-run fifth by the Nats that chased Whitey Ford. Carlos Paula homered to open the rally. In the nightcap, Mickey Mantle—whose homers had gone to waste in the first game—whacked his 21st with a man on in the fourth as New York waltzed off to a 7-1 lead. Rookie John Kucks was the winner, relieving Ted Gray in the fourth.

Virgil Trucks saved the day for Chicago, giving Cleveland four hits in eight innings of the second game. Bob Nieman's two-run homer off loser Herb Score wiped out an early 1-0 Indian lead on Larry Doby's solo home run. Bobby Avila's bases-loaded triple wrapped up the opener as Ray Narleski and Don Mossi protected Art Houtteman's sixth victory.

The Red Sox collected a three-run homer from Williams, yet needed a five-run eighth to subdue the Orioles. A bases-loaded walk by Harry Dorish and two-run singles by Billy Goodman and Norm Zauchin did it. Gus Triandos homered twice for Baltimore.

THE GIANTS WON the rubber game of their three-game set with the Dodgers as Willie Mays' single drove in the winning marker in a two-run ninth inning. Three consecutive singles and Duke Snider's first error of the season had sent home the tying run.

Milwaukee won its sixth straight in the opener before Cincinnati ended its own six-game losing streak. Ted Kluszewski belted his 29th homer in the first game, but two unearned runs in the sixth won for the Braves. It was Gene Conley's 11th victory. The Redlegs enjoyed four unearned runs and Wally Post's two-run homer to take the nightcap from Warren Spahn.

Luis Arroyo made his third try for No. 10 and won for the Cards. Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst slapped two doubles righthanded and a lefthanded triple in support of the rookie southpaw. Stan Musial added his 19th homer as St. Louis ran up a 5-0 lead off old Cardinal Howie Pollet in the first two innings.

Ned Garver tamed the A's on four hits in the nightcap after Kansas City had clipped the Tigers for 18 safeties in the first game. Ray Boone doubled and hit two singles for five runs in the second game. Vic Power homered and hit two singles, and Elmer Valo bashed a two-run homer, in the A's triumph.

Curt Simmons six-hit the Bucs in the Phillies' victory with Marv Blaylock driving home two runs. Pittsburgh scored three times in the third, with Jerry Lynch's single good for two runs, as Vern Law pitched six-hit ball in the nightcap.

Sam Jones, no-hit pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, is a former member of the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro American League.

BAKE FOOD IN A CLAY WRAPPER

CLAY IS BEST, BUT ANY MUD CAN BE USED TO COVER POTATOES, CORN ON THE COB, FISH AND FOWL FOR BAKING IN A FIRE.

REMOVE FISH ENTRAILS AND TAIL. BEHEAD IF YOU PREFER. DON'T SCALE OR SKIN. WRAP ENTIRE FISH IN STIFF MUD. LAY IN COALS AND COVER WITH A NEW FIRE. WHEN BURNED DOWN, REMOVE. CRACK OFF HARDENED MUD WITH SKIN AND SCALES.

CLEAN, BUT DON'T PLUCK FOWL; WHEN BAKED, FEATHERS COME OFF WITH MUD AND SKIN. BAKE POTATOES, CORN, ETC., AS ABOVE.

OLD AND NEW — Pete Reiser gives Outfielder Pat Salerno pointers on batting. Reiser, coach of the Thomasville, Ga., Dodgers led National League batters in his freshman year, starred for the Brooklyn club till outfield walls proved harder than his head.

Billy Shields Edges Goodwin In State Golf Final, 1 Up

Jamestown, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Billy Shields of Albany, a reserved 28-year-old who plays golf with the intensity of an old pro, held the New York State amateur golf title today for the third time in his youthful life.

Billy defeated four-time title holder Tommy Goodwin of Rye one up yesterday in a dramatic 36-hole championship final of the 33rd annual state amateur tournament.

IT WAS a see-saw battle that found Billy on the short end much of the way. The end came in spectacular fashion as the pair teed off on the final hole of the Moon Brook Country Club with the match even.

Billy played it safe with an iron shot and sent the ball straight down the middle. Goodwin put a wood shot into the woods, but his second was just like Shields—20 feet beyond the green.

Goodwin chipped about 10 feet from the pin and two-putted for a bogey 5. Shields sent a beautiful chip shot to within a foot of the cup and holed it out to become the champ.

The first title for Billy came in 1951 and his second in 1952. Goodwin, a 42-year-old businessman who jokes his way around the fairways, won the first of his four titles in 1932 and his recent in 1953, when he defeated Shields two up at Utica.

IN 1951, Shields beat Godwin 4 and 2 in a quarterfinals match at White Plains.

On the 31st hole, Shields made a miraculous wedge shot for an eagle two. The ball traveled high about 100 yards, struck the pin about four feet from the top, and followed the shaft straight into the hole without touching the rim.

Dobler Tossers Play Bowlodrome In City League

City League

Team	W	L
New York Panthers	4	0
Jones Dairy	2	1
Dobler Beer	2	1
Nadler Motors	0	3
Ferraro's Bowlodrome	0	3

After three straight setbacks, the Ferraro's Bowlodrome entry will seek its initial victory in the City League tonight at the Athletic Field. The Bowler Boys duel the Dobler Beer entry, beginning at 6:15 o'clock.

Player-manager Jack Watzka is the probable pitcher for the Ferraro club. Gerry Bechtold is the likely mound choice for the Dobler nine.

The Ferraro team takes on the league-leading New York Panthers in Wednesday night's game. Tomorrow night it'll be Jones Dairy against Nadler Motors.

10-Rounder Set Between DeMarco, Dupas

New Orleans, La., July 11 (AP)—Former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, hoping to strike it rich again at Ralph Dupas' expense, meets the New Orleans youngster for the second time in a 10-rounder here tonight.

Just 18 months ago, the Brooklyn veteran was a fading fighter apparently on the way out following three beatings in four fights. Then he met and edged Dupas in New Orleans and two months later won the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter. Carter took back his "loan" eight months later by stopping bustling Paddy in the 15th round.

DUPAS, now 19, has fought himself back into the top contender's position.

Tony Johnson and Tony Anthony, a couple of free-swinging New York light heavyweights, collide tonight in a television 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 9 p. m., EST). The winner could earn himself a crack at one of the top 10 175-pounders.

This spring, for the first time since the Notre Dame football stadium was opened in 1930 the annual spring "Old-Timers-Varsity Game" was not played there. It was played in School Field, South Bend.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching—Luis Arroyo, Cardinals, southpaw rookie scattered seven hits, keeping Cubs hitless for five innings, for 7-2 decision and 10th victory.

Hitting—Mickey Mantle, Yankees, regained American League home run lead with three, two in first game, as Yanks beat Washington 8-3 after losing 6-4.

Surname Usage

Surnames, in modern times, first were used in France, particularly Normandy, where they can be traced to the latter part of the 10th century. They were introuced into England by the Normans after the Conquest. The Jews were the last to adopt surnames.

White Sox outfielder Jim Rivera was credited with three assists in one game against the Kansas City Athletics. The major league record is four.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Maverick Slates Noted Quartet

Woodstock, July 11 — The Claremont Quartet raised the curtain on the 40th season of the Maverick Sunday Concerts July 3, will return for its second concert at the Maverick July 17. Musicians, critics and audiences alike have come to recognize this young quartet organization as belonging among the three or four top chamber groups in the country. Woodstockers have been in on the discovery and early beginnings of the Claremont when it gave its electrifying debut at the Art Gallery, sponsored by the Woodstock Artists Association, last year.

This outstanding ensemble will give four concerts in all at the Maverick this summer.

The program July 17 will consist of the Quartet in E flat major by Schubert, the Piano Quintet in F minor by Brahms, with Ilse Sass as assisting artist, and the Quartet No. 3 by Walter Piston.

Walter Piston, sometimes referred to as the American Hindemith, is head of the Music Department at Harvard. With Hindemith he shares the flair and love for teaching and the self-critical integrity of style. His textbooks on Harmony, Counterpoint and Orchestration are used everywhere. But this is where the similarity ends for Piston is, in his own right, one of the most maturely individual composers in the world today. The rendition by the Claremont Quartet of Piston's Third String Quartet, enthusiastically received in New York and elsewhere, but new to Woodstock, should be a special treat to the Maverick audience.

Library Fair Announces Plans

Woodstock, July 11 — The Woodstock Library Fair Thursday, July 28, traditionally one of the brightest spectacles of the summer season, will be more colorful than ever this year with the additoin of fantastic Mardi Gras figures as decorations. The painted papier mache figures—including a gigantic sea serpent, a 12-foot angel and a golden lion—were created by Woodstock artists Edward Chavez, Howard Mandel, James Turnbull and others, and are being loaned for the occasion. George H. Laws, chairman of the Fair Grounds Committee, will have the complicated task of setting up these and other decorations as well as all the booths.

As final plans for the fair began to take shape, one more sub-committee was announced this week: the Fruits and Vegetables committee. Mrs. Charles A. Boswell will serve as chairman and Mrs. Gordon Taylor, the former Margot Cramer, as co-chairman. Miss Harriet Goddard will assist in preliminary work but will be out of town the day of the fair. Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen will be in charge of the popular watermelon table.

Again, as in the past, many of the fresh vegetables and flowers to be sold at the fair will be from the rich farmland of the Kingston flats. From private gardens throughout the Woodstock area will come other contributions to the fair.

Interest in the annual Library Fair has gone far beyond this area to Los Angeles, Calif., according to the Fair chairmen, Mrs. Henry Morton Robinson and Miss Anita Smith. An inquiry was received from S. L. Weir, of Los Angeles Orthopaedic Foundation who asked for ideas in planning a similar fair.

The Library Fair Collection Center behind the library will be open for business as usual next Monday. Old hats for the "Hats for Fun" department, used jewelry to be re-made, outworn clothing and shoes and second-hand art materials and frames are among the items most welcome as donations.

The final meeting of the full Library Fair Committee will be held Monday, July 11, at 8 p. m. in the library. In addition to chairmen and co-chairmen, anyone who wants to help is invited, Mrs. Robinson said.

Volunteers Start Boy Scout Fund Drive

Woodstock, July 11—The volunteers who are carrying out the house to house visitation for funds for Boy Scouting in this village are now out on the job. They met at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church basement after a chicken chowmein "kick-off" dinner on Tuesday evening for final instructions. Enthusiasm ran high, and there is great hope that the award given for the best coverage will again come to the Western District to which Woodstock belongs. Other communities as well as Woodstock—Pine Hill, Phoenicia, Shandaken, Shokan, Olive Bridge, West Shokan and West Hurley—are much better organized than in the past. This District won the award once and has stood in second place at other times. It is expected that better organization will bring excellent results.

In the township of Woodstock the following have been added to the roster of solicitors: Sidney Berkowitz, Fred Toms, Mrs. Iven Freer, Mrs. Philip Buttrick, Douglas Franckling, Earl Snyder, Mrs. Charles Kullman, Miss Katrina Fischer, Alf Evers, Mrs. Edward Ross, Mrs. Irving Cousins, Mrs. Gerald Green, Miss Genevieve Riela, Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Joseph Fitzsimmons, Walter Riseley, Robert Smith, Mrs. Ethel Adams, Albert Hoffman, Nicholas Blazy, Warren Graver, Mrs. John Cedarquist, Mrs. Richard Chambers, William Hutty, Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., and Stephen Todd.

Cantine Agrees To Enter Board Election Race

Woodstock, July 11—Robert L. Cantine of Bearsville, vice president in charge of production at the Martin Cantine paper mills in Saugerties, has agreed to stand for election as a member of the Board of Education of the Onteora Central school. A vacancy on the board has been created by the resignation of Lauren Peters of Lake Hill. The election will be held at the school on July 12.

Mr. Cantine consented to run after he had been asked to do so by a group of Bearsville citizens who worked with him to bring the Bearsville district into the Onteora Central district. Soon after he had agreed to run, the necessary signatures for his nomination were obtained.

Born in Saugerties, Mr. Cantine graduated from the Woodstock Elementary School and attended Kingston High School. He transferred to Scarborough School and graduated in 1937. He entered Duke University from which he was graduated in 1941 with the Bachelor of Arts degree. He joined the United States Navy in January, 1942, and served on minesweepers in the Pacific during the war. He became commanding officer of a fleet of minesweepers. With the rank of lieutenant he left the service in 1946.

Mr. Cantine's home is on the Ohayo Mountain road. His son, Robin, attends the Onteora Central school. Mrs. Cantine is a Den mother in the Cub Scouts and has attended adult education sessions at Onteora.

Lester Shultis of Wittenberg is also running for the same position. Mr. Shultis was previously on the Board for six years, and was also trustce for the Wittenberg School for three years.

Kings Daughters Set Annual Fair-Supper

Woodstock, July 11 — The Kings Daughters of Shady will hold their annual fair and supper, Thursday, July 14. The fair will start at 2 p. m., and the roast beef supper will be served at 5:30 p. m. The fair will be held on the Methodist Church grounds in Shady, and the supper in the church hall.

The fair will include a fancy article table, a food table and a special table.

Set Fair Meeting

Woodstock, July 11—The second meeting of the Woodstock Library Fair committee will be held Monday, July 11, at the Library at 8 p. m.

The chairmen and co-chairmen have been asked to bring lists of equipment needed on the day of the Fair, to be given to the Grounds Committee. They are also requested to bring lists of their workers.

Ladies Day Held

Woodstock, July 11—Another successful Ladies Day was held at the Woodstock Country Club, Tuesday, July 5, with Mrs. Gilbert Schneider serving as hostess. The winners at cards were: Mrs. Valentine Peyre● Mrs. E. Bradshaw and Dr. Alekian.

Through the generosity of Fred Mollenhauer, the ladies were able to raise a sum of money for the benefit of the club. Mrs. Bruff Olin donated a lemon chiffon pie for the occasion.

Members and their guests are urged to attend these weekly Ladies Days, which are held every Tuesday at the club.

At the annual meeting of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club last Wednesday night at the club houst, the following officers were elected: Fred Markle, president; Nelson Shultis, vice president; Birge Simmons, secretary; and treasurer, Everand Short.

The annual clambake of the club will be held on Sunday, August 7, at 2 p. m.

A spaghetti and meat ball supper was served following the meeting.

The Lydian Society will meet in the basement of the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Wednesday, July 13, at 2 p. m.

Village Notes

Woodstock, July 11—Mrs. Gilbert Schneider entertained 50 guests at a party last Saturday evening prior to the roast at the country club. The party went on to the club and attended the carnival given that evening.

Gaston Bell is recovering at his home from a broken arm.

Miss Lucie Bayard has arrived in this village for the summer.

Mrs. C. L. Jellinghous of Bearsviile is ill at the Kingston Hospital.

Frank Schilz of New York, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schilz of Shady.

The property of the late Walter Goeltz, including the house, two out-buildings and two acres of land, has been purchased by Joseph Fitzsimmons and Allen D. Elwyn. It was purchased from Arthur S. and Charles B. Goeltz, brothers of the deceased. Martin Comeau was the attorney for both parties and Orville Elwyn was the real estate agent.

Larry Elwyn, son of Allen D. Elwyn, is now in boot training in the U. S. Navy at Bainbridge, Md.

Knight Hurls Two-Hit Game In IBM Softball

Knight pitched a two-hit game last week in the IBM Softball League as Team Ten routed Team Twelve, 5-0.

In other games, Dept. 868 won a free-scoring battle from Dept. 088, 26-21; Team Eleven stopped Bradley's, 14-6; Team Six edged Team Four, 7-5. In another game one team scored a 13-9 victory. The names of the squads were not reported.

Team Ten collected eight hits off losing pitcher Bartsh, including a sixth-inning home run by Babcock.

The score by innings:

Team Ten	100	121	0—5
Team Twelve	000	000	0—0

Knight and Franz; Bartsh and Boyce.

Schoonmaker pitched and batted Dept. 868 to victory. He blasted two home runs. DelRosario, Holt and Miller also homered for the winners. Miller had five hits.

The score by innings:

Dept. 868	170	268	2—26
Dept. 088	082	007	4—21

Schoonmaker and Levy; Argulewitz and Galitzky.

Team Eleven did its scoring early in the game to beat Bradley's. The losers got only three hits off Picker. The winners gathered 20 off Bradley.

The score by innings:

Team Eleven	472	010	0—14
Bradley's	004	002	0— 6

Picker and O'Brien; Bradley and Burdett.

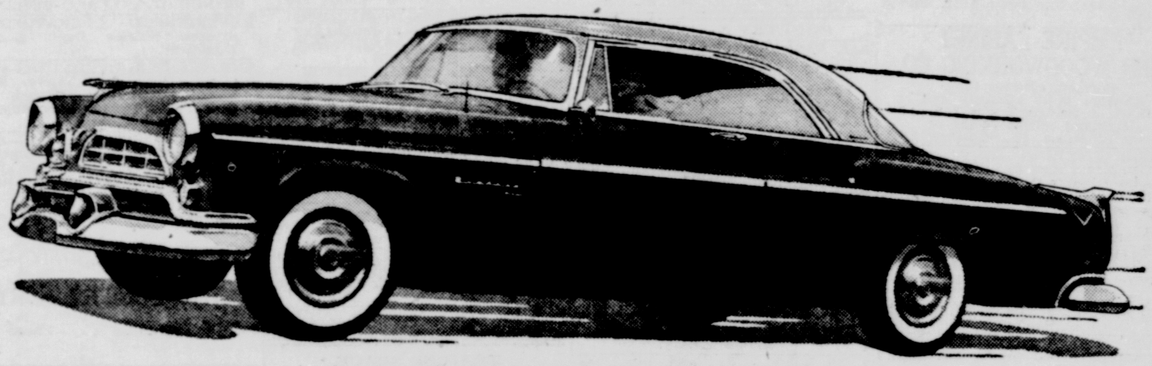

Team Six went ahead with four runs in the fifth inning and stayed in front. Each pitcher allowed six hits.

The score by innings:

Team Four	210	002	0—5
Team Six	110	004	0—7

Charlton and Hulsair; Van Netten and Baumer.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SCHOOL DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING

NOTICE is hereby given that the annual meeting of the inhabitants of Union Free School District No. 5 of the Town of Hurley, County of Ulster and State of New York, qualified to vote at such meetings in said District, will be held at the School House in said District on Tuesday, July 12th, 1955 at 7:30 o'clock E.S.T. for the transaction of such business as is authorized by the Education Law.

NOTICE is also given that a copy of the statement of the amount of money which will be required for the ensuing year for school purposes, exclusive of public moneys, may be obtained by any tax payers in said District during the said seven (7) days immediately preceding the annual meeting, except Saturdays, Sundays or holidays, at each of the following School Houses in which school is maintained during the hours designated:—

West Hurley School House, 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

NOTICE is also given that petitions nominating candidates for the office of member of the Board of Education must be filed with the Clerk of the District not later than July 1st, 1955, the eleventh day preceding the school meeting for election at which time candidates for nominations are to be elected.

The following vacancies are to be filled on the Board of Education:

Term Name of Last Incumbent
1 year ROBERT A. NUSSBAUM

Each vacancy is for a separate specific office and a separate petition is required to nominate a candidate to each separate office. Each petition must be directed to the Clerk of the District, must be signed by at least twenty-five (25) qualified voters of the District, must state the residence of each signer; must state the name and residence of the candidate; must designate the specific vacancy for which the candidates are nominated, including at least the length of the term of office and the name of the last incumbent.

That the election for the Board member above described is to be held between the hours of 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Dated—June 18th, 1955.

JAMES T. McCARTY
Clerk of Union Free School District No. 5 of West Hurley, New York.

ANNUAL SCHOOL DISTRICT MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the inhabitants of Central School District No. 1 of the Towns of Olive, Shandaken, Woodstock, Marbletown and Hurley, Ulster County and Lexington, Greene County, New York, qualified to vote at school meetings in said district, will be held at the Onteora Central School, Boiceville, New York, on TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1955 at 8:30 o'clock P. M., Eastern Daylight Time, for the transaction of such business as is authorized by the Education Law.

And notice is also given that a copy of the statement of the amount of money which will be required for the ensuing year for school purposes, exclusive of public moneys, may be obtained by any taxpayer in the district during the seven days immediately preceding the annual meeting, except Saturday, Sunday or holiday, at the following schoolhouse during the hours designated:

Onteora Central School 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. and also at the residences of John H. Moehle and Reginald R. Bennett, Phoenicia, New York, at reasonable hours. Upon request, copies will be mailed.

And notice is also given that petitions nominating candidates for the office of member of the board of education must be filed with the clerk of the district not later than July 1, 1955.

The following vacancies are to be filled on the board of education.

Three years—Leonard Ford
Three years—Justus North
Three years—Lauren R. Peters, Sr.

Each vacancy is a separate specific office and a separate petition is required to nominate a candidate to each separate office. Each petition must be directed to the clerk of the district, must be signed by at least twenty-five qualified voters of the district, must state the residence of each signer, must state the name and residence of the candidate and must describe the specific vacancy for which the candidate is nominated including at least the length of the term of office and the name of last incumbent. Voting machines will be used for the purpose of voting on candidates for member of the board of education.

Dated: June 20, 1955.

Onteora Central School
Boiceville, New York

COLLISION WITH A TELEPHONE pole Saturday afternoon on Route 209 near Camp Hayden had this result. State police of the Ellenville Station said the operator of the vehicle was a man by the name of Joseph Diamond, address unknown. Mr. Diamond, who was reportedly treated by a private physician, was expected at the Ellenville Barracks to make a full report of the accident but failed to appear, troopers said. The accident occurred about 1:30 p. m. (Anner photo).

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 11 (AP)—Demand for a few leading issues was enough to put the stock market ahead today.

In the early afternoon, prices were generally higher with gains running to around 2 points in key areas. Losses usually were small.

The pace of trading was right around the level of Friday's 2,450,000 shares. The market then was mixed.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher.

The bond market was mixed. U. S. Government issues in the over the counter market were steady.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall street, New York city; branch office 41 John street. R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Truck-Car Collision

A car owned and operated by Lawrence F. O'Leary, 20, of 228 East 22 street, New York city, and a vehicle owned by the Prospect Dairy of East Chester street, Kingston, were in collision Saturday in Port Ewen. According to police reports both cars were damaged when the O'Leary car stopped for a traffic light on Broadway, Port Ewen, and the dairy vehicle, operated by Louis Perry, 19, of 43 Gill street, Kingston, collided with the stopped car. Ralph Lyons of Saugerties, Route 3, a passenger in the O'Leary car, was reported uninjured. When the two vehicles collided milk cases on the dairy vehicle moved forward causing Perry to report an injury to his back. Deputies Roe and McNierney investigated.

England's Anthem

Author of the English national anthem was Dr. Henry Carey, born in London about 1696, and died 1743. The music was composed by Dr. John Bull.

Peiping Reports Atomic Station

Tokyo, July 11 (AP) — Peiping radio said today Soviet scientists are building a second "more efficient" atomic power station based on a "uranium-water reactor."

The broadcast followed a Japanese correspondent's report from Moscow that a Japanese scientist had visited the first Russian atomic power plant 36 miles from Moscow. He said it was the first in the world, and also "the world's largest synchro-cyclotron."

THE PEIPING broadcast quoted Mihail Dubinin, described as a member of the Presidium of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, as saying the new power plant would be based on "a uranium-water reactor."

It gave no details except to say methods had been found to create "effective systems of nuclear reactors x x x from industrial production of heavy water and concentrated uranium, making it possible to design a uranium-water reactor."

It said the first power reactor has been producing electricity for about a year.

DUBININ also was quoted as saying Soviet scientists had discovered "several hundred isotopes" useful in industry, biology, medicine and agriculture.

The Japanese scientist who visited the atomic plant July 7 near Moscow is Dr. Yoshio Fujioka of Tokyo Educational University, who attended the recent atomic energy conference in Russia.

He was quoted by the Moscow correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi Shimbun as saying he had found 20 Russian scientists and 110 others manning the plant. He said it shut down for two days every time its enriched uranium fuel had to be renewed about every 100 days.

FUJIOKA said he also had visited the "world's largest synchro-cyclotron." He said it had been built in 1949 and kept secret six years. He said it was capable of generating 680,000,000 electron-volts as compared with 450,000,000 generated by what he said was the next largest at Chicago.

Fujioka did not disclose the location of the Russian synchro-cyclotron.

Funerals Are Held For Executed Men

New York, July 11 (AP)—Brief funeral services were held yesterday for three men executed for the holdup killing of a Readers Digest payroll messenger more than five years ago.

The trio — Harry Stein, 56, Calman Cooper, 47, and Nathan Wissner, 47 — died Saturday night in the Sing Sing Prison electric chair 4½ years after they were first sentenced and sent to the death house. A long series of legal appeals and eight reprieves had delayed the executions.

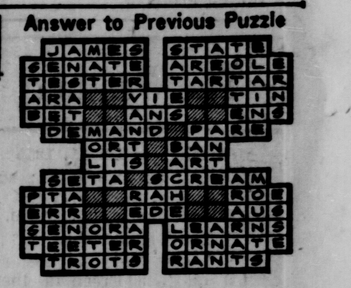

Relatives claimed the bodies at the prison yesterday and brought them to New York city for private services and burial.

The three men, all of whom had long criminal records, were executed less than an hour after failure of their last effort to escape the chair.

Car, Truck Crash Near Kerhonkson

Drivers of a pickup truck and a 1954 station wagon miraculously escaped injury in a collision on Route 209 in the town of Rochester just north of Kerhonkson about 1:45 p. m. yesterday, it was reported by troopers of the Ellenville Station.

The pickup truck, owned by Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson and operated by John Mustiow of Kerhonkson, was proceeding south on a downgrade when it skidded on wet macadam, knocked down several guard ralls on the west side of the highway, rolled over to the northbound lane and struck the station wagon, operated by Wayne Reighard, 17, of Bedford, Pa., traveling north, according to troopers.

BOTH VEHICLES burst into flames which were extinguished by the Kerhonkson Fire Department. Both vehicles were heavily damaged and had to be towed away.

Reighard was issued a summons as an unlicensed operator, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Green of the town of Rochester and paid a fine of $10. Troopers said Reighard was a duly licensed operator in the state of Pennsylvania but that such a license is not honored in New York state if the driver is under 18.

Boy Reported Hurt In Auto Mishap

Gunther Nowag, 14, of 35 North Front street, received injuries when struck by a car Sunday night in front of the Kingston Hospital, police reported.

Officer John Houghtaling reported to police headquarters at 9:30 p. m., that the boy had been struck by a car as he was riding his bicycle north on Broadway.

Walter Clarence Schmitz, 34, of 82 Third avenue, reported to headquarters that he was the operator of the vehicle, police said.

Police said Nowag was thrown off the bicycle and into a vacant parking space at 380 Broadway as a result of the impact. The boy told police the car struck the left rear crash bar of his bicycle.

D & H Rail Block

Binghamton, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—A branch freight line of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad was blocked for about 12 hours over the weekend by the derailment of six cars. No one was injured in the accident at Port Dickenson late Saturday but one trackman was injured in a fall during the cleanup. A burned-out journal was believe to have caused the derailment, according to an unofficial report.

No Peace Miracles

Cairo, Egypt, July 11 (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru said today he believes world peace will come gradually "but we do not expect miracles." In one of a series of statements at stopovers en route home from his European visit, Nehru told reporters world leaders must use "a mixture of formal and informal methods" in seeking peace. "Peace may come gradually, and in the past five months there have been indications that there is a lessening of tension, but we do not expect miracles," he said.

COLLISION WITH A TELEPHONE pole Saturday afternoon on Route 209 near Camp Hayden had this result. State police of the Ellenville Station said the operator of the vehicle was a man by the name of Joseph Diamond, address unknown. Mr. Diamond, who was reportedly treated by a private physician, was expected at the Ellenville Barracks to make a full report of the accident but failed to appear, troopers said. The accident occurred about 1:30 p. m. (Anner photo).

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 11 (AP)—Demand for a few leading issues was enough to put the stock market ahead today.

In the early afternoon, prices were generally higher with gains running to around 2 points in key areas. Losses usually were small.

The pace of trading was right around the level of Friday's 2,450,000 shares. The market then was mixed.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher.

The bond market was mixed. U. S. Government issues in the over the counter market were steady.

Truck-Car Collision

A car owned and operated by Lawrence F. O'Leary, 20, of 228 East 22 street, New York city, and a vehicle owned by the Prospect Dairy of East Chester street, Kingston, were in collision Saturday in Port Ewen. According to police reports both cars were damaged when the O'Leary car stopped for a traffic light on Broadway, Port Ewen, and the dairy vehicle, operated by Louis Perry, 19, of 43 Gill street, Kingston, collided with the stopped car. Ralph Lyons of Saugerties, Route 3, a passenger in the O'Leary car, was reported uninjured. When the two vehicles collided milk cases on the dairy vehicle moved forward causing Perry to report an injury to his back. Deputies Roe and McNierney investigated.

Peiping Reports Atomic Station

Tokyo, July 11 (AP) — Peiping radio said today Soviet scientists are building a second "more efficient" atomic power station based on a "uranium-water reactor."

The broadcast followed a Japanese correspondent's report from Moscow that a Japanese scientist had visited the first Russian atomic power plant 36 miles from Moscow. He said it was the first in the world, and also "the world's largest synchro-cyclotron."

THE PEIPING broadcast quoted Mihail Dubinin, described as a member of the Presidium of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, as saying the new power plant would be based on "a uranium-water reactor."

It gave no details except to say methods had been found to create "effective systems of nuclear reactors x x x from industrial production of heavy water and concentrated uranium, making it possible to design a uranium-water reactor."

It said the first power reactor has been producing electricity for about a year.

DUBININ also was quoted as saying Soviet scientists had discovered "several hundred isotopes" useful in industry, biology, medicine and agriculture.

The Japanese scientist who visited the atomic plant July 7 near Moscow is Dr. Yoshio Fujioka of Tokyo Educational University, who attended the recent atomic energy conference in Russia.

He was quoted by the Moscow correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi Shimbun as saying he had found 20 Russian scientists and 110 others manning the plant. He said it shut down for two days every time its enriched uranium fuel had to be renewed about every 100 days.

FUJIOKA said he also had visited the "world's largest synchro-cyclotron." He said it had been built in 1949 and kept secret six years. He said it was capable of generating 680,000,000 electron-volts as compared with 450,000,000 generated by what he said was the next largest at Chicago.

Fujioka did not disclose the location of the Russian synchro-cyclotron.

Funerals Are Held For Executed Men

New York, July 11 (AP)—Brief funeral services were held yesterday for three men executed for the holdup killing of a Readers Digest payroll messenger more than five years ago.

The trio — Harry Stein, 56, Calman Cooper, 47, and Nathan Wissner, 47 — died Saturday night in the Sing Sing Prison electric chair 4½ years after they were first sentenced and sent to the death house. A long series of legal appeals and eight reprieves had delayed the executions.

Relatives claimed the bodies at the prison yesterday and brought them to New York city for private services and burial.

The three men, all of whom had long criminal records, were executed less than an hour after failure of their last effort to escape the chair.

Car, Truck Crash Near Kerhonkson

Drivers of a pickup truck and a 1954 station wagon miraculously escaped injury in a collision on Route 209 in the town of Rochester just north of Kerhonkson about 1:45 p. m. yesterday, it was reported by troopers of the Ellenville Station.

The pickup truck, owned by Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson and operated by John Mustiow of Kerhonkson, was proceeding south on a downgrade when it skidded on wet macadam, knocked down several guard ralls on the west side of the highway, rolled over to the northbound lane and struck the station wagon, operated by Wayne Reighard, 17, of Bedford, Pa., traveling north, according to troopers.

BOTH VEHICLES burst into flames which were extinguished by the Kerhonkson Fire Department. Both vehicles were heavily damaged and had to be towed away.

Reighard was issued a summons as an unlicensed operator, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Green of the town of Rochester and paid a fine of $10. Troopers said Reighard was a duly licensed operator in the state of Pennsylvania but that such a license is not honored in New York state if the driver is under 18.

Boy Reported Hurt In Auto Mishap

Gunther Nowag, 14, of 35 North Front street, received injuries when struck by a car Sunday night in front of the Kingston Hospital, police reported.

Officer John Houghtaling reported to police headquarters at 9:30 p. m., that the boy had been struck by a car as he was riding his bicycle north on Broadway.

Walter Clarence Schmitz, 34, of 82 Third avenue, reported to headquarters that he was the operator of the vehicle, police said.

Police said Nowag was thrown off the bicycle and into a vacant parking space at 380 Broadway as a result of the impact. The boy told police the car struck the left rear crash bar of his bicycle.

D & H Rail Block

Binghamton, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—A branch freight line of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad was blocked for about 12 hours over the weekend by the derailment of six cars. No one was injured in the accident at Port Dickenson late Saturday but one trackman was injured in a fall during the cleanup. A burned-out journal was believe to have caused the derailment, according to an unofficial report.

No Peace Miracles

Cairo, Egypt, July 11 (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru said today he believes world peace will come gradually "but we do not expect miracles." In one of a series of statements at stopovers en route home from his European visit, Nehru told reporters world leaders must use "a mixture of formal and informal methods" in seeking peace. "Peace may come gradually, and in the past five months there have been indications that there is a lessening of tension, but we do not expect miracles," he said.

Northern U. S. Weather Cooler

(By The Associated Press)

Cool air which gave much of the northern United States its first relief from 90 degree temperatures in more than a week Sunday had reached the Atlantic coast today.

Showers cooled off the southeast somewhat but early morning temperatures were in the 70s or higher.

By way of contrast, it was 39 at Grand Marais, Mich.; 45 at Pellston and Marquette, Mich., and 49 at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

BUT BELOW the band of cool air, readings at the start of the day provided no guarantee against repetition of such maximums Sunday as 99 at Denver and Kansas City, 97 at St. Louis, 95 at Salt Lake City, 94 at Oklahoma City, 92 at Indianapolis, and 91 at Cincinnati and Omaha.

Showers and thunderstorms in the southeast, the Rocky Mountains and the Northern Plains nowhere measured up to the 6.23 inches Sioux City, Iowa, received in four hours Saturday night. In that storm, lightning caused a $150,000 lumberyard fire.

A THUNDERSTORM Sunday sent a flash flood through a theatre at Elizabeth, N. J., calling a halt to the showing of a movie entitled, "Interrupted Melody."

Today's early morning precipitation at Alama, Ga., measured 1.20 inches, but other falls in the southeast measured less than an inch.

Early morning weather reports included:

New York 76 cloudy; Miami 80 fair; Dallas 83 fair; Denver 70 fair; Bismarck, N. D., 64 cloudy; Seattle 59 cloudy; Los Angeles 63 fair; Milwaukee 62 fair; Chicago 69 fair; St. Louis 77 fair; Indianapolis 73 fair and Detroit 65 fair.

For Lower Prices

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Removal of unnecessary sanitary and other regulations could cut milk prices one to two cents a quart in some areas, the Agriculture Department says. The department did not name the areas, but said they are scattered throughout the country. The finding was included in a report, made public Saturday night, on a lengthy study of milk marketing restrictions.

Boy on Horse Says He's Hit by Auto

Bernard Klinger, 15, of Yarmouth street, reported to police at 10:25 p. m., Sunday, that he was struck by a hit and run car while riding a horse east on Albany avenue, police reported.

Klinger told police that he was about to enter the Dairy Queen Drive-In, 474 Albany avenue, when he was struck in the left leg by a car traveling west on Albany avenue. He told police he believed the left front side of the car about the window ledge struck his leg, and there was blue or light blue paint on the spur of his riding boot.

The horse bolted, ran up on a nearby lawn and stopped, Klinger told police. He reported to police that he was injured about his left ankle, and the horse was injured about the left rear leg and limping.

Cooler Weather Arrives; Respite Only Temporary

Cooler weather, after a week of oppressive heat, was enjoyed in Kingston today, but the Associated Press in a report from Albany quoted the weatherman as predicting only a temporary respite. The weather bureau predicted "somewhat warmer and more humid" weather for tomorrow.

The city engineer's office in Kingston reported readings of 97 degrees as the high for the weekend in the city.

THE WEATHER BUREAU in Albany said "refreshing Canadian air" had enveloped all of New York state today.

The mercury rose to 97 in Albany yesterday, the city's hottest day so far this year.

Thundershowers in the afternoon held the top readings at New York and Poughkeepsie to 88 and 91 respectively.

Other highs: Glens Fall and Elmira, 95; Massena, 90; Binghamton, 89; Utica, Syracuse and Buffalo, 88; Rochester, 87, and Watertown, 86.

Forfeits $20 Bail

Ronald Joseph Wilson, 19, of Grandview avenue, Cornwall, was arrested on a speeding charge on Broadway near Andrew street at 12:53 a. m., today, by Officers William Slover and Joseph Keller. Wilson forfeited $20 bail in City Court today.

Fire Destroys Barn in Evesport

Saugerties, July 11—A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a large barn and more than $2,000 worth of farm equipment Sunday afternoon in Evesport, about three miles north of here.

The barn owned by Robert West, whose home is approximately 100 feet away, was completely engulfed in flames when both units of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company arrived on the scene.

ACCORDING to Mr. West, he had stored his tractor in the barn which contained hay and other farming equipment shortly before 4 p. m. and approximately ten minutes later was alerted by neighbors.

Mr. West theorized that lightning from an electrical storm in progress at the time may have set the blaze. He estimated his loss at over $5,000 and indicated that more than $2,000 in farm machinery was not insured.

WHEN FLAMES threatened the nearby residence of Mrs. Carl Rieger, Fire Chief Valmore Carpenter directed a call to Mutual Aid headquarters in Kingston and the C. A. Lynch Fire Company of Saugerties was dispatched to render aid.

The Saugerties unit was directed by Saugerties Fire Chief Vernon Benjamin and Donald Sullivan, assistant fire chief.

Canadian Forests Burn

Toronto, July 11 (AP)—Canadian firefighters battled forest fires today covering thousands of rainstarved acres in Ontario and Quebec. In Ontario, major outbreaks were being fought in the Muskoka area and in the Blind river region, 130 miles northeast of Sault Ste. Marie. One blaze was stopped by 500 men and firebreaks only half a mile from the Quebec hydro town of Labrieville, 250 miles northeast of Quebec City. A fire 15 miles north of Baie Comeau, Que., destroyed at least 30 square miles of black spruce. Three fires were burning in Quebec's Baie Comeau region but no settlement was endangered.

Northern U. S. Weather Cooler

(By The Associated Press)

Cool air which gave much of the northern United States its first relief from 90 degree temperatures in more than a week Sunday had reached the Atlantic coast today.

Showers cooled off the southeast somewhat but early morning temperatures were in the 70s or higher.

By way of contrast, it was 39 at Grand Marais, Mich.; 45 at Pellston and Marquette, Mich., and 49 at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

BUT BELOW the band of cool air, readings at the start of the day provided no guarantee against repetition of such maximums Sunday as 99 at Denver and Kansas City, 97 at St. Louis, 95 at Salt Lake City, 94 at Oklahoma City, 92 at Indianapolis, and 91 at Cincinnati and Omaha.

Showers and thunderstorms in the southeast, the Rocky Mountains and the Northern Plains nowhere measured up to the 6.23 inches Sioux City, Iowa, received in four hours Saturday night. In that storm, lightning caused a $150,000 lumberyard fire.

A THUNDERSTORM Sunday sent a flash flood through a theatre at Elizabeth, N. J., calling a halt to the showing of a movie entitled, "Interrupted Melody."

Today's early morning precipitation at Alama, Ga., measured 1.20 inches, but other falls in the southeast measured less than an inch.

Early morning weather reports included:

New York 76 cloudy; Miami 80 fair; Dallas 83 fair; Denver 70 fair; Bismarck, N. D., 64 cloudy; Seattle 59 cloudy; Los Angeles 63 fair; Milwaukee 62 fair; Chicago 69 fair; St. Louis 77 fair; Indianapolis 73 fair and Detroit 65 fair.

For Lower Prices

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Removal of unnecessary sanitary and other regulations could cut milk prices one to two cents a quart in some areas, the Agriculture Department says. The department did not name the areas, but said they are scattered throughout the country. The finding was included in a report, made public Saturday night, on a lengthy study of milk marketing restrictions.

D of A Meeting

The Vanderlyn Council, Daughters of America will meet on Tuesday in Mechanics Hall at 8 p. m. Installation of officers will be conducted. All officers are requested to wear long white dresses.
